

ALL PRISONERS OF JAIL - BREAK BACK IN CELLS

The last of three prisoners who escaped from the Princess Anne County Jail Monday night was back behind bars Tuesday, just 23 hours after his escape with two fellow prisoners.

The third escapee to be captured was Norman Franklin Twiford, 36, of Back Bay, who was recaptured at 7:15 o'clock Tuesday night.

Twiford had escaped with two other prisoners Monday night. His fellow escapees were Robert Kidd, 19, of 404 West 26th Street, and Gene Raymond Woodhouse, 17, of Route 2, Norfolk.

The trio overpowered and bludgeoned a 73-year old jailer, Moscoe Taylor, who was in the process of releasing a prisoner who had been bonded. They best Taylor with a makeshift black jack of hardened soap wrapped in cloth.

Kidd and Woodhouse were apprehended two hours after their escape a scant two miles from the courthouse jail. The three left the jail through a second floor, unguarded window Monday night.

They failed to render the jailer unconscious but took his keys which were found later outside the jail building.

The escapes brought to 18 the number of prisoners who have fled the jail during Sheriff C. Roger Malbon's occupancy of the sheriff's office. The last escapes prior to those on Monday were in September, 1953, when two men jumped to freedom through a second floor window.

As a result of the September break, a special county grand jury was called to investigate the jail's security. As a result of its investigation and subsequent criticism of the sheriff, the county Board of Supervisors decided to take some action to improve security at the jail.

For the past several months they have discussed first, a fence around the jail property, and second, steel bars on the unprotected windows. In February the board authorized the county Planning Commission to draw up plans and specifications for barring the windows. It is to take further action in March.

Herbert Holt, Jr. Heads Rotarians

Herbert A. Holt, Jr., local automobile dealer, has been elected president of the Virginia Beach Rotary Club for the 1954-55 Rotary year. He will take office next July 1.

Holt, a veteran member of the local Rotary Club, will succeed Albin R. Mailhes in the office of president. Other officers elected include Weldon L. Hampton, vice president; R. Bradshaw Pulley, secretary; and Dempste O. Wallace, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors elected are Albin R. Mailhes, retiring president, Edwin A. Darden, J. Owen Campbell and B. M. Stanton.

The new officers will be installed at a dinner-meeting to be held the last week in June.

"Walk on Left" Will Be Stressed As Safety Factor

More extensive use of "Walk on Left" signs will be made by the State Highway Department in an effort to reduce pedestrian deaths.

J. P. Mills, Jr., Traffic and Planning Engineer, has reviewed district and resident engineers to determine where additional signs are needed, particularly near small communities and schools.

During 1953, Mills pointed out, 224 pedestrians were killed in Virginia. "If we can reduce the number of pedestrian fatalities this year, we will have taken a step towards an overall reduction in Virginia's rural traffic accidents," he said.

Mills asked the district and resident engineers to make a "concentrated study" between now and July to find locations where the "Walk on Left" signs should be installed.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

FOUNDER

Author of the World Day of Prayer Program was Sarah Chakko, principal of Isabella Thoburn College and one of the six-member presidium of the World Council of Churches, the only representative from Asia and the only lay-member.

Miss Chakko died in January of this year. She was born at North Farur in South India, of Christian parents, members of the Orthodox Syrian Church of Malabar. She was graduated with a Master of Arts degree from Queen Mary's College for Women in Madras.

Each year, the United Church Women of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the US calls for a World Day of Prayer. The service begins in the Tonga Islands at sunrise and follows the clock around the world, ending in Alaska. More than 20,000 groups are said to participate.

Each year, the suggested service is prepared by an outstanding church-woman. For 1954, this responsibility fell to Miss Chakko. When the women of the world kneel to pray on March 5, they will be using the service she wrote.

'PUBLIC DRINK' BILLS BEFORE VA. LAWMAKERS

Delegate Walter A. Page, of Norfolk, has asked that the House of Delegates wait several days before acting on his bill to afford Virginians the privilege of taking their ABC store whisky to a restaurant or hotel dining room, order set-ups and drink it on the premises—under the approval of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board.

Another bill offered by Page making a less important change in the ABC laws recently passed the House by a vote of 53-31.

The bill that has been passed by the House was aimed to permit the consumption of legally purchased liquor in private dining rooms of restaurants when approved by the board while they were in use for private parties and meetings.

The bill that Page has asked to be held up a few days is somewhat similar to the one offered by the late Louis Lee Guy, of Norfolk, in the 1952 session of the assembly.

Baptist Church Revival Services Begin March 28

Revival Services will begin March 28th at the First Baptist Church, Virginia Beach. These services will be led by Rev. J. E. Foster, Jr., pastor of the Norfolk Baptist Church, Norfolk, Va.

Rev. Foster was a chaplain in the Navy during the last war. In the more than three years he has been pastor of the Norfolk congregation, the growth of the congregation has been evidenced in the building of an educational building. For sometime two morning worship services have been necessary to care for the crowds.

This past October two completely graded Sunday School sessions with thirty seven departments have been in operation.

Training Union study classes will precede the revival services 7:00 - 7:45 P. M. each evening of the week March 28th. Evening worship services will begin at 7:45 P. M.

A neighborly call for the purpose of helping the people of the congregation get to know each other will be made in the home of the Baptists beginning March 7th and continuing through the week.

AAU Tournament Gets Underway Here Tomorrow

Eight of the State's best girls basketball teams will go into action Friday afternoon and night in the opening day of the State AAU Girls Basketball Tournament sponsored by the Virginia Beach Sports Club. Games are at the Virginia Beach High School.

Snow White is again the defending champion and will be odds on favorites to repeat. They sport 18 wins and 7 losses for the season, the losses coming at the hands of some of the nation's best teams.

The Washington Recreation team seeded third last year were the consolation winners last year under the Falls Church Garage banner. The Norfolk Merchants are seeded fourth and given a good chance of springing and upsetting the defending champion.

The rest of the field is about even in strength which promises a program full of action, in the faster style of play that is used by the teams registered under the Amateur Athletic Union.

Semi Finals will be played on Saturday afternoon starting at 3:00 with the finals and consolation games on Saturday night.

Other teams in the tournament besides the ones mentioned before are the Shamrocks of Portsmouth, Central Bellows Falls, Supply of Richmond, McGuire Hospital Nurses, and the Reynolds Metal team.

PUBLIC HEARING SATURDAY TO CONSIDER PARK SCHOOL SITE

Members of the Conservation and Development Commission, members of the Princess Anne County Planning Commission and members of the county's school board will be present Saturday afternoon at the Virginia Beach High School when a public hearing will be held in the county's battle to obtain a school site in the Seashore State Park.

State Conservation group will be present. The committee includes G. Alvin Massenburg, Victor Stewart, of Petersburg, and Rodney Coggins, of Warsaw. In addition the Commission's Acting Director Raymond V. Long will also be present.

Princess Anne County's Board of Supervisors has authorized an expenditure of $20,000 for purchase of a school site, according to Frank W. Cox, superintendent of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach Schools. Cox has pointed out that a minimum of 20 acres is required to construct a school to serve children in the North Virginia Beach, Bay Colony, Bird Neck Point, and fringe area around Virginia Beach. At the present time children from these areas attend the Wiloughby T. Cooke school in Virginia Beach for which the County pays tuition to the city. The Cooke school in Virginia is overcrowded and this condition would be eliminated if the new school were constructed.

Several possible sites have been considered, but the matter has been boiled down to a site in the State Park area as most suitable.

Opposition to selling the site for a school has been voiced in several quarters. One in particular is the Norfolk Federation of Garden Clubs. This group has attacked the principle of encroachment on park property.

BLOOD DONATIONS REACH ALL-TIME HIGH TUESDAY

"Cooperation" Keynote of Success; Several Donors Make "Gallon Club"

Cooperation in getting a big job done and done well keynoted yesterday's visit of the Civitan sponsored Red Cross Bloodmobile in Virginia Beach where 164 pints were collected to set a new all time record.

In setting this new "high," the blood donors not only outdistanced the previous figure of 123 reached in April of last year but they exceeded by 14 pints the Red Cross quota of 150 pints set as the amount needed to fill all normal blood needs of this section.

Tuesday's blood drive represented a city-wide cooperative effort spurred on by the Civitan club under Duane Current blood chairman. Long-time sponsors of the Bloodmobile visits the Civilians recognized the need of an all-out drive and enlisted the aid of other civic groups to achieve their goal.

Tremendous response came from the Rotarian, Lion and Exchange clubs, the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion. Two women's organizations, the Princess Anne Junior Women's club and the local Junior League members also were well represented.

Actual blood donations began even before the scheduled time of 12 o'clock. The first bottle issued went to Mrs. Mary Wiseman, a Navy wife, who attended her first blood drive here with her neighbor, Mrs. Neil Hunley, 109-8th, the second donor. Glenn I. Dill, already a gallon donor, was the 25th donor while the Rev. Edmund Berkeley of Gallie Episcopal Church was 50th. The 75th bottle was claimed by Mrs. James B. Henning, Jr., of London Bridge, a secretary of Shiloh Ford Motors. This company turned out 100 per cent for the drive having 15 donors among whom was late Manuel Quintana, the 100th person to give blood.

It was still early in the afternoon when the 124th bottle which represented the first to break the old record went to Mrs. Philip S. Walker, a Navy wife and chairman of the Red Cross Motor Corps. David H. Batchelder, Jr., who recently came here from Connecticut and is an attorney in Norfolk was listed as 150th donor. The final bottle was taken by Milton T. Holland, a member of the Virginia Beach Fire Department which turns out by shifts to be 100 per cent for almost every drive.

The first donor here was the Rev. Henry C. Barton, Jr., of the Eastern Shore Chapel which is to be completed next month.

The first donor to receive membership in the "Gallon Club" was Cliff Baker of Creed, custodian at the Community House for the past five years. Others who gave a gallon were Earl S. Stanley, Huggins, Civitan Club president; G. S. Jordan of Bay Colony, an employee of Fuel-Feed, and David J. Beeler of the Virginia Beach Post Office. The names of these donors will be added to the honor scroll now in view in the post office along with that of C. Linwood Sanderlin, a long time gallon giver of the Fire Department, whose name was unintentionally omitted.

Volunteer workers in addition to Current were Mrs. Arthur S. Hill, Red Cross blood chairman; Mrs. Leslie A. Weary, chairman of Volunteer Services; Mrs. W. W. McNeil; chairman Nurses' Aides; Mrs. Walker; Mrs. Robert Wilson, new staff aide chairman; Mrs. H. T. Johnson, Mrs. P. T. Hudson, Mrs. David H. Batchelder, Jr., Mrs. (Continued on Page Two)

As Commander-in-Chief of the Mayflower Corp. Awarded Verdict

The Mayflower Corporation, operators of the Mayflower Apartments and the Mayflower Shopping Center at 34th Street, was awarded a $51,000 verdict in Norfolk's Circuit Court last Monday for an alleged unsuccessful job of waterproofing.

The suit was brought against Donald Cohen, trading as Decease Associates, the contractors for the waterproofing, and the United States Casualty Company, the bonding company for the work.

The plaintiff alleged that on May 1, 1952, it entered into a contract with Cohen for the waterproofing of the exterior walls of the Mayflower Apartments and that the United States Casualty Company executed a bond under which it agreed to pay the sum of $21,000 if Cohen did not perform the contract fully. It was noted that the corporation paid Cohen for the job on July 1, 1953. Charging that the bond was breached, the corporation maintained that the waterproofing was worthless and that the walls continued to leak and damage the interior of the buildings.

Denying that the contract had not been performed fully, the defendants also contended that a clause in the contract specified that no legal action could be taken without first submitting any point of controversy to arbitration proceedings by the American Institute of Architects.

Judge Clyde H. Jacob deferred entering judgement pending arguments to be heard later on a motion by the defendants for a new trial.

"Hampton Experiment" Drive Coal $12,000; Kick-off Thursday

This year's drive for additional funds for what has become known as "The Hampton Experiment" began at a kick-off dinner Thursday night at the Milled Martin Center, Hampton, Va., and will run thru the Spring months with a goal of $12,000.

The experiment was the belief of a local priest that, given a worthwhile project, people of all creeds and races will drop their differences and work together for a common good. The project proposed by the Rev. Joseph C. Oterbein, a Redemptorist Priest, was a summer camp for Negro children of all faiths living in Virginia. The idea had hardly been proposed when it quickly took hold of this southern Virginia community.

A kick-off dinner last May, set in motion a chain reaction which was backed by local town people and those of nearby communities and brought financial help from all parts of the country. Prominent citizens, white and Negro, Catholic and non-Catholic, joined with military men from nearby Fort Eustis, Langley Field, Port Monroe, and Yorktown Naval Mine Warfare School in pledging their support to raise the necessary funds.

As enthusiasm for the project grew the people of the area gave unstintingly of their time, skills and goods to ready the camp for its opening day, July 19. Thus GOOD COUNSEL CAMP came into being.

25 men took up the task of clearing the heavily-wooded camp site, accomplishing most of it after their regular working day. Xavier Brothers, starting the construction work soon joined by military personnel from Fort Eustis and Langley Air Force Base. The military arrived by jeep, truck and sometimes even bus loads. Not to be outdone, the area's civilian workers pitched in. They cleared underbrush, dug trenches for the footings, mixed concrete, laid cinder block. Volunteer electricians gave every spare minute they had to make the camp a masterpiece of electrical work. A carpenter put all his resources at the disposal of the camp. A local businessman assumed the expense of all the plumbing installation. Every skilled worker had numerous assistants just waiting to be told what to do.

Building materials and camp equipment were either donated or obtained at cost through the businessmen of the area. The vice-president of a plumbing company rounded up from jobbers in Norfolk all the plumbing supplies necessary. A roofing materials man gave shingles and aluminum roofing; a cinder block man gave a dozen screen doors; a lumberman contrived interior and exterior doors. 2x4s, 1x6s, walnut board, septic tank, an outboard motor and a camp pump were among the contributions. Gifts of staple foodstuffs were also given and the camp, staffed by Xavier Brothers and Sisters of Charity, opened

Rainy Days Bring Extra Hazards For Pedestrians

When it rains, street and highway accident rates go up, and school children must be warned to adjust their normal walking habits to offset the increased danger, John B. Dey, Vice-president of the Tidewater Automobile Assn. said today.

"As we approach the spring season," Dey said, "we are making a special point of impressing the youngsters in this area that they should be extra alert on rainy days." The AAA National Traffic Safety Poster, which is now being distributed to elementary and junior high schools in Virginia as part of the regular monthly AAA safety education kit, will serve as a constant reminder all during the month of March that rain means trouble.

The poster was the $250 Grand Prize winner in the 9th AAA National Traffic Safety Poster Contest. It was drawn by Herbert Olds, Tappan Intermediate School, Detroit, Michigan, and is being distributed nationally by AAA Clubs.

"Of course, school children are not the ones who must take special care on wet days. Automobile braking distances are increased, and often a motorist has less time to make an emergency stop safely because of reduced visibility. The surest compensation for this double hazard is reduced speed, clean windshield and windows, and extra alertness on the part of the driver," Dey added.

He listed the following safety precautions for pedestrians in rainy weather:

1. Never hold an umbrella so that it obstructs your vision.
2. Remember that it is more difficult for you to be seen on rainy days, so never depend on the motorists to slow down or stop.
3. In rainy weather - day or night - wear or carry something white or bright.
4. Be alert. Scrupulously obey all traffic rules and regulations.

They would replace it by a school-then will follow a bay park, a drive-in movie, and a golf course," he said.

The move has been backed by the North Virginia Beach Improvement League. County and Virginia Beach garden clubs have not opposed the plan, according to Cox.

TRAINING SCHOOL NOTES

For the year 1953-54, there were 51 boys who completed their supervised practice work in Vocational Agriculture. These 51 boys came from all sections of Princess Anne County. Many of them have limited opportunities for conducting a training program in agriculture. The program of vocational agriculture in Princess Anne County Training School has attempted to meet the needs of two groups of boys: (1) to assist those boys from large farms in becoming more efficient in farm operations, (2) to assist those boys who have just a few acres of land in producing as much of the family food supply as possible.

Thirty-eight boys produced 50-200 pounds of pork, 6 boys raised 250 laying hens to supply the family with eggs and a few to sell. They produced 3,070 dozen eggs. Thirty-two boys produced 2,900 bushels of corn to furnish grain for live stock on their farms. Eleven boys produced 1,000 bushels of sweet potatoes, 11 boys produced 2,031 bushels of salad, 25 boys produced 2,442 bushels of butter beans. Seven boys produced 1,319 bushels of collards.

More than 20 boys raised tomatoes, snapbeans, butter beans, salad, spinach, strawberries and potatoes to furnish the family with the needed vegetables. Many families canned and preserved fruit during the summer. The 51 boys carried on an average of 3 improvement projects. Repaired their farm equipment, constructed chicken feeders, hog feeders, breeding crates, hog troughs, loading chutes, hog houses, and oyster sheds and grit hoppers. All the boys are now making plans for W. F. A. Day celebration in April.

Tryouts For "Common Glory" Scheduled at Williamsburg

Applications for jobs in "The Common Glory" will be given a chance to do original interpretative work as well as to perform from materials used in the Paul Green-written drama when tryouts for the 1954 production get under way at Williamsburg at 1 P. M. Saturday, March 6.

Actors, singers and instrumental musicians all will be given the opportunity to deliver prepared readings and musical numbers but, according to the drama's Director Howard Scammon, all will be required also to "sight-read" from material used in "The Common Glory".

Mr. Scammon said the original readings by actors will be restricted to three minutes in length and similar time limits have been placed on the singers by Dr. Carl A. Fehr, music director, and Alan C. Stewart, the production's new orchestra conductor.

While auditions for these three categories are taking place on other sections of the campus of the College of William and Mary, prospective dancers will be tried out by Miss Catherine Edmondson, dance instructor at the College, in Jefferson Gymnasium. The dancers will be checked for their training in modern dance and, in the case of women applicants, in ballet.

Interviews with applicants for technical jobs will be conducted simultaneously by Production Manager Roger Sherman and Technical Director Albert E. Hank.

The Williamsburg tryouts are the first of a series of preliminary auditions, to be climaxed by a final audition - again at Williamsburg - on April 10 and 11. The other preliminaries will take place March 19 at Minor Hall, the University of Virginia, and March 20 at the Troubadour Theatre, Washington and Lee University. The time for all preliminaries is from 1:00 to 3:00 P. M.

Bursing Officer of that Activity: Approximately 300 military personnel and 135 civil service employees for a total of 435 comprise the complement of U. S. PADTC, Dam Neck. Their total taxable pay for the calendar year of 1953 amounted to $1,077,399.12. Their total tax withheld amounted to $137,249.20. The operational management Expenses for this activity amounted to about $598,000.

Military Folks Pay Taxes Too

Have you, as citizens, ever wondered what the monthly payroll of military personnel and civil service employees amounts to and how much they contribute toward it in the form of income taxes?

Let us take a typical Naval installation located in this area and look at the facts. The Fleet AIR DEFENSE TRAINING CENTER, Dam Neck, Virginia Beach, Virginia, under the command of Captain H. F. Crist, USN, is representative. The following facts and figures have been obtained from LT. M. F. Havener SC, USN, Dis-

Dr. Southgate Leigh, Jr., Named Chief Surgeon by SAL Railroad

Dr. Southgate Leigh, Jr., of Norfolk has been named chief surgeon for the Seaboard Air Line Railroad, succeeding Dr. Joseph D. Collins, of Portsmouth, who retired after more than 24 years of continuous service.

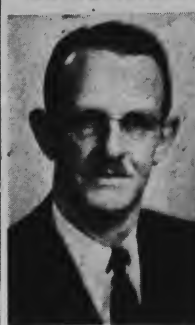

The announcement of the change, which became effective March 1, was made by James B. McDonough, Jr., assistant general counsel for the Seaboard, whose department includes the company's medical and surgical activities. About 375 doctors throughout the six southeastern states the Seaboard serves have been designated as members of the company's medical and surgical staff and are available for treatment of any injured personnel.

A graduate of the University of Virginia's academic and medical schools, Dr. Leigh was licensed in 1930 to practice in Virginia. After an internship of two years, he began surgical practice in Norfolk with his father, the late Dr. Southgate Leigh, founder of Leigh Memorial Hospital in Norfolk and himself an outstanding surgeon.

Widely known in medical fields not only in Virginia but throughout the Southeastern section of the country, where the Seaboard serves, Dr. Leigh has for several years been actively interested in railroad surgical practices. He is a former vice president of the American Association of Railway Surgeons, a member of the medical and surgical section of the Association of American Railroads.

From the above figures it can be clearly seen that these men in the Naval Establishment have contributed through personal income taxes, 24 per cent of the Operational Management Expenses of their activity. Yes the Navy pays too!

CHAPLAIN SPEAKS AT 'VIEW' CHURCH

The speaker at the evening service on Sunday, February 28, was Chaplain Emmett M. Goetschius, U. S. A. from Fort Story.

The regular Tuesday activities were cancelled during the past week due to alterations on the church which involved cutting off the heating plant temporarily. The alterations, which will be completed shortly will greatly improve the facilities of the church.

McClanans Give Land for Pungo Club Building

The planning committee members of the proposed Community Club Building, being sponsored by the Pungo Home Demonstration Club, were quite happy this week to accept an offer of an acre of land, as the site for this building.

The land was given by Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry McClanlan, in Memory of their son J. Holton McClanlan. It is located about one and one-half miles from Sandbridge Beach on the left going towards the Beach, a little beyond the home of George A. Wilson. Mrs. Henry McClanlan is a charter member of the Pungo Home Demonstration Club. And will join in with the rest of the members in helping to raise funds for the erection of the Building.

When completed this much needed building will have recreational activities for all ages, and will be available to organized Clubs, Church groups, social, farm groups, etc.

An extensive campaign will begin in the near future to raise funds for this purpose, by the club members. It cannot be accomplished without the cooperation of the community people. But this group of Club members firmly believe that "If you want something bad enough, and are willing to work hard enough for it, it can be Accomplished." And they all have willing hearts and hands, and are willing to pitch in and start working!

VIRGINIA BEACH SUN - NEWS

WHAT HAPPENED IN THE DARK

WITH THE 4-H CLUBS

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Virginia Beach for contributing a record of 164 pints of blood last Tuesday on the visit of the bloodmobile to the Community House.

Not only are congratulations in order to the citizens of this community but to the Citizen Club for its work in sponsoring the bloodmobile visit and the resulting work of its members and to the loyal workers of the Red Cross.

The goal had been set at 150 pints and when the last pint had been collected it marked the 164th individual who had contributed a pint of blood during the six hours Tuesday afternoon.

Establishing the record was a community effort that we can well be proud of and one that clearly demonstrates the results that can be obtained by teamwork and unselfishness.

Much groundwork was laid and much planning was done to make it possible to collect so much blood here, but in the final analysis the groundwork and planning would have gone for naught if it were not for the spirit of unselfishness displayed by the 164 persons who took the time and effort necessary to donate blood. They are the ones to be admired in this community project that speaks well for all our citizens.

SCHOOL SITE

Next Saturday afternoon a public hearing will be held in the Virginia Beach High School auditorium relative to the Princess Anne County School Board's request to purchase a small portion of the Seashore State Park from the State for a grade school site.

Members of the State Conservation and Development Commission are scheduled to be present for the hearing since State park fall within the jurisdiction of this State agency. To date there have been but few objections to the proposed site and it is interesting to note from where those objections originate.

The two sources of objections that have been reported in the press have come from the Norfolk Federation of Garden Clubs and from a spokesman for the American Museum of Natural History.

The proposed site has been approved by the North Virginia Beach Improvement League and has not been opposed by any of the Virginia Beach or Princess Anne County Garden Clubs. The only objections have come from "outsiders."

The county, through its school officials, is asking for a small tract of land in the Seashore State Park for the construction of a grade school that would serve the children of North Virginia Beach, Lighthouse Park, Bay Colony and other fringe areas around the City of Virginia Beach.

The land that is known as the Seashore State Park was originally a part of Princess Anne County and the small site that the county is now seeking would have little, if any, effect on the park, proper.

The establishment of a grammar school in this section would relieve Virginia Beach's Willoughby T. Cooke school of the burden of caring for approximately 350 children from the areas the new school would serve. It would completely eliminate the overcrowded condition that has existed at the Cooke school since World War II. It would provide necessary educational facilities for this section of Princess Anne County.

Many possible sites have been explored by school officials and in each case there have been disadvantages and objections. Now, the State Park site seems to be the solution and we trust the representatives of the State Department of Conservation and Development will not be swayed in their decision Saturday by the objections of "outsiders" in this purely local situation.

FEEDING MORE PEOPLE

In 1910 the average American farm consisted of 138 acres, and each farmer produced enough food for eight people. Today the average acreage has increased to 215—and each farmer feeds 15 people. And we have better and far more varied foods now than in the earlier era.

This is spectacular progress. It is the result, naturally, of a number of factors—improved seeds, effective pest control, better land practices, use of machinery and more efficient distribution and processing methods. Of all the factors, none is more important than farm machinery, starting with the tractor and going through the long list of other machines and attachments that make it possible for the farmer to produce more, to conserve and improve his land, and to do his work with a great deal less labor and physical effort than was the case in the past.

Machinery has also been responsible, in large part, for turning farming into a business. It is estimated that a typical corn-belt grain farmer utilizing 160 acres has a machinery investment of more than $11,000. It is substantially greater if he raises livestock or milks a dairy herd. That is a large investment—but the return from it is tremendous in the light of today's labor costs.

By 1975 each farmer will have to feed 20 people—which means that still more and better machinery will be needed.

BROWNVILLE, PA., TELEGRAPH: "Democratic government can deteriorate in two general directions. Power can be passed toward the Executive branch, finally producing dictatorship that has marked—and marred—the history of government in this century. Or power can gravitate toward the Legislative branch, producing the parliamentary paralysis of a law-making body without a head. . . . Hitlerian Germany is a classic example of the first direction. Contemporary France is a classic example of the second."

WASHINGTON . .

AS VIEWED BY YOUR SENATOR

A. Willis Robertson

The Editor's Mail Box

920 Heron Drive

Silver Spring, Maryland

February 23, 1954

During the course of the Senate debate on the Bricker Amendment, the number of letters I have received from friends and constituents evidencing study and individual thinking on what was involved has highly gratified me and convinced me that the time the Senate devoted to this issue was not wasted.

This debate helped to emphasize the contribution made to our nation by the great men of the Colonial era in which our independence was won and a form of government unique in the world was established. The British Statesman, Gladstone, called the United States Constitution "The most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

The inability of the best constitutional lawyers of our country and of the United States Senate to work out a change in the provision of that Constitution with respect to the treaty-making powers of the President that would be satisfactory to the Senate and to an overwhelming majority of the people of our nation is clear evidence of the superior wisdom of the Founding Fathers.

The question of recognizing this wisdom also is at issue in Senate debate on Statehood for Hawaii. The concept of a nation limited to the mainland of the North American continent was developed jointly by Jefferson, Madison and Monroe and embodied formally in what has become known as the Monroe Doctrine. I feel there should be thorough discussion before a vote is taken on forsaking this doctrine by admitting as a state a series of islands separated from us by more than 2,000 miles of ocean.

In addition to this major policy question, the debate on Statehood for Hawaii will develop these facts:

1. The geographic nature of the islands is such that they cannot hope to have the future expansion of population which has occurred in the mainland territories previously admitted.
2. The opportunity for developing in Hawaii a sound economy, based upon a proper division between industry and agriculture does not exist because of physical limitations.
3. Statehood for Hawaii at this particular time would be particularly perilous from the standpoint of the whole United States, because the entire industry of the islands involving sugar, pineapples and shipping, is absolutely at the mercy of a communist dominated labor union.

What we do now is extremely important because admitting a state is an action which cannot be reversed. Our Constitution merely says that "new states may be admitted by the Congress into the Union." Nothing is said about putting a state out of the Union or allowing one to withdraw but after one bloody war on the issue of secession, it is generally conceded that admitting a state is about the most permanent and unchangeable law which the Congress can pass.

All existing states, therefore, have a vital interest in the question of admitting a new state and in recognition of this fact a member of the House of Representatives has introduced a resolution to amend the Constitution by providing that no new state shall hereafter be admitted without the approval of three fourths of the present states, acting through their legislatures or special conventions.

Bridge-Luncheon Aids House Fund

Mrs. E. B. McCoy, of Lake Shore, entertained at a bridge-luncheon Tuesday afternoon for the benefit of the Lake Shore Community House. Guests enjoyed ice cream, cake, candy and prizes.

Those attending the benefit affair included Mrs. Helen Dillon, Mrs. Ruby Meekins, Mrs. Bertha Newsome, all of Chesapeake Beach; Mrs. Sue Hill, Mrs. Grace Winn, and Mrs. Inez Neidlinger, of Ocean Park; and Mrs. Gertrude Rutkowski, Mrs. Mary Allen Clough, Mrs. Bess Dege and Mrs. Gladys Ellinger, of Lake Shore. Mrs. Neidlinger is president of the Ocean Park Woman's Club.

Lt. Rumble Has High Record

A former Virginia Beach resident, Second Lieutenant Wilson B. Rumble, USMC, 22, son of Mrs. Margaret Rumble and the late Gerould M. Rumble, recently set a record for scholarship in the Embarkment School at the Little Creek Amphibious Base.

The young Marine officer had a grade of 98.44 for the highest mark ever attained by a student in the school. The student came from the Marine Corps at Camp Lejeune, N. C., where young Rumble is stationed.

Rumble graduated from the University of Virginia in January, 1953, and went into the Marine Corps two months later. After two years in service he expects to return to school for a degree in medicine.

His brother, Lieut. Harry H. Rumble, USNR, 33, who has been on duty with the Navy Department in Washington for three years, is leaving later this month for Ottawa, Canada, to take up duties as assistant naval attaché.

The 555 4-H Club Members of Princess Anne County are very proud of the fact that they are a part of more than the two million club members in the country. These 4-H club members will be doing many things during this National Observance Week to celebrate their beginning of club work and to tell others what they are doing in 4-H club.

The 8 different clubs that we have in the County will be setting up many exhibits, making posters and holding special emphasis programs during this week. To bring all of this together on a County-wide basis let's go back to the County Program in Princess Anne.

I mentioned that there were 5 4-H clubs in this County. These are located in the schools of Bay-side, Courthouse, Creeds, Oceana, and Kempsville. At Bay-side, and Courthouse there is only 1 club in each school; these are called Junior 4-H Clubs. The other three schools are broken down into Junior and Senior Clubs. All these clubs have their own officers, conduct their own business meetings, and programs with the Agents, Sponsors, and Leaders giving project instruction at the end of the general meetings.

To coordinate the general activities of the 8 clubs a County Council is set up which consists of the Officers from the 8 Junior and Senior Clubs. The County Council set instruction at the end of the general meetings.

The clubs are engaged in many activities during the year. Each of the clubs are scored on a point system and the Junior Club and the Senior Club with the highest number of points will receive a trophy and a plaque for their accomplishments for the year. The trophy has to be won three years in succession before a club obtains permanent ownership.

In carrying on an effective 4-H Club Program in this County, due recognition must be given to the schools, sponsors, and the outside adult leaders that have taken and are now taking such an active part in the 4-H club in the County. The County Extension Agents would like to take this opportunity to thank each of the Sponsors and Leaders for what they have done to make the 4-H Program as effective as it has been. We would also like to express our sincere gratitude to the Principals of the various schools for the wonderful cooperation that they have given us in letting us use the school time and facilities for holding these 4-H Club Meetings.

The clubs engage in many activities to give the club members a better understanding of cooperation, citizenship and leadership. To accomplish this each of the clubs have had various welfare activities where they have collected baskets of food and clothing to give to needy people of our County, our Country and our Foreign Friends. This has been in our opinion, one of the best ways of doing a long way in our theme of working together for world understanding. Flowers have been sent to hospitals and sick friends; favors and small gifts have been presented to the different hospitals in Norfolk and Virginia Beach and also our County hospitals. This is only a summary of the welfare work done in the County.

One of the basic plans behind all 4-H club work is project work. We have many different project groups of which we can list a few of the more important ones that we have and some of the things that are connected with them to give a better understanding of what is to take place in between crop or livestock production when the 4-H club members in the future become farmers, housewives, or whatever they may be.

In our Baby Beef Project we have 14 boys carrying 15 steers. In connection with this project on May 6th, the 14 boys of this county in conjunction with those from Norfolk County carrying this project will hold the Show and Sale of these animals.

The Market Pig Project is another one in which Shows and Sales are held and this will be March 13th.

In the Corn Project we have 17 members that will be competing for the Princess Anne Corn Yields Contest, next fall.

The Home Grounds Beautification Project is one that our urban folks are much interested in. There are 59 club folks entered in this project, 46 members in Farm Home Safety, 32 carrying Entomology, 47 in the Garden Project, 4 in Forestry, 37 in Farm Home Electricity, 1 in Sweet Potato, 3 in Soybean, 1 in Oats, 2 in Beef Cows, 3 in Sow and Litter, 3 in Sheep, 5 in Fat Pig, 14 in Rabbit, and 19 in Dairy. This gives you an idea of the extensive Project work that the club members in Princess Anne County are engaging in.

March 6th through the 14th, 1954 will mark the 10th year that 4-H clubs across the country can observe National 4-H Club Week.

This observance is the outgrowth of National 4-H Month which was started in 1942 as an effort to rally 4-H boys and girls to the war time production drive. It has now been changed from 4-H Month to National 4-H Club Week. This week is proclaimed by the Federal Extension Service as a period for the 4-H clubs to inaugurate a year which shall be one of the highest achievement. The week is to be observed and the spirit of dedication to serving in the numerous ways, 4-H Sponsors, Leaders, and Members have so faithfully done. The real work of making it a worthwhile week for 4-H lies in the hands of the 4-H club members themselves. But let us not forget that the County folks, the local club sponsors and leaders have many suggestions and pieces of advice to pass on in helping the 4-H club members do a better job not only for one week but for the entire year.

Courtesy Campaign Launched; Highway Safety Primary Goal

To make courtesy a byword on every byway of the United States is the aim of a national traffic safety campaign which was launched March 1.

The American motorist, who so often is an Empty Post as a host but a heel at the wheel, will be asked to join the Courtesy Code of the Road.

Three national safety organizations have joined forces for the program, which translates into practical action one important goal of the recent White House Conference on Highway Safety—the improvement of driver attitudes.

The three cooperating organizations are the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee, an organization of automotive and allied industries, the National Committee for Traffic Safety, and the National Safety Council.

"The real solution to the highway safety problem lies in the mind of the individual," said W. F. Hufschader, chairman of the Inter-Industry Highway Safety Committee. "And we must reach the individual's mind while he is at the wheel of his car."

To reach drivers in their travel environment more than in their better-behaved social or home environment, the campaign plans to climb into the driver's seat.

A dash sticker will serve as a constant reminder inside the vehicle. A bumper sticker in bright fluorescent yellow and black not only identifies a supporter of the program but reminds other drivers that "courtesy is the code of the road." A calendar card setting forth the seven-point courtesy code can be kept handy in wallet or license case.

"The person who drives by the golden rule will never have a serious accident," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council. "Safe driving is a moral responsibility and a daily demonstration of decent and moral conduct."

That concept of moral responsibility is embodied in the code of the road, which asks every motorist to—

1. Share the road by driving in the proper lane.
2. Allow ample clearance when passing.
3. Yield the right of way to other drivers and pedestrians.
4. Give proper signals for turns and stops.
5. Dim his headlights when meeting or following vehicles.
6. Respect traffic laws, signs, signals and road markings.
7. Adjust his driving to road, traffic and weather conditions.

The three organizations conducting the campaign hope to achieve widespread use of the slogan and the reminder materials through business and industrial distribution to employees, community organizations, automotive services, trade associations, schools and churches.

"No one likes to be told he is impolite," said Judge Alfred P. Murrah, chairman of the National Committee for Traffic Safety. "It therefore becomes necessary for everyone to adopt courtesy as his own code of the road and live up to it. Courtesy extended by one driver to another can spread—it can become an epidemic—for courtesy is contagious!"

In the old days if a father open found his son on the wrong track, he provided switching facilities.

EASY DOES IT!

SIMPLE, day-to-day care will keep your appliances in good order and cut down a great deal on repair bills.

Keep a small paint brush handy for brushing crumbs from your toaster every day after use. Wipe the outside of the toaster with a slightly damp cloth to get it shiny.

If waffle batter spills on the outside of the waffle baker, let it "bake" before removing. Then wipe off with a damp cloth and polish dry with a soft dry cloth.

Grids on a waffle baker can be cleaned with a stiff wire brush.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Orange-Cranberry Punch
(Makes 1-2 quarts)

1/4 cup sugar
3/4 cup water
3-4 cup concentrated, quick-freeze orange juice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 bottle (1-2 pint) sparkling water

Combine sugar and 3-4 cup water in saucepan. Place over heat and bring to a boil. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool. Add remaining ingredients. Mix well. Serve with ice cubes or cracked ice.

Never wash the grids with water as this will damage the pre-treatment which has been given to them.

Keep coffee makers of any type well cleaned and sweet if you want every batch of coffee to taste good. Oils permitted to remain in them become rancid and spoil the freshly made coffee.

Filter cloths should be rinsed with cold water after each use. Change them they become too stained or well used.

Never let cords run against appliances when they're in use. Heat and friction may cause the insulation to melt.

NOTES FOR HOMEMAKERS

By MRS. ELIZABETH DEAL, County Home Agent

Sweet Confection

This year when the record pecan crop has brought so many of these nuts to market that simple supplies are expected, home candy-makers have shown special interest in those rich confections, long famous in the South—pralines. Here is a recipe for pralines: Ingredients: 4 cups sugar; 1 teaspoon salt; 2 cups cream; 3 cups pecan meats. To make: Mix together 3 cups of the sugar, the salt, and the cream. Melt the other cup of sugar slowly in a frying pan and stir constantly until caramelized. Into it pour all of the sugar and cream mixture at one time and stir constantly and rapidly. Then boil without stirring until the syrup reaches the soft-ball stage (235 degrees F. on the candy thermometer). Add the nuts. Drop by spoonful onto waxed paper to form flat, round cakes.

Influence On Farm Family Diets

Probably the factor which exerts the greatest influence on diets of farm families is that of food habits acquired in childhood by the men and women who now head the households, states the Vermont Experiment Station in a report on a study of diets of some 360 representative farm families in that State. Today's parents in turn are handing on at least some of their food habits to their children the report adds.

"We won't eat them" was frequently given as the reason for serving no foods new to the family and for not preparing familiar food in new ways, says the report.

It comments that perhaps the men who headed the households might be a little surprised to learn the extent to which this answer was given by their wives as the reasons for limited diets which offered very little variety.

The study, however, indicated that education is showing an effect on food habits. Only 36 percent of the homemakers interviewed had home economics training or had been 4-H Club members. However, 24 percent of the homemakers with such training rated the "best meals" compared with 16 percent of those with no home economics or 4-H Club training. "Best meals" were served by 23 percent of the women who were home demonstration club members compared with 18 percent of those who were not. Several women spoke of the new ideas their daughters were bringing to them for home economics classes. Others reported that sons had returned from the armed services with changed food habits.

Families who had the best meals raised much more of their food than did those with the poorest meals. Home-raised and stored green and yellow vegetables and tomatoes were important in the diets of some families. There was a closer relationship between storage of food for winter use and rating of meals than there was between home production and meal rating.

Therefore, learn what a good diet is and store foods when plentiful for a better diet.

Why do knit goods shrink? It's the size and shape of the loops rather than the yarn.

This was the discovery of U. S. researchers who studied knit goods made from cotton, rayon, acetate, or nylon. They found that fabric stability depends mainly on the size and shape of loops made in knitting the yarn.

Most people believe that laundering causes changes in the length of yarn in knit fabrics. In the USDA study, however, in the fabrics tested, yarns were found to shrink or stretch very little.

The experts said knitted fabrics are pulled lengthwise in the knitting process. If not properly relaxed in finishing, the final length and width of the knitted loops will not be in the proper proportion and garments made from the fabric will shrink or stretch out of shape.

On the basis of these findings, adjustments can be made as necessary in the manufacturing process to get properly shaped loops in the finished knit fabric.

When buying knit fabric or underwear, homemakers should examine the size and shape loops to see if the garment will keep its shape. Examine carefully rib and plain knit fabrics. If the loops are elongated, too much shrinkage in the length and width may occur. Knit goods of the type in which the width of the loops (wale spacing) is greater than the length of the loops (coarse spacing) are more stable and will not change greatly in the laundry. Remember, this applies to rib and plain knit fabrics only. Research is now under way on turtleneck fabrics.

Quilon - A New Water Repellent There's a new word in the fashion vocabulary - "quilon." It is a water-soluble water repellent, which is permanent - it won't wash or dry-clean out. Chesapeake Club Luncheon Meet Next Tuesday

The Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach will hold their regular monthly luncheon meeting March 9th at 1:00 P. M. in the Community Building.

The hostesses for this month's luncheon will be: Mrs. E. M. Bagler, Mrs. R. J. Webber, Mrs. B. V. Reynolds, Sr. Mrs. B. V. Reynolds, Jr., Mrs. G. A. Ahlitz, and Mrs. J. B. Pay.

The program this month is under the direction of Mrs. E. M. Bagler, Fine Arts Department. She will present Mrs. LeRoy Ober who will review Sholem Asch's "Passage in the Night."

Mrs. Ober is a well known book reviewer. She teaches the Laura Fenn Bible class of the Park Place Methodist Church; she is on the board of the Y. W. C. A. She is a member of the Hermitage Foundation and a member of the Woman's Club of Norfolk.

Mrs. H. P. McIntire and her Hawaiian dancers will also put on a short skit.

Orientation Class Held by Club

The Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach held an "Orientation Class," Thursday, February 25th at the Community Building. The President, Mrs. T. J. Austin, was the moderator.

The purpose of the class was to familiarize the new officers and new members with the working of the club.

Mrs. Austin outlined how the Woman's Club of Chesapeake Beach works with the State Federation of Woman's Club in their work in the Tidewater District and how the State Federation in turn works with the General Federation. She brought out the fact that we are among the twenty million club women banded together with the same ideas and principles. The slogan of the Federation this year is "Build a Better Community." That of course is not a new idea to the Chesapeake Beach Woman's Club. They have been striving along these lines ever since the club was organized in 1940.

She brought out the fact that the club is also synchronized with the Community Center Inc. of Chesapeake Beach and also members of the Princess Anne Civic League. So far this year the club has twenty new members which brings the membership total up to eighty.

The class was very profitable to the new members and gave them a better understanding of just what they were working for.

Standard methods of cleaning can now be used on garments treated with quilon without loss of softness or color - while dry-cleaning of suede heretofore has been undertaken by only a few cleaners. It was considered a ticklish art. Soling of suede now is reduced as the water repellent gives stain resistance.

About half the fur felt hats made in the country today are treated with quilon for water repellency. It has been proved by leading hat manufacturers that even in a downpour of rain, the hat picks up very little water.

The finish now available to the clothing industry was first developed during the World War II by chemists in paper finishes. By 1949 the paper industry was using it in quantity for meat wrapping, ice cube bags, outdoor signs, and for use in the building trade.

Look for the word "quilon" on the tag or label of your next purchase of fur felt hats, outdoor footwear, suede jackets or garments or articles trimmed with suede for a permanent water repellent finish.

Volunteers Sought for Gray Lady Program at Portsmouth Hospital

An urgent appeal to recruit volunteers for the Gray Lady program at the Portsmouth Naval Hospital has been issued to five local American Red Cross chapters.

Normal personnel turnover and an expected broadening of the program's scope has made the request for more women necessary.

Interested applicants are being asked to contact their respective Red Cross chapters at Portsmouth, Norfolk, Suffolk, Princess Anne and Smithfield, during the first week of March. Thirty-five to 50 volunteers are being sought.

Those entering the Gray Lady program will be required to attend special instruction at the hospital totaling 24 hours. Group classes will be held on four days, March 16, 18, 23, and 25, under the direction of Miss Lillian P. Marks, Red Cross Field Director.

Since the first class was started here in 1951, Gray Ladies have been continually at work. An even percentage of volunteers has stemmed from both permanent area residents and service wives.

To be eligible women must be between the ages of 21 and 55 and be free to serve at least one day a week throughout the year. Selection is based on emotional maturity, sensitivity and understanding of the sick.

Gray Ladies carry out a social service and recreation program for hospitalized servicemen and women, plus dependents under treatment.

They may be required to write letters, do personal shopping, help with financial problems, plan and carry out recreational activities for bed patients and ambulatory groups. Gray Ladies also distribute reading material, teach arts and crafts, and give help to special patients.

Volunteers are used either days or evenings, depending on individual preference, from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M. and 6 P. M. to 9:30 P. M.

Recently Rear Admiral R. S. Cook, MC, USN, Commanding Officer of the Hospital, lauded the work of the Gray Ladies terming them as the "arm of the community, bringing warmth and friendship to sick servicemen."

GIRL SCOUTS COLLECT STAMPS

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Artificial Insemination Program

Congratulations! to Johnny Cordero and Alce Brown for the fine job and progress that they have made in their Artificial Insemination Program during 1953. According to the figures of the Southeastern Artificial Breeding Association, 672 different cows were bred in 1952, and 1,479 different cows were Artificially Inseminated during 1953. This was an increase of 807 first services or an increase of 120 per cent - truly a remarkable record. According to association records, our Norfolk and Princess Anne Artificial Breeding Service had the largest percentage increase for the states of North Carolina and Virginia. This is truly a fine record and shows that our Dairy Farmers are paying closer attention to the use of high quality bulls. According to D. H. A. production figures on a group of these artificially sired Heifers from Norfolk County, 10,676 pounds of milk and 404 pounds of butterfat was reached as the average for 1953. Our Artificial Breeding Program in these two Counties is certainly demonstrating the value of using the services of some of the county's Better Bulls.

Life of Farm Building Lengthened By Painting

The life of a farm building can be increased by 10 to 16 years simply by applying paint when needed. On a dollars and cents basis this means you can figure on better than 3 percent interest on money invested for painting. Right now, is a good time to start figuring the amount of paint needed for unpainted buildings and metal roofs which are beginning to show rust spots. Inspect the buildings already painted. It may be time for another coat. Don't wait too long to begin painting. If siding has begun to rot or if metal roofs have begun to rust, the rotting and rusting may continue after the paint is applied. Many people have to spend more time preparing the surface for paint than they spend painting because it has been delayed too long.

All exposed woodwork of new buildings should have at least one primer coat as soon after construction as weather permits. New galvanized sheet iron is easier to paint if allowed to weather for about a year. However, the galvanized surface may be prepared for immediate painting by scrubbing it with a strong water solution of bluestone or sal ammoniac. Spring and fall are usually considered good seasons for outside painting. However, painting may be done whenever the weather is not damp, frosty, or freezing. The surface to be painting should be thoroughly dry. The temperature should be between 60 degrees and 80 degrees for best results.

Cement Paints

Cement paints are being used extensively today on both solid concrete and masonry block walls. Many people have failed to apply this paint properly and have been disappointed with the results. Here are a few important points to remember in applying cement paint:

The surface to be painted must be free of such things as dust, dirt, oil, grease, oil paints, or whitewash.

Dampen the surface uniformly with water just before applying the paint.

After the paint has hardened for

Shift to Soybeans Seen as Result of Arceage Allotments on Other Crops

Price support for the 1954 soybeans crop on a national average basis will be $2.22 per bushel, the State Stabilization and Conservation office has announced. This compares with a rate of $2.56 per bushel on the 1953 crop. The Virginia support price for 1953 soybeans was $2.50 per bushel or 6 cents less than the national average. If the same 6 cents differential is used in 1954, the Virginia support price for 1954 will be about $2.16 per bushel.

According to W. T. Powers, ASC Administrative Office, the 1954 rate will reflect 800 percent of the December 15, 1953 parity price for all soybeans whereas the rate last year was based on 90 percent of parity. The support level is designed to keep the soybean acreage in approximate balance with production needs without resort to acreage allotment.

With acreage allotments already in effect on Virginia 1954 crops of wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco and peanuts, it is believed that many producers may shift acreages from production of these basic crops to soybeans.

Price support for the 1954 soybean crop is announced at this time in accordance with "forward pricing" provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1949, so that producers may plan their operations in advance.

As in the past soybean price supports will be effected by farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans and through purchase agreements which will be available to producers through January 31, 1955. The base support rate is for soybeans grading No. 2 and appropriate premiums and discounts applied to other grades and qualities. Soybeans must grade at least No. 4 and contain not more than 14 percent moisture to be eligible for price support. Loans and purchase agreements will be available at the county ASC office.

Only farmers whose planted wheat acreage is in excess of 15 acres and also in excess of the 1954 farm acreage allotment will receive notices of their measured acreages, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee has announced.

The move is in the interest of economy according to W. T. Powers, State ASC Administrative Officer.

He said that it has been customary under other marketing quota programs - peanuts, tobacco and cotton to send acreage notices to all farmers whether or not the farm acreage was determined to be in excess of the allotment. The ASC reports determine farm acreages of allotment crops

Big Celebration Planned For Visit of USS Norfolk

The USS Norfolk (DE-1), the U. S. Navy's first warship designated as a destroyer leader, will pay its first visit to Norfolk on March 10 or 11, the Navy announced today.

Plans are now being made for the trim-lined vessel to be open for general visiting during several of the five or six days the ship will be tied up here. Highlight of the USS Norfolk's stopover will be a city-sponsored ceremony to present the ship with a $2,500 silver service set.

Mayor W. F. Duckworth has asked the Armed Forces Committee of the Chamber of Commerce to arrange an appropriate welcome and entertainment for the destroyer leader's officers and crew during their stay.

The Armed Forces Committee will also attempt to locate berthing space at a downtown Norfolk pier so that Norfolk residents will have easier access to the docking site.

The USS Norfolk's visit will mark the first time in approximately 150 years that Norfolk residents have had an opportunity to view and board a U. S. warship named after this city. The former USS Norfolk was an 18-gun brig used briefly from 1798 to 1800 before being sold by the Navy.

The destroyer leader Norfolk, a 5,500-ton vessel, was commissioned almost one year ago - March 4, 1953 - at Philadelphia Navy Yard. The ship carries 30 officers and 450 enlisted men, and is commanded by Captain Clarence M. Bowley, USN.

The Norfolk contains the most modern anti-submarine warfare equipment, and will engage in Hunter-Killer operations. The ship is 340 feet long, approximately the size of the light cruiser San Diego. The commissioning ceremony a Special weeks, concocted by publicity men, overcrowd the new year's calendar, which still contains only 52. Nor have press overlooked the broader possibilities of special months. January is Egg Month, February is Butter Frosting Month, May is Salad Month, June is Dairy Month and so it goes.

March is not a special month but it has more than its share of special weeks. It includes National Peanut Week, National 4-H Club Week, Girl Scout Week, Camp Fire Girls Week and Boys Club Week among others. The busiest of all is this week March 7 to '13; that's when the Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, 4-H Clubs, Boys Clubs and Peanut Week will vie for public attention. Logical enough probably — kids and peanuts sort of go together.

Peanut Week is sponsored by the National Peanut Council, a Washington trade association made up of manufacturers of peanut products, processors and growers. Grocery stores, drug stores and dime stores will in special peanut displays festooned with posters which picture an A-Bomb explosion and refer to peanuts as the "AN-A-TOM-IC Energy Food" (a very nutty pun). The peanut crusade will be advertised in newspapers, on radio and television and in trade journals and magazines.

A Peanut King and Queen, selected from motion picture, radio and television stars, will lead in acclaiming the lowly goober. Last year the "King" was Hollywood comedian Bob Hope and the "Queen" was his radio songstress Margaret Whiting. This year's "Peanut Royalty" will be equally famous, says the Peanut Council.

The National Peanut Council, composed of farmers, shellers, crushers, brokers, manufacturers of peanut products, etc., all segments of the industry is the sponsoring group of National Peanut Week. There are about 65,000 peanut farmers. The principal producing states are Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Texas and Oklahoma. About 600,000 tons of peanuts were raised in 1953. 85% was used as human food, the balance crushed into oil. Meal, that remains after oil crushing is used for livestock feed. Peanut vines constitute rich vitamin hay.

Approximately 150 shelling and crushing plants process peanuts for manufacturers of candy, peanut butter, salted peanuts, roasted peanuts peanut oil, etc. 45% of edible crop is used in peanut butter, 22% in candy, 28% for salted peanuts and 5% for roasted peanuts.

Comparative calorie analysis shows that the energy value of one pound of peanuts is equal to 4 lbs. of beef steak, 21 lbs. of cheese, 10 quarts of milk and 33 eggs.

It was a pleasure to bring you this information from the Peanut Industry Information Service, National Peanut Council, Washington, D. C. Small kids, big kids — everybody loves peanut! So here's a hilariously nutty Peanut Party, for birthday or any day the little kippers feel like celebrating. For twice the fun (and easy on Mom) let Small Fry help with the fixings.

Invitations? Tie a double peanut to a card with a ribbon bow under its "chin." Ink on a funny face. Draw arms and legs on the card.

Nutty place cards double as party favors. Fashion dolls and animals with hands, feet, heads and bodies of roasted peanuts. Lengths of colored pipe cleaners make legs, arms and tails. Bits of bright paper do for hats and skirts. Easy! Just pierce shells with an ice pick Dip pipe cleaner tips into glue and push into holes. They're a circus!

Nuts are naturals for party games. Push 'em, roll 'em, count 'em, race with 'em — you'll think of a dozen, the nuttier the better. Party eats? Nuts, of course! A lazy Susan offers Spanish peanuts in sung red jackets, "circus goobers" bright with Easter egg dyes, crunchy peanut brittle, Star dust, 22% in candy, a metallic reptile leather. A "sky-scaper" among heel heights, it creates the optical illusion of trimmer, slimmer ankles and even legs that much-coveted lion look.

DESIGNERS' CHOICE — It seems as if each French designer has chosen a different angle for the female figure come the Spring parade. For instance, Jacques Fath likes the corselet-fitted fashion while Griffe has done an admirable job of fashioning the Grecian, graceful cut. Castillos designing for the House of Lanvin features the terrific belts mid-riff fashion. Balenciaga, "the greatest designer of them all" according to Cecil Beaton, prefers the unfitted line while Christian Dior has cold-shouldered the popular-with-them-all Princess line for the graceful, easy blousing bodices over belted waists. Most American designers have chosen high-bosomed Princess lines and nearly all of them feature bellies dresses for the Spring collections. Coco Chanel, who made her dressmaking business come-back this season, as most editors remarked, stuck pretty much to the lines and fashion follies of twenty years ago when she gave up the dressmaking business. However, this observer notes that although editors wrote of her showing with tears dripping onto their pencils with sadness, because she was so "old hat", that everywhere you turn locally and every fashion magazine you pick up appealing to national feminine tastes in America, you see the shirt waist influence. Shirt-tail dresses and shirt waist dresses and shirt-waist styled coats. This inclines your Alisbee to think that Chanel may have the last laugh this season.

After all, since "but everyone copies her original idea of shirt waist dresses with she introduced twenty years ago and again, during her come-back showing, in Spring 1954! It's a pleasant and most youthful style and have you ever seen any woman, of any age, in a shirtwaist dress who didn't look years younger and step forth more buoyantly in her youthful fashion?

FASHION AND WOMAN'S EDITOR

Tune in to Radio Station WAVY — 1350 on your dial — for latest fashion news, interesting items about people, places, stuff and things, by Alice Brewer White, each day, Monday through Saturday, 9:00 to 9:30 A. M. — NBC in Tidewater.

STANDING ON A DIME! — Fair Ladies of fashion will be standing on a dime this summer and loving it! Soe designer Henry Delman has introduced the dime-sized heel as the newest trend in footwear fashions in his new Spring Collection for 1954. Set just slightly forward under the heel of the foot, the heel curves from the top to a super-thin middle section no bigger than your little finger, and then widens to a dime-wide base. This unique attenuated shape gives both daytime leather suits shoes and delicate evening sandals an extremely graceful look. The shoe back is also narrowed and fitted closely to the natural heel so that its contour is straighter and sleeker. "Vivace" features the new heel on a suit pump of gloss-polished "Glorious Red" leather delicately detailed with crescent cut-outs on the vamp and side. On the evening version, it adds an extra note of elegance to a halter back sandal of Stardust Lizard, a metallic reptile leather. A "sky-scaper" among heel heights, it creates the optical illusion of trimmer, slimmer ankles and even legs that much-coveted lion look.

DESIGNERS' CHOICE — It seems as if each French designer has chosen a different angle for the female figure come the Spring parade. For instance, Jacques Fath likes the corselet-fitted fashion while Griffe has done an admirable job of fashioning the Grecian, graceful cut. Castillos designing for the House of Lanvin features the terrific belts mid-riff fashion. Balenciaga, "the greatest designer of them all" according to Cecil Beaton, prefers the unfitted line while Christian Dior has cold-shouldered the popular-with-them-all Princess line for the graceful, easy blousing bodices over belted waists. Most American designers have chosen high-bosomed Princess lines and nearly all of them feature bellies dresses for the Spring collections. Coco Chanel, who made her dressmaking business come-back this season, as most editors remarked, stuck pretty much to the lines and fashion follies of twenty years ago when she gave up the dressmaking business. However, this observer notes that although editors wrote of her showing with tears dripping onto their pencils with sadness, because she was so "old hat", that everywhere you turn locally and every fashion magazine you pick up appealing to national feminine tastes in America, you see the shirt waist influence. Shirt-tail dresses and shirt waist dresses and shirt-waist styled coats. This inclines your Alisbee to think that Chanel may have the last laugh this season.

After all, since "but everyone copies her original idea of shirt waist dresses with she introduced twenty years ago and again, during her come-back showing, in Spring 1954! It's a pleasant and most youthful style and have you ever seen any woman, of any age, in a shirtwaist dress who didn't look years younger and step forth more buoyantly in her youthful fashion?

SQUAW DRESS, ARIZONA STYLE — The Indian squaw is inspiration for a new fashion trend for the Arizona fashion designers are making a hit with the "squaw dress." It is customarily a sports dress with a fitted bodice and shirred, flaring skirt. The skirt will flatten around like a pancake when its wearer sits on the floor. Some of the dresses by the Arizona designers — and there are number of them, in case you didn't know — are glamorized interpretations of the squaw dress and even strapless evening styles as well! This Vogue is actually a revival of a pioneer costume and that pioneer women in the West saved their castoffs in Indian servants, who perpetuated the style long after the fashion changed. Women of the Navajo and other southwest tribes still wear these garments, and thus comes the name of "squaw dress." Most of the dresses are cotton in yachting colors and designs and some of them have as much as ten yards of material in the flaring skirt. Other popular fashions Arizona designers include hand-painted blouses, fiesta dresses, peon pants, and bullfighter style shorts with Indian designs. All of these fashions should have great appeal to the Beach women and summer visitors.

PERUVIAN INDIAN INSPIRE — The exquisite work of the Indian women high in the Andes Mountains of Peru has brought forth one of the smartest new fashion decorating fabrics of the season. The fabric is a cotton material that looks very much like Siamese silk with its stripe (stree-ay) effect. The cotton has an irregular, hand-crafted texture like that of the cloth woven by primitive Indian women on their back strap hand

Thanks, Mr. Farmer!

It's been said that farmers and planters made possible the life of today. Once farmers had learned how to bring forth a steady food supply, men could build towns and set up industries. These industries, in turn, helped the farmer turn out even more food by providing him with tools and transportation. And one of these tools is the telephone, which saves the farmer time, trouble and money — so much in fact that many farmers say, "Telephone service is the biggest bargain I buy today!"

Elbow grease... and co-operation

When it comes time to wash the family car, the job is over and done much faster if everyone pitches in. That kind of co-operation works mighty well on the telephone party line, too. Considerate party line neighbors hang up gently and try again a little later when they find the line in use. And they free the line reasonably soon when they realize others are waiting to use it. Consideration for others and good old-fashioned courtesy make good party line service even better!

Many women have such busy fingers that they cannot bear to sit still listening to a radio program without knitting, crocheting or doing bit of needlepoint. This also seems to be prevalent with many ladies who do a lot of commuting. Lilly Dache is a transatlantic commuter with an old-fashioned passion for needlepoint. She designs her own and naturally most of her cushions, rug and boudoir slippers for her friends are in typical Dache flower bouquets. Super-engineered Aircraft and embroidery do not seem to go together, but more and more feminine world-travelers are seen mounting the landing stairs of planes with bits of canvas and colored wool peeking out of their carryalls. Mrs. Harold Talbot, lovely wife of the US Secretary of Air and his companion on constant flights to our farflung airbases, has made three nine-by-twelve needlepoint rugs in fourteen inch squares, while up in the air! Mrs. Talbot, also a noted member of the best dressed lists, designs her own needlepoint patterns: one rug is an arrangement of seashells, another of vegetables and the third her favorite garden flowers. Keeping busy with the needlepoint hobby means relaxing and not worrying about imaginary woes and ills! Mrs. Pat Kennedy, who bought out Margaret Fantone's interior decorating shop, feels that since she did all the drapes before that she is just in a continuation of business while Marjagaret has moved around the corner to open a little knit shop on 25th street and is catering to many of the women knitters who do such exquisite work here at the Beach. Public's Opinion of Profession Will Be Discussed at Medical Conflab

The general public's opinion of the medical profession, including the public relations aspects of medical medicine, will be discussed at the sixth annual Public Relations Conference at the Hotel Jefferson, Richmond, March 28-29.

At a breakfast session on the opening day, a panel of businessmen and doctors will take up the topic, "Medicine's Chronic Deficiency - Vitamin PR."

Like the rest of the conference, the session will be open to the public.

Richard S. Gillis, Jr., conference general chairman, said the panel would explore what the average citizen thinks of his doctor and what the medical profession should do about it.

Panel members include John H. Colburn, Managing Editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch as moderator; Walter W. Craigie, of F. W. Craigie and Company; Dr. Benjamin W. Rawles, Jr., chairman of the public relations committee of the Medical Society of Virginia, and Dr. Mack I. Shanholtz, State Health Commissioner.

On the tentative panel agenda is a discussion of the public's reaction to the way in which the medical profession went about its fight against so-called medicine.

Also to come up are the role of the medical associations in representing the profession and the problem of keeping the public properly informed on advances in medical science.

The two-day conference is sponsored by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce and the Richmond Public Relations Association.

The program includes talks by Jennings Randolph, Assistant to the President of Capital Airlines, and William G. Werner, manager of the Public Relations and Consumer Information Division of Procter & Gamble Company.

Other panels include public relations problems of agriculture and of advertising, a panel on printing, photography and engraving, public relations in management, and the responsibility of business and industry for better legislation.

"Bill Town"

The director and one-man jury of the exhibition, Dwight Kirsh of Des Moines, Iowa, has selected 100 paintings which indicate contemporary trends in American art. In noting that pictures by a number of Virginia artists will be included in "American Painting 1954," Kirsh said that no attempt has been made to compile a "who's who" of the best contemporary painters. "Sometime good examples of work by accepted artists are not available. I tried to include gifted, mature painters, adding those new ones whose work warrants a second look."

The current exhibition is the museum's second study of American painting using a one-man jury. Kirsh said the decision to use a single juror was made to avoid the inevitable compromises of a larger jury. He added that the one-man jury system has been tremendously successful, and that the impact and personality of the exhibition becomes refreshingly clear.

Dwight Kirsh, at present the director of the Des Moines Art Center, is an outstanding authority on American painting. He is also well-known as an artist and as a teacher. Kirsh will return to Virginia on March 12 to give his report on the paintings selected for "American Painting 1954."

Play Safe With Ladders
Ladders are simple in construction, and nearly everyone climbs them, but unsafe ladders are used much too often, warns the Virginia Rural Safety Council.

Most climbing accidents are caused by the use of improper equipment or the loss of balance with the inevitable falling of the climber or of the ladder itself.

Farmers are reminded to inspect ladders periodically for rusted or loose bolts and nails, and for cracked, rotten, or loose rungs or supports. Repair or replace defective parts promptly. Never leave a ladder where it will fall, be tipped over, or bumped into. Set Ladders Securely Before mounting a ladder, be sure it is set securely. Set it from a wall so the base is one-fourth the distance to the top support. A ladder should also be tied or someone should hold it, if used where there is danger of its slipping.

Always face the ladder going up or down and hold on with both hands. Take one step at a time - don't hurry. It is easier to get off and on a ladder that extends well above a landing. Tools or materials that cannot be carried safely in pockets should be hoisted with a hand line.

Work facing the ladder and hold on with one hand. Avoid working in a high wind. Avoid over-reaching or over-exertion in pushing or pulling while working on ladders because it is easy to lose balance and fall.

1953 Fire Loss Up 15 Percent

Fire damaged or destroyed an estimated $903,600,000 worth of property in the United States last year (1953), the National Board of Fire Underwriters has reported. This is 15.1 per cent higher than the year previous (1952), when monthly losses totaled $784,903,000.

According to Lewis A. Vincent, NBFU's general manager, 1953's fire losses are the highest on record for the third consecutive year.

He said the losses reflect to a large degree the nation's expanding economy, particularly those insurable values exposed to fire that have increased proportionately and include the result of the disastrous fire last August at the Lavinia plant of the General Motors Corp.

Mr. Vincent noted also that losses for the month of December were particularly heavy.

through on-farm visits by the use of aerial photographs, ground measurements, and otherwise. In the case of wheat, Powers explained, marketing penalties on excess production do not apply to any farm with a wheat acreage of 15 acres or less. No farm is eligible for price support, regardless of the size of its allotments, where the planted acreage exceeds the allotment.

As an example, Powers said, a producer with a 1954 farm wheat allotment of 10 acres and who plants 15 acres may receive a marketing card to sell his wheat without penalty but he cannot get price support.

After ASC reporters have visited wheat farms and determined that the planted acreage is within the allotment, farmers will be asked to pick up their wheat marketing cards at their county ASC office. Each county ASC office will announce when cards are ready for distribution.

PA Designated 'Commercial Corn Area' for '54

The United States Department of Agriculture has designated nine Eastern Virginia counties as constituting commercial corn areas for purposes of the 1954 corn acreage allotment program, the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee has announced.

As explained by W. T. Powers, ASC State Administrative Officer, a commercial corn county is one where, according to Agricultural Marketing Service records, the corn production during the past ten years was 450 bushels or more per farm and 4 or more bushels of corn were produced per acre of farmland. Counties in Virginia in the commercial corn area are: Accomack, Northampton, Nansemond, Princess Anne, Norfolk, Isle of Wight, Southampton, Surry and Sussex.

In these nine counties, acreage allotments will be issued to farms on the basis of individual farm corn plantings during the last three years, and other factors. Farmers who plant within their allotments are eligible for price support at the rate of 80 per cent of parity, Powers said. Those who exceed their acreage allotments get no price support.

In other counties in the State outside the commercial area, price support for 1954 corn will be computed at the rate equal to 75 per amounting to $83,440,000 an increase of 22.6 per cent over losses of $68,064,000 for the preceding month (November) and an increase of 12.6 per cent over losses for December, 1952, when they amounted to $74,127,000.

These estimated losses include an allowance for uninsured and unreported losses.

"JOIN AND SERVE"

cent of the rate in commercial counties, or 67.5 per cent of parity. In 1953 the corn support price in Virginia at 80 per cent of parity was $1.76 per bushel. Because of the drought in a large area of the State, corn production was far below average, and only about 47,000 bushels of corn went under Government price support.

The Virginia corn acreage allotment this year has been established at 100,000 acres for the commercial area. Counties in that area planted a total of 50,000 acres in 1953. Individual county corn allotments have not yet been established.

Yes, the hot-cold wars are over. But in peace, as well as war, your Red Cross keeps on fighting for human happiness and welfare all over the world. Even as you read this, your Red Cross may be called into action across the street, or across the country. Your money, your blood, and YOU are needed in so many ways. These are just a few:

BLOOD SAVES LIVES in peacetime as well as wartime. In addition to meeting battlefield and war hospital needs, the Red Cross blood program extends to civilian hospitals and for defense. In 1953, your Red Cross procured 4,121,000 donations of blood and provided over 9,000,000 cc. of gamma globulin for use against measles and paratyphoid from polio.

DISASTER RELIEF. Last year, over 25,000 families were aided in 219 relief operations by your Red Cross. First, tomorrow, today, bring the immediate action of your Red Cross to help the injured, the homeless, the hapless. Your Red Cross provides emergency nursing, motor service, and emergency food and shelter.

VETERANS' PROBLEMS. In Veterans' Hospitals and at military posts, Red Cross volunteers perform many services that lighten the burden of pain and boredom. In addition, chapter Home Service workers aided 105,200 service families PER MONTH in 1953, giving counsel, information, and emergency financial assistance.

MEAT INCREASE IN STATE TURKEY KILL

The total turkey kill in Virginia during the recent season was 2530, compared to last year's total of 1908. 1928 turkeys were killed in counties east of the Blue Ridge, with Buckingham, Halifax, and Spotsylvania leading, with totals of 164, 119 and 96 respectively, all increases over last year's kill.

West of the Blue Ridge, Bath with 161, Augusta with 129 and Shenandoah with 110 were the counties leading in number of turkeys killed, with a total of 702 for the whole western section.

WEATHER SPEEDS TROUT PLANTING

Sufficient rains followed by extended fair weather have made it possible for trout from the fish hatcheries to be planted at a rapid rate and it is hoped that the planting will be completed early in April.

and Mrs. Eulion White and Mrs. Finley Paxson chose to write her Biographical Sketch, to be sent in before February 5th.

After the business, Mrs. Elliott gave an interesting demonstration on low-caloried and nutritive meals. The meeting adjourned with a Cover Dish Luncheon, and the delicious demonstration meal prepared by our Hostess.

Next month, on the third Thursday the Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Sanford Moore, Lynnhaven.

After a series of quick stops, the temperature in the brake system on your car may exceed 250 degrees.

BUNNIES ON PARADE

EASTER TIME so often means party time, especially for the youngsters. And, of course, a party always means a cake—a very special cake such as the one pictured here. The children will love the deep golden yellow layers, so generously covered with chocolate frosting and gayly decorated with cunning marshmallow bunnies. And best of all it can be cut to serve 16 hungry kiddies! Here's how: With a sharp pointed knife cut an inside circle of about 3 1/2 inches. Then from around this circle cut cake in about 2-inch wedge pieces—you should be able to get 12 wedges. Then cut the inner circle into 4 pieces. Fun to make—and downy tender to eat—is this special Easter cake!

EASTER BUNNY CAKE

1 Package Yellow Cake Mix
Chocolate Wonder Frosting

Prepare cake mix according to package directions, baking in two round 8-inch layer pans which have been lined on bottoms with paper. When cool, frost with Chocolate Wonder Frosting. Place marshmallow bunnies around top of cake and letter "Happy Easter" in center of cake.

Chocolate Wonder Frosting: Combine 2 packages (6 ounces) cream cheese with 1-4 cup milk and blend. Add 4 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, 1 cup at time, blending after each addition. Add 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, and 1-8 teaspoon salt and beat until smooth. (Add additional milk, if necessary.) Makes enough frosting to cover tops and sides of two 8-inch layers (generously).

Industry Takes Bright Idea From Homemakers

Those infra-red ovens housewives have been using for indoor barbecues have been adopted by industry for roasting also. But instead of a juicy cut of meat getting the infra-red treatment, the heat is used to expand airplane cylinders so that parts may be easily inserted.

Capital Airlines, in the overhaul shops at Washington National Airport is the first industry to adapt the radiant heat for precise pre-heating of engine cylinders on a conveyorized basis. Robert Bauer, foreman, power plant overhaul, called representatives of the Edwin L. Wiesand Co., manufacturers of electric heat with the idea for adapting the infra-red treatment to pre-heat cylinders.

Then mechanic A. C. Titus set to work and designed the entire oven with an assist from another mechanic H. W. Scott.

Previously airplane cylinders were heated by a gas torch method but with the new infra-red treatment there is a 30 per cent increase in assembly production, a saving of 25 man-hours a week and cleaner, cooler working conditions for the men in maintenance.

The flexible radiant oven has infinitely variable control, and is readily adaptable to handle the several different types of cylinders which Capital overhauls.

In addition to the operating advantages, the oven, which is only 7' 8" and 2' 6" wide, saves considerable floor space. So well satisfied is Capital with the oven, after testing it for several months, that a new one is now being constructed in line with the expansion of engine overhaul facilities.

Canned Food Always Abundant National Association Head Declares

Whether we have adjustment, recession or depression, canned foods will guarantee that American families are well fed, Carlos Campbell, Washington, D. C., executive secretary of the National Canners Association, told Virginia canners at their annual meeting in Roanoke last Friday night.

"Canned foods have carried Mrs. Housewife through all the major emergencies of this century," Mr. Campbell stated. "In wars or depressions, in periods of high income or hard times they have always given the consumer her greatest value per food dollar spent. The home economists and scientists of this industry have ensured their high quality and nutritive values; and the efficiency of canners and the free competition that characterizes this industry have maintained price stability at the purchasing point. Canned foods are the great economic stabilizer of the American-Tied market, he said."

Whatever happens to the country's future economy, Mr. Campbell gave assurance that the present great variety of products and of grades within those products will be available to meet any form of consumer requirement. "Gourmet meals from top-quality canned foods will still be possible for those with elite tastes; the humbler-priced values will still be in the grocery shelves, if retrenchment is called for," he asserted.

"The canner has always furnished this dependability and reliability for all the elements he serves: farmer, laborer, consumer, Mr. Campbell said. "He gives the grower of canning crops valuable stability; for a quarter of a century he has purchased his tomatoes from the farmer at a figure closer to parity than soybeans, for example, which the government supports; snap beans, closer to parity than wheat; peas, at or above parity in 20 of the last 24 years, as compared with government-supported field corn, above parity in only six years."

"Canners also have boosted their rate of pay to cannery labor by almost three-fourths in the past 10 years."

"And despite these steadily rising payments to farmers, to labor, for transportation, for cans cases, labels and other supplies, the average price to the consumer has been less than most other forms of the same food at the retail counter," he concluded.

TIDEWATER ART GROUP TO MEET

A business meeting of Tidewater Artists is scheduled to be held at the Norfolk Museum on Sunday, March 7th, at 3:30 P. M. which will be followed by a talk by Rhys North of Portsmouth on "Sketching Adventures on my recent Wanderings" at 4 o'clock, to which the public is invited. Mr. North will illustrate his talk with examples of the sketches he was able to do in several months of travelling during the past year.

Plan Submitted to Remove Postal Pay Inequities

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield on February 16, 1954 presented to the Congress a plan for correcting pay inequities which would result in salary increases for more than 400,000 of the 500,000 employees in the postal field services. The plan was prepared by an independent management engineering firm after a detailed study of the postal salary structure.

According to Mr. Summerfield, the proposal would provide "the first modern salary plan for field personnel in the history of the Post Office Department," would offer much needed incentive for better work and would bring postal salaries more nearly in line with those prevailing in industry.

"This proposed pay plan would add about $80 million a year to Post Office salaries. We believe the correction of inequities will result in better work performance and greater efficiency," the Postmaster General said.

Principal features of the proposed plan are:

1. Starting salaries generally would be increased. Entrance rates of clerks and carriers would be increased by $210 a year; their maximum rates would be increased by $100 or about 5c an hour.

2. More adequate pay differentials are provided for employees with higher skills, and supervisory personnel who, at present, have little incentive to rise above routine work levels.

3. The time required for most employees to advance from the minimum to the maximum salary rate for their job would be reduced, in most cases by two years.

4. Supervisors, who at present have no rate for their jobs, would be given the opportunity to progress within a rate range.

5. The recommendations specify that the salary of no individual employee be decreased as a result of the application of this new plan.

When the pay and incentive plan was presented to the Congressional Committee a series of charts were used. These showed: The earnings of regular postal clerks and letter carriers, now averaging $1.96 per hour for a 40-hour week wage of $78.26, have increased more since 1939 than the cost-of-living index.

Regular postal clerks and letter carriers whose earnings average $78.26 weekly earn substantially more than do the teachers and principals of all elementary and secondary schools in the country, on the average.

Non-supervisory postal employees now average $72.69 for a 40-hour week at $1.82 an hour. On a comparable basis they are better paid than the average of production workers in manufacturing industries up to and including lead foreman, and including overtime pay.

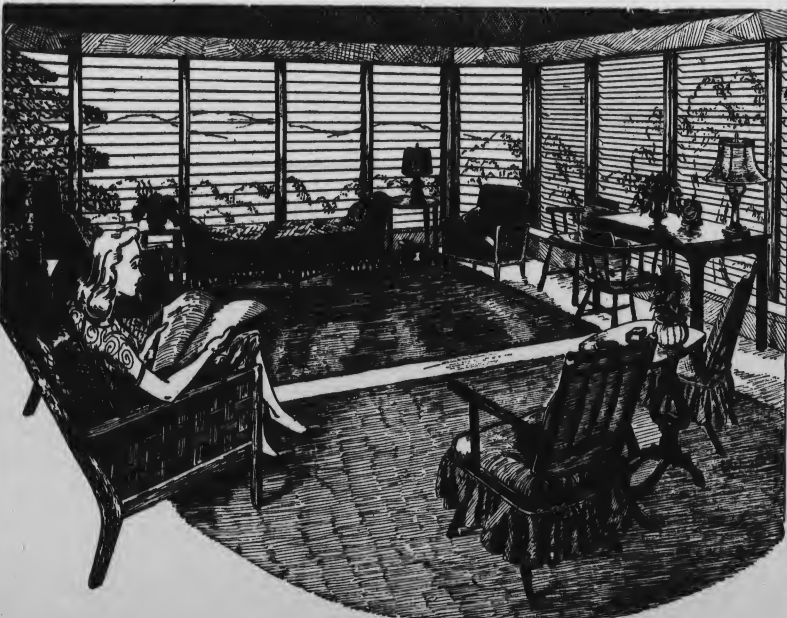

Regular postal clerks and letter carriers—currently averaging $1.96 an hour for a 40-hour week, are paid slightly more than the combined average of city firemen or city policemen of three major cities—New York, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Red Cross Drive Progresses Well Weary Declares

Leslie A. Weary, general chairman for the annual drive for Princess Anne County Chapter, American Red Cross, revealed today that the results had come in from the first residential area. The team of Mrs. James Bell, Jr., and Mrs. Lyle R. Miller has completed Cavalier Park area. Another section that is nearing the conclusion of its campaigning is that of Mrs. Leo B. Bille, chairman of Linkhorn, who revealed that not only has she finished her section but another worker, Mrs. George J. Loupret, has turned in her envelope with all residents having been contacted.

Many more sections will have final or almost complete reports, Weary expects when the mid-month campaign rally is held next Tuesday at 8 P. M. in the Community House, 16th and Arctic. The chairman urgently requests that all workers attend this important but brief meeting at which the progress of the drive will be surveyed. Refreshments are to be served.

In company with campaign chairman from the other Tidewater areas, Weary is scheduled to appear on Joel Carlson's "Tide-water Viewpoint" T. V. program at 5:40 P. M. Friday, March 26. The purpose of this program, Weary pointed out was for listeners to learn of the overall programs of the various drives.

Washington Fusilade Calls Attention to Red Cross and Importance of Blood Bank

Mrs. Arthur Hill, Blood Program Chairman for Princess Anne County, calls attention to the televised appeal made recently by vice-president Nixon, who declared that the activities of the Red Cross were dramatically brought home to the nation as a result of "Red Cross blood donations given Representatives Bentley and Roberts following a pistol attack by a group of Puerto Ricans in the House of Representatives."

Two of the wounded Congressmen needed blood and it was rushed to Casualty Hospital for them by the Washington, D. C., Red Cross Regional Center, the Vice President told an ABC network audience during the United States Steel Hour.

"Tonight I speak for a cause that all Americans believe in because the American Red Cross belongs to us and our contribution makes it possible," he said. "I think one of the reasons the Red Cross does appeal to us is that it is a typical American trait to want to help our neighbors. I haven't time to list all of the things the Red Cross does but I think a few of them are well known to us. We are aware of its work for our servicemen at home or overseas. The Red Cross is there to help."

"And then there is the well-publicized work the Red Cross does in cases of disaster relief such as the hurricanes in Florida and the earthquakes in my own state of California. The Red Cross is there to help."

"There are the less publicized Red Cross activities such as the Junior Red Cross. Did you know for example that over nine million gift packages were sent by the Junior Red Cross to homeless and displaced children in 297 countries. Money couldn't pay for the good will created by that activity. "And then there is the blood bank. Activities of that Red Cross function were brought home to us yesterday at Capitol Hill after five congressmen were shot at by fanatics. Two of them needed blood. Representative Bentley, a good friend of mine from the state of Michigan, is in a fight for his life. Five pints of Red Cross blood were given to him—without that blood he might not be living today."

"Others need this kind of help every day. Did you realize that every time a minute hand goes around that four of your neighbors need blood which is collected by the Red Cross?"

VIRGINIA'S EASTER SEAL CHILD

Five-Year-Old "Bucky" Sloper Symbol For State Easter Seals

Five-year-old, blonde-headed, blue-eyed Raymond "Bucky" Sloper, Falls Church, Virginia, has been chosen as the 1954 Easter Seal Child of the Virginia Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

The announcement of his selection has been made by Dr. William T. Sanger, Richmond, President of the Easter Seal Society.

"Bucky" was chosen after a state-wide search for a representative of all crippled children in Virginia who are helped each year by Easter Seals. He will be featured in the publicity of the Society's forthcoming Easter Seal Campaign from March 18 to April 18.

"Bucky" is the younger of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sloper, 315 Arch Street, Falls Church.

He had measles when he was about a year and a half old. One week later, he developed encephalitis which resulted in para-

He was sent initially in the Northern Virginia Crippled Children's Clinic at Arlington in August, 1949. Later he was examined in the Anti-Convulsive Field Clinic at Arlington and subsequently given a complete seizure control work-up in the Anti-Convulsive Clinic at the University of Virginia Hospital in Charlottesville.

"Bucky" continues under the supervision of the Northern Virginia Crippled Children's Clinic and the Anti-Convulsive Clinic. His condition has improved steadily, with the convulsive seizures fairly well under control. He receives physical therapy regularly, and his family works out occupational therapy and bi-manual exercises at home.

"His case is typical of so many of the children coming to us who require a combination of the

The question of whether the Seashore State Park should remain intact or should a 20-acre site be made available to the Princess Anne County Board for the construction of an elementary school was the issue at the public hearing held in the Virginia Beach High School last Saturday afternoon.

A special committee of the State Department of Conservation and Development, the agency that operates the State Park system, heard pros and cons for approximately two hours. At the conclusion of the hearing, G. Alvin Massenburg, the committee chairman, said his group would take the matter under advisement and would make its recommendation to the commission at a later date.

Those who heard the arguments, in addition to Massenburg, were Randolph Odell, the State Park Service; Victor Stevens, of the Conservation Commission; and Raymond V. Long, acting director of the commission.

The school board is seeking permission to purchase 20 acres within the Seashore State Park Service, a 74th and 75th streets in North Virginia Beach. The school would serve children in that area, plus those from Bay Colony, Linkhorn Park and Cavalier Park.

Advocates of placing the school at the park site advanced these reasons:

1. Only one-tenth of one percent of the present park property would be used.
 2. The natural beauty of the park would enhance the school site.
 3. There is no other suitable site available.
 4. The education of children is far more important than any rare botanical specimen that might be uprooted.
 5. Very few people use the park.
 6. The school is in no way less in a State Park is no reason to fear that any other developments might seek entrance.
- Those favoring conservation of the park used these arguments:
1. There are other schools also available which do not encroach on the State park.
 2. Permitting the sale of any part of the State Park sets a dangerous precedent.
 3. Seashore State Park is unique, and the loss of any part of it would be irreplaceable.
 4. If a school were let in, other agencies would ask to be permitted to locate in the park.
 5. The erection of a building at the suggested site would break down the natural barrier of the park, separating the sea and the wind, and the entire park would be ruined.

Courtesy Keynote of Highway Safety Mayor Murray Declares

"Traffic courtesy is a life-and-death matter," Mayor P. F. Murray said today.

Mayor Murray chose these words to stress the importance of highway courtesy as he announced the opening of a courtesy "Code of the Road" traffic safety program in Virginia Beach.

In making this opening announcement the Mayor said the Virginia Beach Police deserved special commendation for organizing the local program, which it will conduct.

The Mayor also said that on the high-level the program was being conducted by the Governor's Highway Safety Committee.

Reason for this coordinated effort, according to Mayor Murray, is simply the knowledge that motor vehicle accidents occur if all drivers would realize that courtesy on the highway actually does save lives.

"A study of violations as factors in traffic accidents," he explained, "indicates certain specific violations which drivers can easily learn to protect themselves and others from injury and death on the highway." Referring to Governor's Highway Safety Committee studies on fatal motor vehicle accidents for 1952, Mayor Murray said they indicated that the following list of courteous acts must be considered basic to safe driving:

1. Share the road by driving in the proper lane.
2. Allow ample clearance when passing.
3. Yield the right of way to other drivers, to pedestrians.
4. Give proper signals for turns and stops.
5. Use headlights when meeting or following vehicles.

6. Respect traffic laws, signs, signals and road markings.
7. Adjust driving to road, traffic and weather conditions.

"All these points are summed up in the slogan being publicized in this nation-wide program," Mayor Murray said.

He urged everyone to remember and act on the slogan, "Make Courtesy Your Code of the Road."

Old Donation Parish House Near Completion

A Parish house for members of the Old Donation Episcopal church in Princess Anne County is nearing completion and it is hoped to be ready for use in May.

George Lyon is chairman of the building committee, according to the Reverend Beverly D. Tucker, Jr., rector of the church. Lyon supervises and controls all branches of the work.

The parish house building measures 84 feet by 30 feet and is expected to cost approximately $22,000. The cost has been held down by discounts on material and work being donated by parishioners.

The new building will have a large assembly room, with folding partitions so that it may be turned into seven classrooms.

There also will be three separate rooms, one for the minister's study and two for the young-people's classes, and a kitchen. A new brick oyster roaster is another addition to the church ground.

The old frame shingled parish house will be moved away when the new one is completed.

VA. BEACH ART ASSOC. Mr. Minor Thomas, Director of Crafts House, Colonial Williamsburg, will speak to the members of the Virginia Beach Art Association on Wednesday evening, March 17th in the auditorium of the Virginia Beach High School at 8:15 P. In addition to his position as supervisor of crafts for Colonial Williamsburg, Mr. Thomas is widely known for his work in archaeology. He has lectured a number of times at the Antiques forum on such subjects as archaeology, ceramics, old tools, etc. as well as at the Metropolitan Museum in New York. As an expert on Colonial crafts and craftsmen, he has served a number of museums in an advisory capacity as well as his own in Williamsburg.

It is felt that Mr. Thomas' lecture will prove to be of special interest at Virginia Beach where the residents have produced splendid examples of creative work both in ceramics and related crafts.

More People Being Treated for Tuberculosis Than Ever Before Declares National Association

More people are probably under treatment for tuberculosis today than ever before in this country, according to Miss Mary Dempsey, statistician of the National Tuberculosis Association.

In an article in the current issue of the National Tuberculosis Association BULLETIN, Miss Dempsey attributes the high prevalence of tuberculosis today to extensive case finding, which has led to the discovery of previously unknown cases, and improved treatment, which is saving the lives of more and more persons stricken with the disease.

"Primarily as a result of new kinds of treatment adopted in recent years," she states, "patients who formerly would have died young now live on after extended medical care until they may be considered arrested. This fact, together with augmented case finding, has resulted in a greater accumulation of patients under treatment than was previously known, even though both morbidity and mortality are declining."

Pointing out that the loss from tuberculosis runs into hundreds of millions of dollars annually, Miss Dempsey says that the excessive cost of the problem has seldom been faced "by law-making bodies or health organizations, official or voluntary."

The cost of each case of tuberculosis could conservatively be estimated at $15,000, she says. This includes medical and nursing care, health education, case finding, rehabilitation, loss of the patient's wages, compensation, pension, and relief payments to the family, but does not take into account the loss of the patient's productive capacity or the potential future earning power of those who succumb to the disease.

"One reason for the high estimated cost per case," she states, "is the tendency toward reactive-

Cpl. Stitt Takes Part in ODEX

Cpl. Ervin Stitt, whose wife, Virginia, lives at Route 1, Virginia Beach, Va., took part last month in ODEX 16, an offshore exercise conducted near Bordeaux, France.

Under simulated tactical conditions, assuming that no port facilities remained on the coast, troops utilized BARCs, 197,000 pound amphibious cargo barges to move supplies from ships anchored far offshore to positions on the beaches.

Corporal Stitt, son of Mrs. Hatlie Hollaman, 810 Edmund St., Flint, Mich., is a truck driver in the 460th Transportation Amphibious Truck Company. He entered the Army in 1948 and has been overseas since last April.

tion which is an outstanding characteristic of this chronic disease. Probably from 20 to 30 per cent of all hospitalized patients are admitted for treatment more than once. The average cost of maintaining a patient during his second or third hospital stay is from two to four times the cost of maintenance during his first stay.

Miss Dempsey calls tuberculosis "both a cause and an effect of indigency."

"It is simple to grasp the fact that poverty lowers resistance so that the disease spreads rapidly when families live on an inadequate or unbalanced diet, are crowded into insanitary homes, can obtain little education," she says.

"But we do not always stop to think how directly tuberculosis leads to poverty in families where it did not previously exist. A recent study of a sizable group of patients pointed out that less than two per cent of the patients' families were relief recipients at the time of diagnosis; upon being admitted to hospitals a few months later, 16 per cent were receiving public assistance. At the time of

Fleet Air Defense Training Center At Dam Neck Nearing Completion

The Commanding Officer RAD-TC, Dam Neck, announced today that the station's new buildings are expected to be completed about May 15th. Construction of the five new facilities began last summer.

The buildings are all permanent structures, and are part of the "master plan" approved by the Chief of Naval Operations for long range development of the Fleet Air Defense Training Center.

First visible to station visitors will be the new gate house and security building located at the main entrance on State Highway 631. A small building, the gate house will house an office for the security watch, a waiting room for visitors, and a detention room. In the center of the highway opposite the gate house a sentry booth is provided. Also part of this project is an off-the-highway parking lot, outside the gate, with a capacity of about fifty automobiles.

Commanding a view of the Atlantic from its site just north of the station center is the new Bachelor Officers Quarters, designed to accommodate sixty-eight officers. To date, the station has had no quarters for bachelor officers, requiring them to use sections of the enlisted barracks for accommodations.

Largest of the new buildings is the recreation building. Because of Dam Neck's isolated location, it is also considered most important hospital discharge, 50 percent of the families of these same patients were on relief."

The over-all annual loss from tuberculosis in this country is estimated at from five to six hundred million dollars, she states, and this astronomical sum does not include the cost of hospital construction, depreciation of hospital buildings, or the training of professional personnel.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Steve Tips the Balance

Was just leaving home this morning when the Misen reminded me to stop at Steve and Al's Meat Market for a pound of hamburger. "Be sure to get it from Steve," she said.

"Why?" I wondered. So when I got to the market I asked Steve if he knew. "I'll tell you, Joe," he said. "Al and I sell the same meat, and a pound is a pound. Maybe it's just that we go at it differently."

"Al loads the scales and takes away 'til he has a pound. But I put too little on and start adding."

To your wife—that probably looks like a better buy."

From where I sit, there's always more than one way to approach a thing and still come out fair and square to all. My wife likes a cup of tea with dinner; I prefer a temperate glass of beer. We get along fine. Gets me pretty mad though, when somebody starts "throwing his weight around" and demands that I see things exactly his way.

THE JAIL BREAKS

About 10 days ago three more prisoners escaped from the modern "escape proof" Princess Anne County jail bringing to a total of at least 18 prisoners that have escaped during the short period Sheriff C. Roger Malbon has been in office. This total during this short period is probably greater than all the prisoners who have escaped during the entire history of Princess Anne County, even considering the time the county jail was a dilapidated affair that was condemned by the State.

Last October a grand jury made a report to the Circuit Court which report criticized the sheriff for failing to give proper supervision and it said then that had the sheriff and his deputies exercised "accepted jail practices" and kept prisoners confined in places provided that the September escapes would never have occurred.

The recent escape of the three prisoners would indicate that the Sheriff has not followed the recommendations contained in the jury report. A 73-year old radio dispatcher was permitted to open the inner doors where prisoners who had committed felonies of the most serious nature were confined for the purpose of releasing a prisoner confined on a drunkenness charge. What this newspaper fails to understand is why one confined on such a comparatively minor charge of being drunk would be placed in the same cell block with others charged with such serious crimes?

And, if this arrangement of prisoners was necessary the 73-year old radio dispatcher should not have been permitted to go there to release the prisoner. The Sheriff has several younger deputies, one of whom should be stationed in the jail at all times. And the radio dispatcher, regardless of age, should devote full time to handling incoming and outgoing calls. On this particular night the county police and police from the City of Virginia Beach had arrived at the county jail before the Sheriff appeared there.

Princess Anne County pays the Sheriff an excellent salary, mileage for his automobile, a home for his family and other items that the average person is not afforded. So far as we can determine the county has granted the Sheriff his every request for necessary deputies and it (the county) is entitled to the proper supervision from the Sheriff at all times. And, when he finds it necessary to be away he should have the jail well supervised and he should leave word with his deputies where he may be reached at all times. The Sheriff is entitled to certain time off and certain recreation but he should not spend endless hours during the day at Virginia Beach playing cards as is the general alk.

The Sheriff owes it to the citizens of Princess Anne County and the City of Virginia Beach to see that the jail is operated with maximum efficiency and if this is done the county will cease to be the laughing stock of everyone relative to the escape of prisoners from its jail.

It might be wise for the Sheriff to refer back to the recommendations of the grand jury of last October which pointed out the modern jail and the need to utilize accepted jail practices. And, we hope that, in the future, the Sheriff will faithfully apply himself in the discharge of his official duties.

QUITE A CONTRAST

In a recent editorial the Chattanooga News Free Press drew a sharp contrast between two ways of expanding electric power production.

One is the way Tennessee Valley Authority, which is a socialized business, does it. It goes to Congress and asks for money which has been paid into the public treasury by all the taxpayers of the nation. And, of course, TVA and those who must look to it for power service, are 100 per cent dependent on Congress, and are directly affected by changing Congressional attitudes and policies and personalities.

The other way is demonstrated by private enterprise. As an example, the News Free Press cited a southern utility which has just announced plans for a construction program which will cost more than $100,000,000 over a three-year period. The money will be raised by the sale of stocks and bonds — in other words, by the voluntary investment of savings of individuals and organizations with faith in this utility's future. Interest and dividends will be paid on those securities. And the utility will also pay heavy taxes to all units of government on the increased revenues and business that will result from the expansion program. In concluding its editorial the paper observed that all the people of the region will benefit from the program and it will not cost them or the citizens of other states of the union one cent in tax money. And that is a pretty good way to take care of increased power needs. It is the free enterprise way. It is the traditional American way.

Any practical and needed electric power project anywhere, no matter how large, can and will be undertaken by tax-paying private enterprise, if it is given the chance and freed of the old threat of socialization.

WATERBORO, S. C., PRESS AND STANDARD: "Dr. William Fletcher Russell, president of Teacher's College of Columbia University, in speaking at Mercer University, Macon, recently, stated that, 'On every hand it is obvious that something is wrong in the education of the citizen. Too few young men take part in politics, too many condone corruption, too many look elsewhere, particularly to the Federal Government, for direction and for financial handouts.'"

BREDONIA, N. Y., CENSOR: "The farmer has special problems, to be sure. . . But rigid price supports have not made for stability in the market. More flexible ones, to a floor of 75 per cent, would give the farmer protection from extreme price drops while at the same time preserving some advantages of a free market."

ANOTHER CONQUEST OF MT. EVEREST

WASHINGTON..
 AS VIEWED BY YOUR SENATOR
A. Willis Robertson

FEDERAL ECONOMY STUDY SHOULD BE WORTH COST

The recent upswing in the average of stock market prices may be explained in part, I believe, by things which are happening in Washington. Investors in stocks upon deficit spending and are further encouraged by upon elimination of the excess profits tax and expectation that the present double taxation of dividends will be somewhat relaxed.

Each week that passes brings new evidence of pressure of the Federal Government to spend more than it collects. The clear indication at the Berlin Conference that the Soviet Union still has as its goal world domination will deter the Congress from cutting our defense program below what has been recommended by the President and some members have questioned the advisability of the proposed cuts in our ground forces because the effectiveness of our nuclear weapons has had no practical test.

Testimony which has been taken so far by subcommittees of the House and Senate Appropriations Committee indicates that cuts below budget estimates, in domestic spending, outside the defense program, will be relatively minor. There also is good reason to believe that cuts which are made will be more than offset by salary increases for Federal employees. These salary increases were not included in the budget and civil service workers have indicated that they are not satisfied with a revised scale that the White House indicated it would approve. The budget picture is further complicated by the fact that tax cuts will not be limited to the bill recommended by the President which now is pending in the House. Groups which are most affected by excise taxes are bringing strong pressure for their reduction or repeal and individuals are demanding that when corporate taxes and taxes on dividends are reduced, personal exemptions shall be raised at the same time. If these changes are made the deficit for the fiscal year commencing next July will be closer to eight billion dollars than to the three billion anticipated by the President when he submitted his message last January.

The effect of an increased deficit will, of course, be inflationary, and while that influence may help to check the economic recession which many persons now fear, it also will mean that we have not yet solved the problem of shifting back from a war-time to a peace-time economy. One agency which may help to make this shift, which must be made sooner or later, is the new Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, headed by former President Hoover. The previous Hoover Commission recommended a rather broad program of reorganization which placed emphasis on increasing efficiency rather than economy. Virtually all of the economy in domestic spending accomplished in the two years has been through the action of the Congressional Appropriations Committees in reducing appropriations, sometimes in a rather arbitrary manner. In the current studies the new Hoover Commission will give particular attention to greater economy in the operation of what unquestionably has become a top-heavy bureaucracy.

Because I am convinced of the importance of such a study being made, I supported, as a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, the full amount of $1,831,900 recommended by the President for the Hoover Commission, which was included in the bill passed by the Senate last week. That amount will be soundly invested if it points the way to permanent economies in operations of government agencies.

From the PULPIT

Rev. Robert H. Harper:
 The Christian's Prayer Life
 Lesson for August 23: I Timothy 2: 1-8; Romans 8: 26-28
 Golden Text: I Timothy 2: 1-2
 Writing to his "son in the gospel," Paul addresses Timothy concerning prayers in the sanctuary. Some churches follow ritualistic prayers; others are led by the minister in "extemporaneous" prayers. But even so-called "extemporaneous" prayers fall in about the same pattern Sunday after Sunday.

Paul writes Timothy that prayer should be made for all men. He especially names kings and all that are in high place. This may not find such a wide acceptance today. We are more accustomed to pray for the poor and needy. But the great among us stand in need of prayer as does the humblest man in the land. If all men in government life had more of prayer for them instead of harsh criticism, there would be a better service on their part.

We are dependent upon the Spirit to lead us into right praying. He makes intercession for us, and we should yearn and strive to come into harmony with his will, both in living and in praying. All things work together for good to them that love God. Have you ever looked back upon your life and realized how true it has been that things have worked for your good, even things which at the time distressed you? It will sometimes surprise you to do this. You may find that what seemed a terrible misfortune worked out in the course of time for your good. Remember that God sees things before they happen, and can direct them for your good. Trust Him for your own needs and for the needs of those for whom you should intercede.

THE SPEECH A SHORT STORY

By WILL LOZIER

A very heathcote, chairman of the committee, flopped down into one of my big chairs and said, "We're over the top. Everything is set for next Saturday afternoon and we want you to make the presentation."

"Not me," I said.

"You're the mayor, aren't you?" Avery demanded.

"That's exactly the point," I explained. "I've got business to take care of. Lots of business. You'd better get one of the other boys to make the presentation."

"Now wouldn't that be fine?" Avery said sarcastically. "We've made up a big purse for Charlie Bannerman, and the mayor of his own city says he hasn't got time to present it."

I felt like coming right out and telling Avery why I didn't like Charlie Bannerman. When I was fourteen he had borrowed my baseball glove and never returned it. The years had passed and the loss of the glove wasn't too important any more. But there were other things. Like the time he took my girl to the senior prom after it was practically decided that she was going with me. And he hadn't bothered to apologize when I lent him my dress suit to get married in and he brought it back with a cigarette hole in the trousers.

nerman, even though he was the star of the Gray Sox. They were giving him his "Day" next Saturday at the Stadium. So what? Other ball players had had their "Days" and had received everything from shaving mugs to twelve-cylinder automobiles.

I did not like any part of the set-up. I had been trying unsuccessfully to raise enough money to build an addition to the Hamilton City Hospital.

But Avery kept arguing, telling me I was the logical person to make the presentation, and pretty soon I gave in.

"All right," I said. "Tell me what you want me to say."

He handed me a certified check. It was for a lot of money, more than enough to swing that new addition for the hospital.

"I've got your speech written out," Avery said. "I'll read it to you." He cleared his throat. "Ladies and Gentlemen: It is a great privilege to be here today to honor Hamilton's leading citizen. I am alluding to a man who has become nationally famous, a man who is the idol of every—" "That's enough," I interrupted. "Just give me the speech. I'll read it with motions."

He handed me the sheet of paper. I read it to myself. Except for the difference in names, it was practically the same speech I had made a couple of dozen times.

Everyone in Hamilton was raving over Charlie. They even said he was a changed man since he had got married. But I didn't care. I didn't like the guy; and so I decided to write my own speech.

I'd say, "The citizens of Hamilton have raised a large sum of money for a ball player named Charlie Bannerman." Then I'd hand Charlie the check and sit down.

The "Day" had arrived. I sat in the stands near the Gray Sox dugout, waiting to be called onto the field to make the presentation speech.

I felt a light tap on my shoulder and turned around. It was Avery.

WORKING FOR THE RAILROAD

High strength low alloy steels containing nickel along with other alloying elements are minimizing labor and expense in railroading. Besides their corrosion-resisting properties, these steels combine qualities such as ability to withstand shocks, battering, piercing and abrasion.

"Have you got your fountain pen handy?" he asked.

"No," I said. "I must have forgotten it."

Avery handed me his. "I just heard a mighty interesting rumor," he whispered. "They're saying Charlie is going to borrow your fountain pen and endorse that check over to the hospital fund."

I didn't have time to answer him because they were flashing the signal for me to come down onto the field. The players of both teams were gathering around home plate. I walked down the aisle and in another minute I was standing in front of the microphone. The crowd stopped cheering; it was time for me to make the speech.

Boost in Teacher Pay Requested At Virginia Beach

A delegation of 14 persons representing the Parent-Teacher Association met with the Virginia Beach City School Board Monday night and requested consideration of a higher teachers pay scale for the city.

The increase was requested so that Virginia Beach teachers would be on an equal pay scale with those in nearby cities and counties.

The delegation proposed that the minimum salary for teachers with the bachelor's degree be increased to $2,850 from its present $2,400 and that the maximum be lifted to $4,250 from its present $3,700.

A request was also made that yearly increases of $150 be included instead of the present $100. The existing scale calls for $200 a year less for teachers without degrees. The group requested a continuation of this scale.

Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Cox advised the board that the proposals should be studied to make sure they would be in harmony with the State's salary equalization scale.

Members of the delegation included Mrs. T. Cornell Berry, president of the Cooke School PTA; Mrs. J. W. Musick, chairman of teacher recruitment; C. R. Bryant, a member of the delegation; and Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett, of the High School PTA.

Story Quint Wins Over Norfolk Air Station, 98-91

Port Story's basketball quint, champions of the Hampton Roads League, took on another champion, the Norfolk Naval Air Station Flyers, Saturday night and beat them 98 to 91 on the Navy men's own court.

Victory over the Flyers, who are champions of the Norfolk Navy Major League, was a team win for Story. Five of its men hit in the double figures, with Center Carl Leary sinking 10 baskets and five fouls for a total of 28 points. Dick Riser scored eight free throws and eight baskets to come up behind Leary with 24 points.

For the hard-playing Flyers, Richards led with 24 points, and Mason Copé, former Murray State Teachers College great, scored 20.

Story grabbed the lead from the start and in less than five minutes had the score at 14 to 2. Doug Bartlett, who throughout the season has played a great game, more than once stole the ball to score. He totaled 17 points, but with three minutes left to play, was out of the game with a severe leg cramp.

Animal Health Seminar to Discuss Ways of Cutting Livestock Losses

In an effort to combat Virginia's $24,963,000 loss of livestock annually, the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association is presenting an Animal Health Seminar in Roanoke on March 17 - 18. Pharmacists throughout the State are expected to attend.

John M. Bierer of Lexington, President, said the program is designed to show how drugists can help the farmer by making available medicine and other preparations for animal health. Only 150 of the more than 700 drug stores in Virginia now have an Animal Health Department, Bierer stated.

The seminar will include instruction in both Animal Pharmacy for livestock and Animal Health for pets, a primary concern for city Pharmacists. Part of the program will be devoted to a panel discussion on how to establish Animal Health Departments.

Cooperating with the Virginia Pharmaceutical Association in presenting this program are the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, the American Animal Health Pharmaceutical Association, the Animal Health Institute, Lederle Laboratories, Franklin Serum Co., and the Animal and Plant Department.

ment of McKesson and Robbins. This is the first time that any state Pharmaceutical Association has offered a course in Animal Health, Bierer said. More than 1200 druggists in Virginia are members of their state Association.

PALLADIUM IN DENTISTRY

Palladium, one of the platinum group metals, effectively whitens the yellow color of gold so that alloys containing more than 15 per cent palladium are white in color. The inertness and the strength characteristics of such gold alloys, as well as their white color, make them very desirable for dental restorations, such as inlays, bridge-work and denture plates.

Jaycees Top League in Volley Ball Play at Beach Community Center

The Virginia Beach Civic Club Volley Ball League ended their 10 week schedule last week with the Jaycees team, the Junior Chamber of Commerce walking off with the regular season's play with a 9-1 won - lost record. Following the Jaycees was the V. F. W. with 7-3, the American Legion 5-7, and the Volunteer Fire Department with 1-9.

A seven game play-off series was run off at the Community Center gym, as were all other league games, last Wednesday night. The Junior Chamber took the play off 3-2 for the Civic Club Championship.

Through the facilities of the Community Center under the direction of William Pantone, the League, although small, was considered a success by the sponsors and furnished the incentive for other such leagues for the summer months. Optometrists List Eye-Saving Rules For Children

Most of the eyesight problems of children could be prevented by the application of well-tested precautionary measures, according to a statement issued today by the Virginia Optometric Association in connection with Save Your Vision Week, (March 7-13).

The precautionary measures recommended are:

1. A better seeing environment in school and at home.
 2. A postponement of reading and other tasks requiring close visual concentration until the child enters school.
 3. Early training in safety, so that the child avoids accidents from scissors and similar common household objects, and toys that cause most cases of childhood blindness.
 4. Immediate professional care when any visual problem or threat to vision arises.
- "Surveyors of thousands of school children indicates that about half of the visual problem cases come from the bad lighting and other inadequacies of the schoolroom environment itself," said Dr. H. D. Kahan, Chairman of School Vision of the Virginia Optometric Association. "When children attend properly lighted, designed and furnished schools, there is little increase in eyesight problems between the first and eighth grades. In antiquated classrooms, eyesight problem cases double or triple during the grade school years."
- Dr. Kahan said that visual maturity comes slowly, and that it is a mistake to push a child beyond the capacity of his "developmental stage." He advised against encouraging the precocious child to read at the age of 3 or 4, because at that age, the child is not sufficiently developed for near-point concentration.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

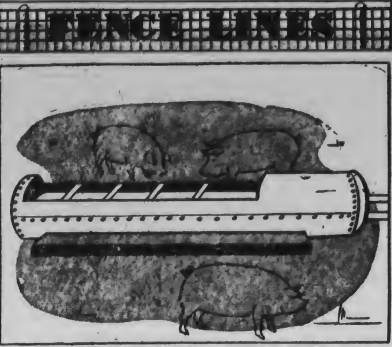

Ladino Clover Can Be Reestablished in Pasture

Ladino Clover - fading out in many Virginia pastures because of the drought last summer and also because of recent "heaving" - can be reestablished. The older stands appear to be affected more severely than one- and two-year-old seedlings.

Among the suggested practices which will reestablish ladino clover in grass are the following: Disc the existing sod lightly. Seed one to two pounds of ladino clover per acre. Roll the seeded area with a cultipacker or corrugated roller. Prevent the grass from crowding out the new seedlings by keeping it grazed to a height never to exceed four inches until the clover is established.

If the area is to be reseeded to clover has not been topdressed, then topdress, preferably before seeding, with a 0-14-14 or 0-10-20. Do not use nitrogen since it will encourage rapid grass growth, and excessive growth of grass may shade out the ladino seedlings.

However, if the area has already been topdressed with a nitrogen fertilizer, reseeded can still be done successfully by the above methods, but more attention must be given to keeping the grass growth under four inches by grazing.

If existing grass is sparse and ground is honey-combed, leaving much soil exposed, it is possible to get good stands of ladino without seedbed preparation by seeding directly on the old stand.

Top-Dress Small Grains Before March Deadline
The deadline for top-dressing small grains with nitrogen is fast approaching.

Tests have shown that nitrogen should be applied on small grains not later than March 15 for best results. Delay causes lower efficiency in use of the nitrogen.

Generally, two pounds of nitrogen will give a one-bushel increase in yield. It will pay to use nitrogen up to the point where nothing can be expected. Each case may be different and previous experience in any individual field will help farmers determine the amount of nitrogen that can be safely used. Heavier rates may be used on fields that will be grazed, or where the crop will be used for silage.

There is a wide range of costs between the various sources of nitrogen. As the amount of nitrogen contained in a material increases, the price per unit of nitrogen decreases. If available, it will always be advantageous to use a material with a high percentage of nitrogen.

Episcopalians Map Plans for 'Builders' Drive

Local Episcopalians of Galilee Episcopal Church are being asked this spring to support a BUILDERS FOR CHRIST campaign for major repairs, new buildings, and necessary equipment in vital areas of the Church at home and in the mission field. A goal of $4,150,000 has been set by the Church's administrative body, the National Council, to meet these urgent capital requirements. E. Morris Abernathy is the local Chairman.

Members of Galilee Church have named a goal of $102,78 for themselves in this drive. They will climax their campaign on May 2nd with a church-wide pledge.

Foremost among the capital requirements are the needs of the eleven Episcopal seminaries for additional student dormitories, library expansions, and faculty housing, to help meet the increased demands for seminary enrollment. A sum of $2,000,000 will go to these schools for improvement of existing facilities. To reinforce Christianity's bulwark against communism in Japan, $625,000 will be sent to that country for the reconstruction of war-torn churches and schools. Additional sums will be used for school and church building needs in the Philippines, in Puerto Rico and in areas of increasing population in the United States.

It is estimated that there are more than 765,000 retail outlets for peanut products and that 33 per cent of the population, or approximately 127,000,000 people in America eat peanuts and peanut products.

FREE WORLD NICKEL PRODUCTION EXPECTED TO INCREASE

The further increase of 2,000,000 pounds monthly now achieved in the nickel production capacity of International Nickel, world's largest producer of the metal, and other expansion programs underway by other producers indicate that free world nickel production should reach about 385,000,000 pounds in 1954. This would be an increase of approximately 45,000,000 pounds over the estimated production of 340,000,000 pounds in 1953.

Atlantic Amphib Force, Norfolk - Born, Observing 12th Anniversary This Week

Korean GI Bill Permits Training

The Veteran's Readjustment Assistance Act of 1952, otherwise known as the Korean GI Bill, permits eligible veterans with active service anywhere in the world since June 27, 1950, the start of Korean hostilities, to receive education or training at Government expense.

Eligibility requirements include: (1) active military or naval service at any time between June 27, 1950, and a date yet to be established either by Presidential Proclamation or by a concurrent resolution of Congress; (2) at least 90 days of total service, or a discharge for disability incurred on active duty if the service was for less than 90 days; (3) a discharge under other than dishonorable conditions. All three conditions must be met.

Eligible veterans may get a course of training not to exceed 36 months, at the rate of 1 1/2 days of training for each day of service after June 27, 1950, regardless of where the service was performed.

However, veterans with both World War II service and service since June 27, 1950, who have previously trained under earlier veterans' training laws (the World War II GI Bill, Public Law 16 or Public Law 894) compute their entitlement to Korean GI Bill training by subtracting their earlier training from 48 months. The difference, however, may not exceed 36 months.

Eligible veterans may choose their own course of training in any school or establishment approved by an appropriate State Approving Agency that meets other qualifications of the law. Veterans may (1) enroll in schools or colleges; (2) take apprenticeship or other training on-the-job; (3) enroll in institutional on-farm training or other programs which combine school and job training; or (4) select correspondence school courses. No more than one change of course program is allowed. Veterans receive an education and training allowance each month from the Government to meet part of the expenses of their training and living costs. Tuition, fees, books, supplies, and equipment are not paid by the Government; instead, they have to be paid by the veterans with the help of the monthly allowance they receive from the Government. The rate of payment for veterans is $100 per month.

A part of the Navy which was born at the Norfolk Naval Base and grew up on enemy beaches all over the world is giving area civilians a look-see into the way it performs its national defense task when the Amphibious Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet, celebrates its twelfth anniversary this week.

On March 14, 1942, the Amphibious Force, Atlantic Fleet, was brought into a world at war by Rear Admiral Roland M. Brainard, USN, and a staff of eight officers, with a battered transport as its one ship. Today the Amphibious Force's more than 100 ships and 28,000 men, under the command of Vice Admiral F. Q. Fehrling, USN, range the seas from the Arctic to the Mediterranean.

To celebrate the Amphibious Force's inception, displays showing details of amphibious warfare have been placed in five Norfolk stores, and high-ranking Force officers are speaking before the variety acts. Captain Gentry is Chief of Staff to Rear Admiral Rose.

The Cosmopolitan Club will hear Captain Arthur H. Taylor, USN, Commanding Officer of the U. S. Naval Amphibious Base, at a meeting at Bell's Salsola Restaurant Thursday, March 11.

Commander Chester L. Hulta, (CHC) USN, chaplain at the U. S. Naval Amphibious Base, will address the YMCA Men's Bible Class Friday, March 12, at Ames and Brownley.

Radio and television shows regularly presented by the radio section of the public information office, Amphibious Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet, are being dedicated to the anniversary.

A variety program and a speech are scheduled for the Kiwanis Club today at the Monticello Hotel. The program will feature Amphibious Force entertainers in their specialties. Solo acts by Ann McPadden, vocalist, Pat Powell, tap dancer, and Bob Buck, vocalist, will be presented along with music by a combo composed of Dave Williams, bass; Duke Thomas, piano; Rube Prow, guitar; Joe Sullivan, trumpet; Edward LaGuardia, tenor sax; and Joe King, drums. Carney, who regularly appears on "The Gator Show," an Amphibious Force television and radio presentation, will be master of ceremonies. A short speech by Captain Kenneth M. Gentry, USN, will follow the variety acts. Captain Gentry is Chief of Staff to Rear Admiral Rose.

MEETS SANITARY REQUIREMENTS

Nickel silver, an alloy of copper, nickel and zinc, is employed in components of pumps used by processors of milk and other dairy products because its bright, lustrous finish permits quick, thorough cleaning and easy maintenance. This alloy usually provides greater strength and corrosion-resistance than do ordinary brasses and bronzes.

NOTES FOR HOMEMAKERS

By MRS. ELIZABETH DEAL, County Home Agent

YOUNG CHICKENS

Broiler-fryer chickens are expected to continue in plenty on markets generally up to July at least. So far this year production of these birds has been considerably larger than last year and prices have been lower. This situation, as far as food shops are concerned, seems likely to continue until summer. Eggs still are going to hatcheries—more than last year, which means more chicks growing into young birds for market for some months ahead.

Broilers and fryers are good buys in more ways than price. Because of their tenderness and small size, they cook quickly, thus are timesavers. They weigh from 1 to 3 1/2 pounds if purchased "ready-to-cook" style, or 1 1/2 to 4 pounds "dressed"; that is, with feathers removed but not drawn. They may be fried, broiled, barbecued, or roasted. Many markets sell them in different forms to suit different ways of cooking. For roasting, buy the whole bird, preferably "ready-to-cook"; for broiling, buy it in halves; for frying or barbecuing, buy it cut in serving pieces.
Many markets offer a choice of selected pieces—legs, breasts or whatever you prefer. They also offer chicken chilled or frozen, packaged or unpackaged.

To enjoy late winter or spring meals, an over-barbecue is a colorful, flavorful and thrifty way to cook young chicken. Cooking takes about an hour. Use a slow oven to allow the barbecue sauce to flavor the chicken and also to prevent scorching. For 4 or 5 servings, buy a 3 to 3 1/2 pound cut-up chicken. Pour barbecue sauce over the chicken in a baking pan, cover pan and bake 45 minutes at 325 degrees F. When meat is tender, uncover the pan and place under the broiler to brown. Allow about 15 minutes and watch carefully to avoid scorching. Ingredients for the barbecue sauce are:
2 tablespoons brown sugar; 1 tablespoon paprika; 1 teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon dry mustard; 1-4 teaspoon chili powder; few grains cayenne pepper; 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce; 1 cup tomato juice; 1-4 cup chili sauce or catsup; 1-4 cup vinegar; 1-2 cup chopped onion. Mix and cook over low heat 15 minutes before pouring over the chicken.

SUPPLIES OF FOOD Supplies of food for the first half of 1954 are generally high, but there are some significant changes compared with 1953 supplies in certain items.
It is expected that there will be somewhat less meat, fish products, lard, and fresh vegetables;
but increases are likely for chicken, eggs, manufactured dairy products, and shortening. Also, more fresh and processed fruit, canned vegetables, potatoes, and sweet potatoes are on hand now than there were a year ago.
Hog slaughter this spring will be down considerably from last year, and fewer cattle and sheep were being grain-fed on January

1. Meat production is expected to rise in the last half of the year, however, coming close to the heavy output of last year, and including more pork.

Food consumption per person in 1954 is expected to be about the same as in 1953. With demand continuing strong, retail food prices probably will average close to the 1953 level.
Milk is for everybody - and for a different milk drink try a "lemon cooler," say VPI nutritionists.
Mix 1 cup ice water, 1-4 cup lemon juice, 1-4 cup sugar, pinch of salt and 1 large serving of vanilla ice cream into a mixing bowl. Beat just long enough to blend.

SAFETY IN THE KITCHEN
More accidents occur in the kitchen than any other room in the home, warns the Virginia Rural Safety Council.
More household appliances are kept in the kitchen than in any other room, and improper use and care of these appliances contribute to the home accident problem.
When not in use, electric appliances should be disconnected and stored where they will not

STRAIGHT from the SHOULDER... ... Fashion — that is

By ALICE BREWER WHITE
FASHION and WOMAN'S EDITOR

Tune in to Radio Station WAVY — 1350 on your dial — for latest fashion news, interesting items about people, places, stuff and things, by Alice Brewer White, each day, Monday through Saturday, 9:00 to 9:30 A.M. — NBC in Tidewater.

TWISTS

- 2 packages yeast, compressed or dry
- 1-4 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
- 2 cup milk
- 1-2 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1-4 cup shortening
- 5 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
- 2 eggs
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind (if desired)
- Confectioners' sugar icing (if desired)

Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Add flour to make a thick batter. Mix well. Add softened yeast, eggs and lemon rind. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and knead until smooth and satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise in warm place until doubled (about 1 1/2 hours). When light, punch down. Cover and let rest 10 minutes. Divide dough into pieces and roll under hand to 1-2 inch thick and 8 inches long. Fold length of dough and roll back on itself. Twist ends around each other. Pinch ends together and seal. Place on lightly greased baking sheet and let rise until doubled (about 1-2 hours). Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes. When cool, frost with confectioners' sugar icing, if desired. Makes about 3 dozen twists.

Hot breads add a touch of glamor to spring meals. Most of the time, you probably depend on the baker for freshly baked goods each day. He provides you with a tempting variety of breads. Occasionally make hot yeast bread yourself. It is fun and rewarding. Especially is this true when you try your hand at shaping new and different rolls.

These glamorous Twists have been formed from a basic sweet yeast dough. This is only one of the many rolls and coffee cakes that can be shaped from this yeast dough. You'll think it worth while to take a few extra minutes to bake fresh hot breads when the family sings your praises.

BEATON SPEAKS — "Only the individual taste, in the end, can truly create style or fashion, since it is not concerned with following in the wake of others. Whatever an individual taste may choose, be it a stepladder or a wicker basket, will always be based on a deep personal choice, a spiritual need that truly assesses and gives value to that particular ladder or basket. The beauty of these things is somehow transmitted through the personality of the one who chooses," quoted from Cecil Beaton's newest book, "The Glass of Fashion," and giving every Spring shopper a nugget of wisdom to mull over. Try shopping by yourself, without neighbor, kith or kin, and use your own judgement and not entirely all of the salesgirls' and you'll find a happier selection of the Spring fashions that are right for you and give the "You Look." It's individuality and personality that count so much these days and sometimes "being individual" scares people to death. Do and dare and wear things that suit you!

POOT FASHION STATISTICS The old adage that women dreaded to wear new shoes is clearly obsolete, judging by some shoe facts revealed by Herman Delman, noted shoe designer. (He's the American designer who tied in with Christian Dior last year to design shoes especially complementary to the Dior fabulous fashions.) Herman says that American women buy two hundred and twenty million pairs of new shoes each year — more than three pairs per member of the feminine population of the USA! The will to have pretty, smart and alluring feet has become the major importance to the average woman which accounts for the stepped-up fashion cycle in footwear. Our mothers averaged two pairs of daytime shoes and one pair of evening slippers as a wardrobe. Today, the normal shoe wardrobe contains eight pairs of shoes, ranging from colorful playthings to wispy needle-heeled evening sandals. One out of every two women in the country owns a pair of plain classic pumps, but virtually every woman owns at least one pair of gay casuals. Now don't quote ABW, just quote Herman Delman (these statistics).

more conducive to the relaxed look on the ladies' faces shaded under the brims. Jackets are shorter and more lenient. Skirts are far more liveable-in looking, even the straight ones with their flare pleats on the back, hemline. Suit fits are entirely unforced, in most instances. Gathered necklines for ease in the new Spring dresses. The new rounded-collared evening — time necklines are new as are chalk-white complete ensembles.

CHIT-CHAT: Many long strands of glass, pearl or opaque beads will be worn correctly if they are kept to the simple type and not too heavy or ornate!... New printed handbags are smart for summer wear!... Stoles made of long strips of taffeta may be worn as stoles or tied up under the chin in huge taffeta neckties. (Jacques Fath has shown many of these this Springtime.) This is a neat idea for refurbishing a still-good-but-old suit or coat for the Easter parade!... The large and small shiny straw sailors and the sailors with low crowns and very high-high crowns are all good for Spring. In other words, you just couldn't be caught dead without your sailor (that, that is) this Springtime!

MERRY MATRONS

By Alice

Mrs. A. E. Ewell, newly honored "Woman of Accomplishment" by the Business and Professional Woman's Club of Virginia Beach, is your Alice's definition of the meaning of a real Southern Lady! Mrs. Ewell, a quiet, gentle, sweet woman, has the most gracious manners and coupled with intelligence, background and kind understanding of humans has ever since a small girl been contributing to the community in which she resided and to the people who crossed her unselfish path. All of Princess Anne County is extra proud of Mrs. Ewell that she has been chosen with a unanimous decision by the five local judges, as the first woman to be acclaimed by the local B & P W Club in a public affairs event which they will continue every two years. Mrs. Ewell's gentle, young-in-spirit attitude has helped her immeasurably in her great contributions to this area in organizing the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County, in her T. B. works, her accomplishments with the n e g r o children's elementary schooling, her fine work with her Old Donation church endeavors, her cultural interests in her club work and many, many interests which she has hidden under a basket, so to speak, and have only just been brought to light. Certainly, merry matrons everywhere can profit by her example of doing for others, helping others and thinking about other than herself which has developed kindly Mrs. Ewell into a Great Lady of the South. To be the receiver of one of her kindly smiles and greetings is comparable to a treasure perker-upper in one's life. It was a thrilling experience to be one of the judges in assisting the local club in its first effort to salute local women who mean so much to us all.

To see Mrs. Taylor Johnson, surrounded by her charming children, is to know what a happy mother she is. Mrs. Johnson sets a style-pace for the little girls in her family who always have that "certain something" air in the way they wear their frocks, coats and bonnets. The twins with their smart fly-away tufted streamers and navy sailors are sweet as buttons!

Mrs. Grayson Willis is always toggled out just right for the life she lives, typically American fashion. Whether she is shopping in the grocery store, riding on the bus, motoring, gardening or just plain "sitting" she's always a joy to behold for she puts you at ease immediately because she's so right in her appearance.

home during the Virginia Beach homes and gardens tour on Tuesday, April 27, during Historic Garden Week in the Old Dominion. You may only see these Beach homes and gardens on the one day, so better jot it down on your "to-do" pad! Mrs. Gifford enjoys good living with a fine collection of period furniture, old china and silver and yet, with it all, has a strictly modern penthouse perspective from atop the 16th floor of the Mayflower with the Atlantic Ocean and the Beach sands as her daily changing landscape. (Incidentally, there are four elevators at the Mayflower, two from Harrell's drugstore basement floor and two from the main lobby first floor. This information just in case you've thrown away your space cadet wings!) Mrs. Charles Slinghuff will be another April 27th hostess to show her Georgian-type brick house which with its lovely antiques and exterior iron grillwork has a charming grace most unusual to behold. The Slinghuff home is set right in a lovely natural woodland garden and the place is almost completely surrounded by water so it means to reach it, you have to cross the causeway. It's called "The Island" on Linkhorn Bay and is right next door to Mary's Garden which is also open to visitors on the same date and is the summer residence of Mrs. W. N. Wendland of New Canaan, Connecticut. This is a large formal garden, with magnolias, azaleas and tree-size camellias and all enclosed with Old Virginia's serpentine walls. The Virginia Beach Garden Club is sponsoring the April 27th tour and this is the first time the Beach places and homes have participated in the Garden Club of Virginia's annual Historic Garden Week tour.

Your Alibee hopes sincerely that all of the Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach ladies who received invitations to her annual anniversary Easter Bonnet Tea Party at the Norfolk YWCA on Thursday, March 25th, receiving the invitations so far ahead of the date, will plan to attend between four and six that day. Her fashions with Spring for accessories will be presented in a capsule showing every half hour by Florence Wilson and Battlemans and there will be lovely table settings and flower arrangements displayed, with hat as their theme and many hat designer door gifts besides a spot of tea for everyone! It's your Alibee's eighth anniversary in Tidewater radio and WAVY is going all out to celebrate the event.

grants without dependents who are in full-time training in schools and colleges is $110 a month; for those with one dependent, $125, and for those with more than one dependent, $160. Veterans in training less than full time will receive proportionately lower monthly rates. For on-the-job trainees without dependents, the top monthly payment is $70; for those with one dependent, $85, and for those with more than one dependent, $105.

For veterans in institutional on-farm training, which combines classroom instruction with practical on-farm work, the top monthly payment for those with dependents is $95; for those with one dependent, $110, and for those with more than one dependent, $130. The law requires that on-job and on-farm rates of payment be reduced, at 4-month intervals, as the training progresses. The law also requires that veterans taking institutional on-farm training must devote full time to their program.

METAL NAMED FOR A COUNTRY

Ruthenium, a precious metal of the platinum group, takes its name from the Latin word Ruthenia, meaning Russia, the country where it was first isolated as a separate element in 1845.

NUCKEL IN APPLIANCES

Kitchen appliances, such as toasters, irons and electric toasters, have much of their attractive, easy-to-clean appearance to nickel-chromium plating and their long life to nickel-chromium heating elements.

They would have burned her at the stake!

The things our Puritan fathers couldn't understand were often deemed to be witchcraft, and the transformation of coal into electricity and gas for cooking would have been considered black magic in their day—sufficient reason to broil a lady at the stake!

Actually, in an entirely different sense, Bituminous Coal is "black magic", indispensable in the highest, most enjoyable standard of living the world has ever witnessed. Think about it and you'll see why—

Thanks to the Bituminous Coal Industry you live handier, healthier and happier!

From Bituminous Coal, as product ingredient, source of heat and source of power, come necessities and luxuries almost beyond count—asphalt and asphaltum . . . concrete and cosmetics . . . paint and plastics . . . steel and sulfur drugs . . . aluminum and anesthetics . . . nylon and other miracle fabrics . . . fertilizers, dyes, flavorings, explosives, vitamins, synthetic rubber, acetylene, insecticides and more than 200,000 other products indispensable in our wonder world of better living. And this is only the beginning.

Tomorrow you will enjoy more and more miraculous new products and services made possible by Bituminous Coal. Our economy will require even more of this vital, versatile mineral than the huge tonnages used today. By 1975, demand is expected to increase from 50 to 100 per cent—more and more Bituminous Coal for steel, for electric power and for chemicals . . . for better living.

The United States' phenomenal growth as an industrial nation is largely due to plentiful power, of which Bituminous Coal is the chief source. This is a very important fact to keep in mind—other fuels are relatively scarce and no nation has yet grown so great without coal.

Fortunately, there are known reserves of Bituminous Coal to last for centuries—on deposit, payable on demand. Constant research and large capital investments by the nation's progressive coal companies have put marvelous machines to work so that today's mines can produce more than 5,000 tons a minute. Through the years the coal-hauling railroads have kept pace with this progress and have continued to provide fast, dependable mass transportation, while industry is turning more and more to the use of Bituminous Coal and developing better equipment to utilize it most efficiently.

With its endless contributions to our economy, our security and our personal better living, the coal industry has proven that it is in capable hands . . . well deserving of public appreciation and cooperation as it continues its vitally important job of producing nature's "black magic".

The contributions of the Bituminous Coal industry are typical of the many ways in which the people benefit when business enterprise is allowed to operate freely as it is in the U. S. A.

NAS Jet Quint Has Winning Way

The NAS Oceana Jet Basketball team after finishing second in a "B" league have been playing practice games with "A" league clubs and constantly coming out on the winning side of the ledger. In the past two weeks the Jets have played four Navy Major League clubs, winning three and losing one.

The one loss was to NAS, Norfolk, who was the number one team on the Major League.

Much of the credit belongs to Coach Archie DeMarco of CBED-1. During most of the basketball season Coach DeMarco was away with the mobile Paafon. After the unit's return he took over as coach and the Jet's improvement since has been immeasurable.

Before reporting to the Seabee unit he was stationed at the Little Creek Amphib base and coached their basketball team to three Atlantic Fleet Championships.

One of the Jet's last three victories was over the Amphib team which contained many of the players DeMarco had coached to Championships. A morale building victory for both the coach and the players.

In addition to the Amphib victory the Jets registered victories over the DesLant and CincLant teams.

The less to NAS, Norfolk, set two new records for the local contest. It was the highest scoring contest of the season, 117 to 87, and 59 fouls were committed by the two teams. Four of the Jet's starting five fouled out during the game.

They rebounded from the stinging Norfolk defeat and in turn stung the DesLant Destroyers by a score of 85 to 73. Charles Basil, VF-84, hit the baskets with 8 field goals and 8 free throws for scoring honors.

Next came a 94-79 victory over CincLant. Al Kemp, VF-85, with 33 points and Robert Cole with 17 points were the high scorers. The Jets left this week for the Bainbridge Naval Training Center where they will participate in the Fifth Naval District Basketball Tournament.

JOHN THE RED CROSS

"HARLAN WOOD, 4-H CLUB MEMBER OF THE WEEK"

Harlan Wood, a member of the Oceana Senior 4-H Club, has become recently one of the most outstanding 4-H boys in Princess Anne County. Harlan is taking a great deal of time in planning 4-H activities for his club. He is as much interested in extra club activities as he is in project work. Harlan has been an active member for several years and this year he is Vice-President of his club and thus making him a member of the 4-H County Council.

Harlan has been doing very nice work in the project field. During the past years he has been carrying Rabbits, Garden, and Poultry; in 1954 he selected Baby Beef, Rabbits and Poultry Project; in 1953 Harlan Wood was a member of the Princess Anne 4-H Poultry Judging Team and a result of his experience in judging he was selected as one of the persons to judge at the Princess Anne Fair held at Virginia Beach last summer.

Harlan's work has pointed out the necessity of having a well rounded program; not only is it necessary to have many projects, it is also necessary to support your club in doing the number of activities that the 4-H clubs engage in. I believe that if Harlan's enthusiasm increases as much as it has increased this year, I am sure that he will go far and will be recognized as one of the most outstanding 4-H club boys to come from Princess Anne County.

"BEST 4-H CLUB MEETING OF THE MONTH"

In selecting the one 4-H club from the 8 in the County, it was definitely a hard job to determine which of three would be the winner. I believe that our clubs must be trying very hard to get the recognition of having the best 4-H club meeting during the month. After appearing at each of the club meetings, I believe that again it goes to a club who has received this honor more than once during the 1953-54 club year. The club to take home this month won this award, I believe, by planning well in advance of the club meeting what they were going to do. Having their business agenda in order, the Program lined up so that it would run off smoothly, accomplished a great deal in making possible a good 4-H club meeting. Realizing that at this time of the year it is necessary to have much business to be taken care of, a large part of the meeting time was designated in planning for a swimming party, making plans as to what their club is going to do to celebrate National 4-H Club Week, planning the place to hold their Rural Life Sunday Program and also planning Easter Services. This club had one of the most interested devotional services that I have ever listened to. To climax a very interesting Program one of the club members rendered a trumpet solo of "Tenderly."

Again let me say that so far as having the best club meeting, I doubt if this club was too much better than the other two high placing clubs, but because of their far advanced planning, I feel that they may be doing just a little better job in planning good 4-H activities.

About 15 million tons of coal per year are consumed in the vicinity of the mines where it is produced.

LIVESTOCK TRAINING HELD
On Thursday, March 11th, there will be a Livestock Judging Workshop for County Agents and 4-H Club members. This meeting will take place in Nanamoo County and all those interested in going to this Training Meeting please call at this office at your earliest convenience.

The 4-Hers of Princess Anne County will have a Livestock Judging Team for the first time this year. Therefore, we need to get as much information on the judging of hogs, sheep, and beef cattle as we can possible get.

"MARKET HOG SHOW"

Starting at 10 A. M. Saturday, March 13th, the Junior Market Hog Show and Sale will get underway. Forty-five pens of three pigs each from Isle of Wight, Southampton, Norfolk, Surry, and Princess Anne Counties will be exhibited and sold at auction.

The Show will begin at 10 and a market hog type demonstration at 1 and the Auction Sale will begin at 2 that afternoon. The six Club members from Princess Anne that will have hogs entered in this Show are Beverly Squibbs of Princess Anne, with a pen of Duroc-Poland China cross; Larry Johnson from Lynnhaven, with a pen of pure bred Poland Chinas; Parker Reader of Lynnhaven, with a pen of pure bred Tamworths; Jimmy Bright of Back Bay, with a pen of Durocs; Gene Bright of Back Bay, with a pen of Hampshires; and Bonney Bright of Back Bay, with a pen of Hampshires.

"4-H CLUB CAMP JUNE 28 - JULY 3"

During the month of June, the Board of Directors of Camp Farrar met for the purpose of making out a schedule for the Council of Southeastern District that will be represented at Camp Farrar at Virginia Beach this summer. The week of June 28th to July 3rd has been designated as a Camp Week for Princess Anne, Norfolk, and Brunswick Counties. The cost of this Camp will be again this year, $14.50.

Many of you club members have won scholarships to Camp; these scholarships can be used towards the cost of housing and lodging at Camp. We will be taking orders from the very near future for these members who wish to attend.

"4-H SHORT COURSE JUNE 21st"

The Annual 4-H Club Short Course will again meet this year at VPI during the week of June 21st to 26th. A very fine Program is being processed at the present time and I am sure that the Program lined up will be one that 4-Hers will not want to miss.

Many of you also have scholarships that you can use for the Short Course. Don't let time waste away.

"4-H HAPPENINGS IN MARCH"

Put these dates down on your 4-H calendar as dates you cannot afford to miss. March 11 - Livestock School, March 12 - Market Pig Show and Sale, March 13 - Poultry Judging Workshop, March 17 - Farm and Home Extension Meeting, and March 26 - Agronomy Project School. Also don't forget that March 26 to the 14th is your National 4-H Club Week.

Easter Seal Crippled Children Campaign Opens Next Thursday

Over 31-million American homes will be reached by Easter Seals when the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults and the 50 state and territorial affiliates launch the 1954 campaign in support of crippled children March 14.

Plans rapidly approaching completion indicate that the 21st annual appeal will set another record in campaign history.

Along with sponsorship by a representative group of the nation's most distinguished citizens headed again by Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the 1954 appeal promises increased cooperation by the nation's press, magazines, radio and television.

An invaluable aid to the campaign this year will be the inclusion of the Easter Seal appeal in the Radio - TV Bulletin of the Advertising Council.

The outdoor advertising industry will support the campaign for the second consecutive year, sending an appeal message to industry members who operate poster boards in 15,000 cities and towns.

The Junior Outdoor Advertising association has offered to post almost 600 posters across the nation.

Douglas Company, Inc., Norfolk, according to an announcement by Dean of Agriculture I. R. Dietrick. The scholarships, two to Future Farmers of America chapter members and two to 4-H Club mem-

To keep the scholarship, a student must remain in the upper half of his class and "show evidence of personal development," Dean Dietrick said.

The FFA members now at VPI under the Smith-Douglas scholarship are Lennie Howard Gamage, Cartersville, and Roy Easton Living, Carysbrook. The 4-H members who received the scholarships are Worth McLane Hudson, Virginia and Thomas C. Newbill Wirtz, all four made excellent records during the past quarter, with Newbill and Gamage both two Dean's list, & the other two narrowly missing it by only .03 of a quality credit. To make the Dean's list a student must make an average of 2.4 quality credits - about a B plus average.

Farmers' Stake in Public Opinion Topic for Conference Discussion

The farmer's vital stake in public opinion will be discussed by a panel including Parke C. Brinkley, Virginia Commissioner of Agriculture, at the all-Virginia Public Relations Conference March 25 - 26 at the Hotel Jefferson, Richmond.

Designed to help farmers and farm groups with their public relations, the discussion will dig into the modern consumer's opinion of farmers and what farmers can do about it.

The conference is sponsored jointly by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce and the Richmond Public Relations Association.

Like the rest of the conference, the agricultural panel at 10 A. M. on the opening day is open to the public.

Also on the agricultural panel will be Dr. Paul D. Sanders, Editor of the Southern Planter; J. Kenneth Robinson, President of the Virginia State Horticultural Society; Augustus Robbins, Jr., publisher of the Hopewell News, and Frank Raymond, farm director of Radio Station WCYB, Bristol, as moderators.

The panel will divide the question into two parts, local public relations by individual farmers and community farm groups and the problem of national public opinion versus national farm policies.

On the local side, the members will be aiming at ways and means that farmers can use to get their side of the story before the public.

The national problem will revolve around the public's reaction to mounting farm surpluses and increased government expenditures for price supports.

Another subject will be the reactions of city dwellers to farm-sponsored community increase ment projects, and promotion campaigns for farm products.

The agricultural panel will follow one on the general public's opinion of the medical profession, which follows the opening breakfast at 8:30 A. M.

DR. KAHN ATTENDS NORFOLK SEMINAR

Dr. Howard D. Kahn, of Virginia Beach, returned today from Norfolk where he attended a post graduate seminar of the Optometric Extension Program of which he is a member.

Lecturer for the meeting, held at the Monticello Hotel was Dr. Edmund F. Richardson, nationally famous optometrist of Hollywood, California, and director of Study Groups for the Optometric Extension Program of Duncan, Oklahoma. His subject dealt with new techniques in optometry and the relationship of the brain and the nervous system in efficient seeing.

Beach Mapping Extensive '54 Advertising Campaign

Funds Assured by Mayor; Largest Program Ever Undertaken Says Banks

With assurance from the City of Virginia Beach of a budget of $33,000, the Chamber of Commerce Advertising Committee is rapidly mapping out the most extensive advertising program ever undertaken by the resort, according to Sidney Banks, chairman of the ad committee.

A letter from Mayor P. F. Murray addressed to Banks assured the committee of funds immediately to launch the program. The letter stated that an additional $3000 would be allocated for advertising this year by the city bringing the total to $33,000.

Banks' report met with ready approval and the Committee resumed its work and met in a five hour session Saturday afternoon. The Advertising Committee received the appointment of Leslie A. Wray, who had been nominated by the Board meeting Friday, Mr. Wray, retired former advertising manager of "This Week" magazine was welcomed to the Committee replacing Calborne R. Bryant as a regular member of the Committee. All other committee members were re-appointed as hold-over from last year.

Chamber Manager Leo Hooty released the newly adopted advertising budget which calls for $14,500.00 in Northern and Mid-west newspaper resort advertising; approximately $4,000.00 for literature printing and $5,000.00 for highway billboard displays. The $14,500.00 allotted for newspaper advertising represents an increase of $5,000.00 over 1953, while the billboard program upped by $3,000.00 is part of a three-year long range advertising contract which the committee has negotiated for year-round key locations on main North-South highways.

Supporting the Sand Festival, whose committee will meet in the near future, was a $15,000.00 appropriation to carry out the third successful festival promotion at the resort.

The text of the letter from Mayor P. F. Murray to the Advertising Committee Chairman, Mr. Banks, is as follows:

In connection with the advertising for the coming season, I am fully aware that it should go forward with great speed and force at this time and not wait for the fiscal year of our City for the allocation of funds. With this (Continued on Page Four)

Council Hears Proposal for Guard Armory

A proposal to investigate the possibility of obtaining a site for the construction of a National Guard armory might double as a convention hall is being explored by a committee of the Virginia Beach City Council.

The proposal was presented to the council Monday night by Capt. James L. Kitchin, Virginia National Guard officer, along with Sidney Banks, chairman of the convention hall committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed building, for which plans and specifications have already been drawn, would be 145 by 95 feet. It would be of masonry construction and is expected to cost $150,000.

Council amended several of its existing ordinances, cutting the charge for turning water service off and on, and tightening the building code. A setback line of 25 feet was approved for 31st Street, which is soon to become the main entrance of the city and on which considerable building is now in progress.

At the suggestion of Councilman H. L. Gregory, the charge for turning water service off and on was reduced from $5 to $2. The new rate, Gregory said, is more in line with that charged by other Tidewater cities.

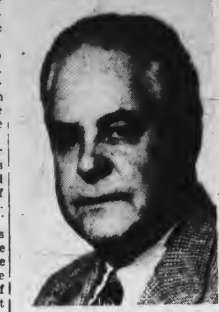

Two amendments to the city's building code, passed at the suggestion of W. O. Holland, the city building inspector, provides that in instances where 25 per cent or more of a frame building is the fire zone is replaced, it must be done so by fireproof material. An amendment permitting the use of metal vent pipes under certain conditions was also approved.

Council approved an appropriation of $350 for the Board of Equalization, which is now working on real estate assessments.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

Applications for Certification Due Now

Applications for inspections on small grain crops for certification must be submitted on or before April 1. Field inspections cannot be guaranteed on late applications. Applications received after the deadline will not be listed in the 1954 issue of the Virginia Certified Seed Directory.

Applications for inspection of the following crops should be sent in by the time shown below:

Tobacco, Feb. 1; Small Grains, April 1; Grasses, May 1; Red Clover, May 1; Hybrid Corn, June 1; Cotton, June 1; Peanuts, June 15; Soybeans, June 15; Lespedeza, June 15; Open-pollinated Corn, June 15; and Milo, June 15.

Sweet Potatoes 4 weeks before seed is bedded.

Irish Potatoes 4 weeks before crop is planted.

Farmers Lag On Proper Fertilization of Hay

Is hay the forgotten crop in Virginia?

It would seem that way, while farmers have made progress in applying the recommended amounts of fertilizer to corn and small grain, very few farmers either use enough fertilizer in rotation for hay, or fertilize the hay itself properly.

For instance, in 1953 Virginia farmers were using an average of 50 pounds of fertilizer per acre for an average yield of 1.02 tons of hay. Today, the story is not much different. An average application of 70 pounds of fertilizer per acre, brings a yield of 1.25 tons for the state average.

In the realm of possibility, is an average hay yield of 2.25 tons per acre - a ton above today's yield - if farmers would use the recommended 450 pounds of fertilizer.

In terms of dollars and cents if on the approximate 1,400,000 acres of hay, other than alfalfa, in Virginia, farmers used the suggested amount of fertilizer, they would harvest additional hay worth some $2,300,000 - after subtracting the amount of additional money spent for fertilizer.

This would not only mean more hay but better hay to feed the livestock. Of course, the amount of hay to be grown on each individual farm should be governed by the number of livestock and the feed needs.

Fertilizer can be applied either on the hay itself, or on other crops in the rotation. For example, in a corn-small grain-lespedeza rotation, if the corn and small grain crop preceding the red clover received as much as 1,200 to 1,400 pounds per acre of a mixed fertilizer, additional fertilizer will not be needed on the lespedeza. However, if the total amount used on both crops was less than 1,200 pounds per acre, the lespedeza should be fertilized, to bring the total amount of complete fertilizer such as O-14-14 used up to at least 1,200 to 1,500 pounds.

Fungicide-Insecticide Seed Treatment Helpful on Many Garden Crops

Fungicide - insecticide mixtures when used to treat seed, will be beneficial to many garden crops. Plant pathologists at VPI suggest that gardeners, particularly commercial gardeners, buy one of these ready-prepared mixtures and use according to the recommendations on the container. In general this will require adding the amount of mixture (rate varies with the crop) to water (1-2 pint per bushel of seed) and mixing the solution well with the seed. The seed is then spread out and allowed to dry before planting.

For small quantities of seed such as are used by home gardeners, this surly method of seed treatment will be quite difficult and perhaps impractical. There is no information available on the use of these mixtures as dust treatments. At the present time, it appears that the most practical method of using the fungicide-insecticide treatment for small packaged seed is to have it done by seedsmen.

At the Virginia Truck Experiment Station tests indicate the treatment protects the young plants from insects, such as seed corn maggot, wireworms, etc., as well as soil-borne diseases that cause damping off.

Many mixtures of fungicides and insecticides have been used. Several of them have proved beneficial and in some cases increased the stand and yield of crops such as sweet corn, lima beans, and snap beans, many times over. If you've had trouble getting stands, it may be that these new chemical mixtures will be the answer to your problem.

Don't Depend On Treatment Alone For Livestock Diseases - Use Good Management

Keeping livestock healthy is now on the market, which matter of prevention first, as well as treatment.

Too many farmers place too much emphasis on treatment, meanwhile forgetting some of the basic rules of control.

There are three important things to remember in the healthy program of livestock. First, begin with good, vigorous breeding stock by a process of selection, it is possible to get stock healthier than average. Then good management - and all that it implies - such as good sanitation, proper nutrition, good handling. In this phase farmers depend on livestock specialists to get information to the farmer.

Third, disease prevention. The prevention of disease hinges on a correct diagnosis. The diagnosis cannot be made over the telephone, nor without seeing the animal. It must be made by a trained, qualified person, and one who has had considerable experience. Early diagnosis many times prevents future losses, so it is excellent practice to call the veterinarian as soon as anything wrong is noticed.

Experience has shown that when a livestock producer and his veterinarian work as a team, they can work out a program of management to prevent disease, and that when in spite of this disease does strike, they can more effectively halt any infection and prevent heavy losses.

In some diseases, the treatment is available but does more harm than it is had been available, simply because the farmer will depend on the treatment rather than follow good preventive measures. When he does this, he incurs more losses than necessary. Another reason for failure to make an accurate diagnosis, and treating for one disease when the animal actually is a victim of another. There is so much to be learned from a typical set of symptoms in any one disease.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

By JOHN O. HART, County Farm Agent

Applications for Certification Due Now

Applications for inspection on small grain crops for certification must be submitted on or before April 1. Field inspections cannot be guaranteed on late applications. Applications received after the deadline will not be listed in the 1954 issue of the Virginia Certified Seed Directory.

Applications for inspection of the following crops should be sent in by the time shown below:

Tobacco, Feb. 1; Small Grains, April 1; Grasses, May 1; Red Clover, May 1; Hybrid Corn, June 1; Cotton, June 1; Peanuts, June 1; Soybeans, June 15; Lespedeza, June 15; Open-pollinated Corn, June 15; and Milo, June 15.

Sweet Potatoes 4 weeks before seed is bedded.

Farmers Lag On Proper Fertilization of Hay

Is hay the forgotten crop in Virginia?

It would seem that way, while farmers have made progress in applying the recommended amounts of fertilizer to corn and small grain, very few farmers either use enough fertilizer in rotation for hay, or fertilize the hay itself properly.

For instance, in 1938 Virginia farmers were using an average of 50 pounds of fertilizer per acre for an average yield of 1.02 tons of hay. Today, the story is not much different. An average application of 70 pounds of fertilizer per acre, brings a yield of 1.25 tons for the state average.

In the realm of possibility, is an average hay yield of 2.25 tons per acre—a ton above today's yield—if farmers would use the recommended 450 pounds of fertilizer.

In terms of dollars and cents if on the approximate 1,400,000 acres of hay, other than alfalfa, in Virginia, farmers used the suggested amount of fertilizer, they would harvest additional hay worth some $32,300,000—after subtracting the amount of additional money spent for fertilizer.

This would not only mean more hay but better hay to feed the livestock. Of course, the amount of hay to be grown on each individual farm should be governed by the number of livestock and the feed needs.

Fertilizer can be applied either on the hay itself, or on other crops in the rotation. For example, in a corn-small grain lespedeza rotation, if the corn and small grain crop preceding the red clover received as much as 1,200 to 1,400 pounds per acre of a mixed fertilizer, additional fertilizer will not be needed on the lespedeza. However, if the total amount used on both crops was less than 1,200 pounds per acre, the lespedeza should be fertilized, to bring the total amount of complete fertilizer such as 0-14-14 used up to at least 1,200 to 1,500 pounds.

Fungicide-Insecticide Seed Treatment Helpful on Many Garden Crops

Fungicide-insecticide mixtures when used to treat seed, will be beneficial to many garden crops. Plant pathologists at VPI suggest that gardeners, particularly commercial gardeners, buy one of these ready-prepared mixtures and use according to the recommendations on the container. In general this will require adding the amount of mixture (rate varies with the crop) to water (1-2 pint per bushel of seed) and mixing the solution well with the seed. The seed is then spread out and allowed to dry before planting.

For small quantities of seed such as are used by home gardeners, the surly method of seed treatment will be quite difficult & perhaps impractical. There is no information available on the use of these mixtures as dust treatments.

At the present time, it appears that the most practical method of using the fungicide-insecticide treatment for small packaged seed is to have it done by seedsmen.

At the Virginia Truck Experiment Station tests indicate the treatment protects the young plants from insects, such as seed corn maggot, wireworms, etc., as well as soil-borne diseases that cause damping off.

Many mixtures of fungicides and insecticides have been used. Several of them have proved beneficial and in some cases increased the stand and yield of crops such as sweet corn, lima beans, and snap beans, many times over. If you've had trouble getting stands, it may be that these new chemical mixtures will be the answer to your problem.

Don't Depend On Treatment Alone For Livestock Diseases—But Stead Prevent Them.

Keeping livestock healthy is now on the market, which matter of prevention first, as well as treatment.

Too many farmers place too much emphasis on treatment, meanwhile forgetting some of the basic rules of control.

There are three important things to remember in the healthy program of livestock. First, begin with good, vigorous breeding stock. By a process of selection, it is possible to get stock healthier than average. Then good management—and all that it implies—such as good sanitation, proper nutrition, good handling. In this phase farmers depend on livestock specialists to get information to the farmer.

Third, disease prevention. The prevention of disease hinges on a correct diagnosis. The diagnosis cannot be made over the telephone, nor without seeing the animal. It must be made by a trained qualified person, and one who has had considerable experience. Early diagnosis many times prevents future losses, so it is excellent practice to call the veterinarian as soon as anything wrong is noticed.

Experience has shown that when a livestock producer and his veterinarian work as a team, they can work out a program of management to prevent disease, and that when in spite of this disease does strike, they can more effectively halt any infection and prevent heavy losses.

In some diseases, the treatment is available but does more harm than if it had not been available, simply because the farmer will depend on the treatment rather than follow good preventive measures. When he does this, he incurs more losses than necessary. Another result of depending solely on treatment is failure to make an accurate diagnosis, and treating for one disease when the animal actually is a victim of another. There is no such thing as a typical set of symptoms in any one disease.

FT. STORY TELLINGS

Announcement by the Norfolk District Engineer that Fort Story will be the site of the first Nike (guided missile) installation in the Tidewater area was of interest to men of the Transportation Amphibious Training Center here. Said the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot in an editorial the next day: "Old Army forts never die. They not only fail to fade, but sometimes capture the brightest star in a whole constellation of defense."

East Met West when Mrs. Everett W. Rackley, whose husband is an officer assigned to the 612th Transportation Company, addressed the Fort Story Officers Wives Club on Japanese flower arrangement. Mrs. Rackley, a Japanese lived in Kyoto before her marriage. At the same luncheon meeting, held in the Colonial Room of the Officers Mess, recently elected officers presided. They were: Mrs. Joseph E. Boyle, president; Mrs. Lorenz Neuhoff, vice president; Mrs. John S. Gibson, treasurer, and Mrs. Eugene F. McClain, secretary.

Capt. William F. Maney replaced his bars with a major's leaf after almost two years at Fort Story as post Ordnance officer. Silver bars also went to Lt. Joseph M. Mosca, Assistant S-4; Lt. John A. Warwick, Jr., Assistant Billing and Mess Officer; Lt. Philip J. Morgan, Jr., 640th Transportation Company; Lt. Joseph G. Farrell, Hq. Co. TATC; Lt. Reed B. Taylor, 461st Transportation Company; Lt. Warren F. Jauss, Assistant S-2, and Lt. Philip S. Gilchrist and Lt. Frank B. Mitchell, 461st T. Co.; Lt. Jerome P. Lewis, 489th T. Co.; Lt. William Tokar, 461st T. Co.

Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson and Virginia's Governor Thomas B. Stanley will speak at the 1954 Cape Henry Pilgrimage on April 24-25 at Fort Story. Story is the site of the landing of the first permanent English settlers in America on April 26, 1607, now marked by a handsome stone cross.

Col. Carol K. Moffatt, who has been with the Office, Secretary of Defense, for the past seven years, visited here recently and saw various phases of amphibious operations and training in the company of Col. Guy D. Thompson, Fort Story and TATC commander. Colonel Moffatt will go to Europe for a tour of installations there in the near future.

Story officers Saturday evening saluted the spirit of Erin with a St. Patrick's Day dance at the Officer Mess. Buddy Buterton and his orchestra provided the music.

New beach regulations were issued this month in preparation for the warm months ahead. Since all of Fort Story fronts on the ocean, the regulations emphasized that "treacherous currents, strong undertow and sharp drops in the underwater ground levels exist along the entire beach." No one will be allowed to swim alone; the "buddy system" will be used at all times.

Vets Better Selves Under GI Bill

Disabled veterans who have completed vocational training under the terms of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, Public Law 16, have shown persistence in carrying through their rehabilitation and have significantly bettered themselves in vocational terms.

The same conclusions are indicated by a spot survey completed by one of the Veterans Administration large regional offices of a typical group of disabled veterans of World War II who have completed vocational training.

The earning capacity of the group showed a marked increase. The average monthly earnings of the veterans surveyed was $181 before they began vocational training. After completion of the training, the average earnings was found to be $300.

Persistence in their vocation was shown by the fact that 68 per cent of the group surveyed continued in the jobs they had chosen, following completion of their training. Of those who changed, it was found additionally that 6 per cent of the total number had benefited themselves by changing.

A third significant conclusion was that the veterans' degree of disability was not a factor in the length of time he trained. Some of the more seriously disabled men tended to reach their vocational goals as quickly as the others, which indicated that the guiding factor was the veteran's mental attitude and ambition, rather than the degree of his disability.

was announced. Of the 23 classes on the schedule, 19 are horticultural classes and 4 are arrangement classes. Out of the total, two classes are open only to Garden Club of Virginia members. There will also be three special exhibits of the Garden Club of Virginia. For the first time this year there will be a Novice Class, open only to exhibitors who have never won a blue ribbon.

A March of Dimes Chapter is helping pay for the treatment of a polio victim stricken in 1951, 47 years before the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was organized.

Eight East Ocean View Civic Organization have banded together to obtain playground and recreational facilities for the children of this community. This organization will be known as the Youth Recreation Association of East Ocean View. Mrs. Everett K. Wilson and Mr. Herman Gillis have been chosen as Co-chairman for all association.

Two sites have been made available for playgrounds - Judge Floyd E. Kelam of the Princess Anne County Circuit Court has granted the use of his lots on East Ocean View Avenue between Eighth and Ninth streets. We plan to use these lots, mainly for the smaller children. Anchor fencing has been purchased to enclose this lot. The other lots owned by Vito Morlino on Pretty Lake Drive between 19th and 20th streets, are considered more suitable for the teen age groups.

The group held its first meeting on March 3, 1954 with Patrolman C. M. Brady, Jr. of the Princess Anne County Police as the principal speaker.

At the second meeting, on March 10, 1954, Mrs. Simpson of the Princess Anne County Welfare Association spoke on the needs of recreation for young people.

A fourth day has been declared for Saturday, March 13. The men and boys from the various organizations will clear the property on eighth street and begin erecting the fence. The ladies and girls will serve coffee and sandwiches to the workers.

The eight organizations representing are: The East Ocean View and Little Cove Volunteer Fire Department and the Ladies Auxiliary to the Department, The Civic League of the Garden Club, the Presbyterian Church and the Mens Club of the Church, the Scout League, representing Boy and Girl Scouts, and the Shore Drive Home Demonstration Club.

The next meeting will be open to the general public, to be held at 8 o'clock on April 7, at the East Ocean View Presbyterian Church. The program will be announced at a later date.

State Bond Sales At Normal Level

Virginians apparently resumed their Savings Bond buying pace after a dip in January sales this year as compared with the same month of 1953. In February, sales of Series E and H Bonds in the state totaled $6,008,109 as compared to $5,441,553 in February 1953 an increase of more than nine per cent.

The popularity of the Series H Bond — a current income security — would appear to be growing, since last month's were about double that of February 1953. Norfolk City led the state in sales with $1,212,198 in Series E and H Bonds combined, while Richmond came second with a total of $919,889.

Research workers have developed a new agricultural chemical said to kill weeds as they begin to sprout and before they emerge from the ground. Manufacturers say it can be used safely on many truck garden crops, thus reducing the costly and tedious work of hand weeding and crop cultivation.

The MIXING BOWL... IT'S Fun TO COOK!

By LUCILE CLARK
SUN-NEWS FOOD EDITOR

See "LET'S COOK" with Lucile Clark
Monday through Friday at 1:00 P.M. on Station WTAR-TV

These Lenten menus are keeping us busy these days, aren't they? Have planned interesting and easy casserole dishes using Salmon and Tuna. Many, many years ago, in France the fathers of the church decreed that fish be used plentifully during Lent, the 40 days that preceded Easter. This gave the fisherman a real chance to make some money and it is said they needed it badly, for the populace scorned fish and their catches had been spoiling in the markets. Whether or not you are observing the schedule of Lent when planning your meals, fish fresh, frozen or canned offers protein as abundantly as do chicken and meat. Crab meat, shrimp, lobster, tuna and salmon add zest to many Lenten casserole dishes. Casseroles can be prepared in advance stored in the refrigerator, some frozen, then can be popped in the oven and your dinner is ready in just a little while.

Salmon is still called the "King of Canned Fish" and Tuna is running a close second. There are 3 varieties of salmon. Chum or keta is the cheapest. It is light color and has little oil used in many recipes, combined with other ingredients, it is very good. Pink Salmon is very popular and more than half the annual pack is of this variety. It is moderate in price and used in great abundance. Red or Sockeye salmon comes from Puget Sound and Alaska. It is dark red. Chinook Salmon is of soft, rich texture, separates into large, luscious flakes. They are also caught in Puget Sound and in the Columbia River. It is usually the most expensive variety of salmon.

"Salmo" means leap - and Caesar's warriors travelling through Gaul about 56 B. C. gave salmon its name. They saw the silver horde of glistening fish leaping in the sunlight of the Garonne River. The Indians of America used salmon as one of the natural foods of this continent, and the settlers enjoyed the bounty they could catch in New England. Special religious ceremonies marked the coming of the salmon in the rivers in the Spring, for the Indians thought their gods had sent the fish.

Salmon have been canned since 1864. Try "Salmon Florentine" - here's the recipe.

1/2 stick butter or margarine
1 cup grated cheese
1 can cream of celery soup
1-2 cup milk
1 can salmon
1-2 cup buttered bread crumbs

Arrange cooked spinach in greased casserole - dot with butter or margarine, then the salmon, then the soup and milk-blended together - grated cheese and lastly buttered bread crumbs. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 minutes. Bye now, I'll go fix some "Salmon Florentine."

STRAIGHT from the SHOULDER...

By ALICE BREWER WHITE
FASHION AND WOMAN'S EDITOR

Tune in to Radio Station WAVY - 1350 on your dial - for latest fashion news, interesting items about people, places, stuff and things, by Alice Brewer White, each day, Monday through Saturday, 9:00 to 9:30 A.M. - NBC in Tidewater.

THE CUTE LOOK! - "Just like a little girl" is the cute new look featured by many of the designers this Spring. Cute fabric touches and little girl styling are '54's casual theme. One of the fashions in the B. H. Wrasage collection suggests a real Navy midship blouse - like the one we always wore at boarding school - but with spanking Spring-white trimming and this worn with a navy tweed skirt and a matching straight line 40-inch long coat. Of course, Emmie, John Fredericks and Sally Vetter have featured the little girl straw sailors and deep-crowned, large brimmed hats with streamers flying in the back. (However, merry matrons should use discretion in their selections of little girl fancies. They might look silly, those streamers, if there is also a "dowager's hump" for a neckline!

JOY FOR THE WORLD - To that exalted society of "luxury associates" which couples sables with emeralds, caviar with champagne, orchids with opera boxes you can now add a new out-of-this-world duo. For Joy, the costliest perfume in the world, now has a matching fragrance accessory, Joy Eau de Toilette. The House of Jean Patou, Paris, world-renowned for superlatives in fashion and fragrance, announced the long-awaited, long-requested debut last month of an Eau de toilette to accompany its fabulous perfume, the one-and-only Joy. It's the costliest of toilet waters, which last longer than eau de colognes, you know, and it has a lovely rose and jasmine scent and is very long-lasting. It sells for "only" eighteen dollars for a three-ounce bottle plus the usual tax. You know what? Raymond Barbas, director of Jean Patou, who is also the president of the French Haute Couture had this to say about the creation of a new scent from Paris. "A beautiful perfume is composed of a background and foreground and who is to say which is more important? It is the skillful blending of the two that makes the painting a thing of beauty! Women who know they must never mix two different scents will now be able to create an atmosphere of joy for themselves, and to identify themselves completely with this new scent." (But, Monsieur Barbas, we have so many wonderful colognes, toilet waters and perfumes here in America to use!) However, it is highly recommended that a lady choose one scent for summer, one for winter and one for daytime and one for evening by some of our American perfumers. So, take your pick, gals!

FRAMED SCARFS - The Glentex scarf people have done 36 inch pure silk squares in the true colors of the originals of great impressionist paintings by Renoir, Cezanne, Van Gogh, Monet and Gauguin. They're a triumph of color printing and reproduction and are quite sensational so much so that the fad for framing these Glentex modern art pieces reproductions, pulled taut, and hanging them on the walls of gal' effects and workrooms has caught on. Beautiful florals designed by the Glentex designers resemble larger than life water colors, bright as Victorian cabbage roses. More leaf shapes are seen in all over patterns and fashion key colors and the unusual shades of burnt amber, senna and russet are so elegant. Combinations of lime, smoky blue and navy, also garnet and black, are smart new accents. There are so many winning ways of arranging bright Spring scents and collars, especially with the new stand-away collars, the four-in-hand, for example; so many dramatic ways of sweeping stoles about the shoulders with one arm bared, Roman fashion; so many ensemble changes with vests and capelets, amusing collars and bits that a lucky girl can parlay her wardrobe into and out-and-out fashion fortune. All in all, the top is tops and the Glentex scarfs insure top interest with fascinating new costume transformations and fashion accents, key-words to the slim silhouette.

FASHION CHIT-CHAT: New Spring suits are known as much by their necklines and sleeves as anything else and these two trend setters have worked miracles this Spring in changing the look of a dress from old-fashioned to fresh, interesting and new. The look of a sleeve is sometimes altered by nothing more startling than and unusual length. The turn of a neckline is often revolutionized by setting the whole thing an inch or two away from the column of the neck. Any change in a neck or sleeve is outlined by a line of piping or by a line of self stitching on a contrasting cuff or collar. Jacques Fath has brought out a series of petticoats, or slips, in bouffant organza or striped tulle that outline the dresses that cover them up similar to the way a mink-lined coat has to be "looked for," the mink, we mean, to make the coat more important! ... Three leading Spring bag types are the elongated bag, the "doll pouch" and the

NEWS NOTES FOR HOMEMAKERS

APRIL ABUNDANCE

Along with potatoes, young chickens and dairy products, markets next month are expected to offer a variety of foods well adapted to spring menus. Egg production, increasing seasonally, will probably be higher in April than in any month in 1954. Price should be favorable to families featuring eggs in Lenten meals and for Easter—as well as for those who will want to preserve eggs in home freezers. Beef, especially medium and lower grades, is due to continue in plenty on markets next month.

As for vegetables, that flavorful cream of cabbage and onions will be on sale for spring slaw or other salads or for cooking. New-crop green cabbage is due from a number of southern States and from California. Plentiful fruit items on the list include raisins; fresh and processed oranges; fresh and frozen grapefruit and cranberry sauce. One reason for the plentiful supply of raisins is the sharp decline in exports. Raisins fit in many dishes at meal and also are handy between-meal snacks. Sprinkle a few raisins in fruit cup to start the meal, in relish to go with the main dish, in salad, sandwich fillings or desserts.

Valencia oranges from Florida and Navel oranges from California will be on markets in April, as well as canned and frozen orange juice. The Florida Valencia crop is estimated at 36 million boxes compared to 30 million year ago. Almost 6 million more boxes of grapefruit are being harvested.

N&W Honors "Safe Workers" at Banquet

Railroaders who worked safest in 1953 were honored with dinners and citations by the Norfolk and Western last week.

Winner of the annual safety contest among divisions was the Shenandoah, the long track between Hagerstown, Md. and Winston-Salem, N. C., which posted the remarkable record of 1.51 injuries per million man-hours worked, less than half the rate of any of the other four divisions.

A Roanoke banquet fetes the Shenandoah along with the Roanoke Shops Erecting Shop, the Roanoke Shops Passenger Shop and the Roadway Material Yard, all of which had perfect records to lead their respective groups. Eleven other shops in Roanoke and one at Radford, Winston-Salem, Pulaski, Inez, and Norton were cited at the Roanoke affair for also holding perfect records but with less man-hours worked. The Roanoke paint shop and planing mill continued flawless safety scores which began in 1931 and 1933, respectively.

A Cincinnati banquet on March 17 honored the Clare Shop there for leading all line shops in Group B with a perfect record. Representatives of Kenova Shop, also with a perfect record, attended.

Norfolk General Agency and Lamberts Point Shop employees were guests at a Norfolk dinner on March 15. Norfolk was safest of all terminals with a rate of 2.47 and Lamberts Point had no accidents in 944,739 man-hours worked to top Line Shops, Group A. Petersburg ship, also with a perfect record in Group B were cited.

The Norfolk and Western's overall safety record improved from 4.11 per million man-hours worked in 1952 to 3.33 last year, a figure which placed it second among all Group B, Class I railroads.

"Enriched" and "Rich" Not Same Declare Bakers

There's a vast difference between the words "rich" and "enriched," but the fact that many people consider them synonymous is a major concern to the nation's bakers, according to E. E. Kelley Jr., president of the American Bakers Association.

"Even though the enrichment program started 13 years ago, apparently there are still a lot of people who think 'enriched' means bread which contains more calories," Kelley said.

"The fact is 'enrichment' simply means additional quantities of three important B vitamins—thiamine, riboflavin—and iron have been added in the bread or flour. Wrappers of all such products plainly state this."

Going back to the beginning of the enrichment program, Kelley pointed out that just before World War II authorities became alarmed at the state of the nation's health. Certain diseases directly traceable to a lack of sufficient vitamin intake were widespread in the nation. While most people were and still are unaware of a disease called "pellagra" there were 9,000 deaths from this disease in the United States in 1938 and thousands of other cases in mild to serious form.

Three vitamins of the "B" group—thiamine, niacin and riboflavin—and iron were extremely below the quantity needed for health in the daily dieting of the public as a whole.

The U. S. Public Health Service, the American Medical Association, the National Research Council and other agencies decided that these vitamins must be introduced into the diets of all Americans. In order to do the maximum good they needed to be included in a food common in all homes. A food had to be selected which could include these

GM "Parade of Progress" Soon Seen in Norfolk

The General Motors Parade of Progress will open in Norfolk on March 31, H. A. Holt, Jr., GM Community Relations Chairman for this area, announced today.

The Parade is a traveling educational exhibit telling of the vital role of research and engineering in American life, he pointed out. There is no admission charge. The Parade will be at the Foreman Field Parking Lot, Norfolk through April 4. Exhibits will open to the public from 7-10 P. M. March 31, and from 2-10 P. M. April 1 through 4.

Visitors will see some two dozen major exhibits. They also will see a special stage show demonstrating the miracles of science, presented six to eight times a day in the Parade's own "big top"—the Aerodrome," he said.

Now on a nationwide tour, the Parade travels in a caravan of 44 vehicles, including 12 specially-styled Futurliners. The Futurliners are 33 feet long and have 16-foot side panels that open to form stages. Exhibits in the Futurliners are arranged and cover subjects ranging from refrigeration to jet power.

In the 40-minute stage show, Parade lecturers put on a dramatic exhibition of modern science in electronics, chemistry and transportation. The Aerodrome, seating 1,250 people is built with an aluminum frame and has no poles to block the view of the stage show. The tent's fireproof canvas is suspended from the frame.

The polio rate in Virginia is higher than in neighboring states.

Three Women Will be Honored At Conference

Public relations is a full-time job for most women in their own lives, but this month in Richmond, three of them will be honored guests at a big meeting of public relations men.

The occasion is the All-Virginia Public Relations Conference at the Hotel Jefferson, March 25-26.

At 2 P. M. on the opening day, Mrs. Anne Wilkins of Falls Church, a member of the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, and Mrs. H. Stanley Bailey, president of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, will take up the Women's side of a panel on better legislation.

Their male counterparts on the panel will be Delegate Edmund T. D'Arnette, of Hanover County, and Dr. Edward E. Haddock, Richmond's mayor.

To make sure that the men have an edge, Carter O. Lowance, executive secretary to Governor Stanley, will moderate.

Mrs. Wilkins is the only woman member of a board of supervisors in Virginia, and one of the few in the nation.

In addition to her Woman's Club work, Mrs. Bailey was formerly a juvenile court judge in Roanoke.

At 10 A. M., March 26, Mrs. Katherine Tevpaugh, sales promotion manager of Thalheimer Bros. Inc., will be on a panel with three men to discuss advertising techniques in public relations.

There seems to be a reason for the representation of women. The conference is sponsored jointly by the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce and the Richmond Public Relations Association.

The president of the public relations association, and incidentally the first woman to hold that office, is Miss Daphne Bailey, who is director of public relations for the Bank of Virginia.

192,000 More Public School Students Seen in State by 1960

By 1970 Virginia will have about 28,000 more college students than she had to take care of last year.

Enrollment in the state's public schools will be up by an estimated 192,000 in 1960.

These and other predictions about school and college enrollments are made by the Southern Regional Education Board in a study to be published this spring.

The Board, which is supported by the legislatures of Virginia and 13 other states, made the study with the cooperation of state departments of education as an aid to region-wide planning of education.

"We have provided projections, state by state, for the various levels of school and college which show that the South's college enrollments alone will double by 1970," said Dr. John E. Ivey, Jr., Board director. "It is imperative that each state look at its education program in a 20-year perspective if we are to match the growing enrollments with high quality teaching and research."

The percentage of school and college-age persons who actually enroll is rising. It is estimated by the Southern Regional Education Board that between 1952-53 and 1959-60 Virginia's enrollment in the first eight grades will increase from about 538,000 to about 680,000. The increase will be greater among Negroes (29 percent) than among whites (26 percent).

Secondary school enrollment will increase from the present total of some 118,000 to about 214,000 by 1967-68. As in the case of elementary enrollment, the increase will be larger among Negroes (109 percent) than among whites (73 percent).

College enrollments will reach about 61,000 in 1970, an 85 percent increase over the 33,000 college students Virginia counted in 1951-52. Since college enrollment is especially sensitive to general changes in the economic situation or in defense plans, this projection is subject to variation.

Still, the facts are that by 1970 the college-age population will be up some 73 percent and the annual number of high school graduates will have more than doubled.

Virginia has comparatively few of her college-age population actually in college. In Virginia 15.3 percent of the whites and 8.1 percent of the Negroes in this group are in college. About 21.2 percent of Mississippi's white college-age group and 22.4 percent of Florida's are enrolled in college.

The projected increase of 35 percent in college enrollment takes into account the probability that Virginia will start providing college education for similar percentages of her college-age group.

MISS VIRGINIA WILL GREET VISITORS

Those attending the formal opening of the new Western Auto Associate Store Friday morning at the corner of 17th street and Mediterranean avenue will be greeted by Miss Virginia when they enter the new building.

Miss Ann Lee Ceglis, who placed fourth in the Miss America contest last year as Miss Virginia, will serve as official hostess all day Friday.

The talented Miss Ceglis will also join in the celebration of the opening of the new store which is operated by Sam L. Riggs, of Virginia Beach.

Auto Store is a parking lot that will handle approximately 35 automobiles at one time and drive-in service for seat covers, battery and tires.

"We are providing 3500 square feet of floor space for display and merchandising purposes," Sam Riggs, owner, said. "We are leaving no stone unturned to give the people of Virginia Beach and Princess Anne County the last word in a retail Western Auto store," he added.

The overall floor space in the new building is 6000 square feet which gives ample space for storage so that the store can carry a larger line of quality merchandise, it was pointed out.

Mayor Murray is scheduled to snip the ribbon officially opening the new store at 9 o'clock Friday morning and from then on throughout the day and evening a busy program has been arranged. One of the highlights of the opening day parade of events will be the appearance of Miss Ann Lee Ceglis, Miss Virginia of 1953. The talented and beautiful Miss Ceglis will serve as the store's official hostess throughout the day.

There will be free gifts for everyone and a guessing contest.

Garland Abbott and his Tidewater Playboys will be on hand Friday night to play in their best hillbilly style. They will play beginning at 7 o'clock.

Then, on Saturday night there will be a drawing of tickets deposited by those visiting the new store on Friday and Saturday. Lucky ticket holders will share in prizes ranging from a bicycle, radio to a steam iron. The drawing will take place at 8 P. M. Saturday.

The Western Auto Store is home-owned by Samuel L. Riggs and formerly was located on Atlantic avenue between 17th and 18th streets.

STATE LISTS $300,000 ON LASKIN ROAD

Other County Projects get Funds

The State Highway Commission announced Tuesday that $300,000 has been allocated for the continued construction of Laskin Road (Route 164) as a controlled access highway toward Virginia Beach.

The appropriation is under the Suffolk District of the system. Of the total of $35,535,180 allocated to the eight highway districts, the Suffolk District will receive the largest cut of primary funds—$5,788,129—some $600,000 more than the Richmond District.

Allocations are based on anticipated revenue during the next fiscal year and work will begin as money becomes available. Projects earmarked for funds were recommended by the Highway Department's engineers on the basis of detailed filed inspections with district and resident engineers. All projects fit into the department's long-range plan and program.

Other rural construction provided for in the district includes: Route 165, Norfolk and Princess Anne counties, $150,000 supplementary allocation for a four-lane road between the Landale and Laskin Traffic Circle and Route 168 (Little Creek Road).

Route 13, Norfolk and Princess Anne counties, $50,000 for frontage roads on the Military By-Pass Highway, 13-Y, $17,000 for sidewalk between Norfolk and Landale Traffic Circle; Route 13 and 50, Princess Anne County, $3,000 to provide left-turn lane at Little Creek Road junction.

Route 58 (Virginia Beach Boulevard), $6,000 to correct drainage between Davis Corner and Chinese Corner; and $6,000 for a sidewalk along Route 58 in Ocean; Route 190, Princess Anne County, $50,000 supplementary allocation for bridge and approaches at North Landing Creek, Pungo; Route 194 Norfolk County, $15,000 for plant mix and widening shoulders near Norview.

Guided Missile Feature in Post

An article appearing in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post should prove of interest to residents of Virginia Beach and those who have been reading and hearing so much about the Army's guided missile program.

The article is titled "The Secrets of White Sands" and deals with rockets that have gone part way to the moon and back. The article should have much local interest since nearby Fort Story has recently been selected for guided missile training in the Army's program.

Beach Jaycees Hear Dr. Brick

Doctor Brick of the Virginia State Penitentiary was presented as guest speaker last Tuesday before a fine turnout of the Jaycees and their wives at the Paramount Restaurant. Dr. Brick, a Swedish born psychiatrist, is now serving his fifteenth year with the state, and is recognized as one of the top men in his field.

Using tape recordings of actual interviews with his patients under electric stimulation and sodium penothol, Dr. Brick presented a fast moving review of the case history, causes and possible treatment of so called psychopaths, neurotics and others mentally ill.

Psychology a comparatively new science, Dr. Brick explained is fast becoming generally accepted by the general public and officials as being a great help, if not a cure for many problems that arise in a penal institution constantly.

In conclusion on open discussion held with questions by members of the Jaycees he answered and explained by Dr. Brick.

RED CROSS URGES WORKERS TO MAKE REPORT OF COLLECTIONS

County Building Outlook Bright Experts Declare

The residential building outlook for Princess Anne County presents a very bright picture, according to building experts and future plans for the county.

It was learned this week that investment builders are by-passing Norfolk County in favor of sites in Princess Anne County.

The article is titled "The Secrets of White Sands" and deals with rockets that have gone part way to the moon and back. The article should have much local interest since nearby Fort Story has recently been selected for guided missile training in the Army's program.

New homes and apartment units already approved for erection in Princess Anne County reach a value of $36,412,000. There have been 33 new major subdivisions containing 4,516 residential units built in Princess Anne County during the past five years.

There are more than 1,500 new residential units being planned for different sites in Princess Anne County at this time, not including several projects which are earmarked for unimproved land figuring in recent transactions near the consumption stage.

Donald R. Locke, Norfolk City planning engineer, said that so far as Norfolk proper is concerned, no land is available for a major subdivision. He added that there is some space in Norfolk County but investment builders prefer Princess Anne County.

F. Mason Gammage, Princess Anne County planning engineer, said most of his time is taken up in clearing new housing subdivisions.

The home building boom, first appeared to the Junior Red Cross carried on a full program of giving and sharing. More than 500 pints of blood almost all of which was used in this area, was collected by the Red Cross.

Elizabeth River Power Squadron Host at Cavalier

This week end the Elizabeth River Power Squadron will be host to the Fifth District of the United States Power Squadron for its annual spring conference to be held at the Cavalier Club.

The United States Power Squadron had its beginning in 1914 in the New England states and was organized to promote safety and education among boatmen. Growth was slow at first, but after World War II the organization began to grow rapidly to its present size of 140 squadrons and 26,000 members scattered from the East Coast to Hawaii and from the Canal Zone to Canada. The United States Power Squadron is divided into several districts of which the Fifth District is the largest, extending from Norfolk, Virginia to Atlantic City, New Jersey. Representatives from each of the sixteen squadrons are expected to attend the conference.

Education being the prime object of the United States Power Squadron, Saturday morning will be devoted to discussion of the various courses offered by the squadrons. The piloting course which covers equipment, rules of the road, seamanship safety, the mariner's compass, aids to navigation, charts and piloting and manners and customs, is being of

The Princess Anne classroom teachers association will present a talent show in the Oceana High School auditorium on Friday night, March 26. It has been announced.

Supervisors Schedule Cuts of 25c to $1.55 per $100; Comes from Surplus Princess Anne County's Board of Supervisors took the first step Monday in giving relief to taxpayers in six of the county's nine tax districts.

The Board gave initial approval to a record budget of $2,613,700 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, and can only give the tax relief by dipping into surplus emergency funds. The new budget is $200,000 more than the previous year. It is subject to final approval at the Board's April meeting.

The new tax rates varied from a decrease of 25 cents per $100 in the Blackwater District to a whopping $1.55 increase in the Lynnhaven Sanitation District (worth Virginia Beach).

The rates were set on a basis of a countywide assessed value of $21,380,000 for real property, personal property and public service corporations, a $700,000 increase over the previous year's assessed value.

The assessed values by districts were given as follows: Kempsville, $10,818,000; Lynnhaven, $8,115,000;

Blackwater, $307,000; Pungo, $935,000; and Seaboard, $1,185,000.

Blackwater, $4.80 per $100 valuation, a decrease of 25 cents per hundred.

Kempsville, $6.70, an increase of 35 cents; Kempsville Sanitation District, $1.55, a decrease of $1.30, remaining the same as the present rate; Kempsville Mosquito Control District, $3.93, an increase of 30 cents.

Lynnhaven, $5.90, a decrease of 85 cents; Lynnhaven Sanitation District, $4.30, a decrease of $1.30; Lynnhaven Mosquito Control District, $5.10, a decrease of 95 cents.

Pungo, $6, a decrease of 60 cents; and Seaboard, $4.90, a decrease of 40 cents.

The county school operating budget of $1,041,421 was approved, but a school capital outlay item of $69,500 was slashed to $35,000.

The county's school debt called for $214,244, which includes interest; and retirement on the bonds for the central high school, Kempsville's school debt, fund amount to $104,000, including servicing of the $950,000 bond issue for the two new elementary schools at Little Creek and near Robbins Corner. A county-wide capital outlay item of 40 cents for schools has been eliminated.

In other action, the Supervisors approved the appointment of the seven-man police and trial board, which will take over the duties of hiring and firing police personnel and will formulate rules of conduct for the department.

They are: Walter Munden, Pungo District; Sterling Montgomery and Edward Webb, Kempsville District; Stanley Holland and Lawrence Wales, Jr., Lynnhaven District; Walter Cox, Blackwater District; and Peter Dyer, Seaboard District. The appointments are effective immediately.

The board instructed its executive secretary, V. Alfred Ethridge, to accompany a delegation to the Friday meeting of the Game and Fisheries Board to seek an appropriation for the project - to improve stagnant water condition in the North Landing River through the installation of valves at Great Bridge.

The valves would allow water to be drained into the Southern Branch of the Elizabeth River when southerly winds pile up noxious waters that kill fish in the North Landing area.

R. E. Dorrer, of the State Health Department, explained that all areas adjacent to Norfolk County would like to be included in the Kempsville Mosquito Control District, which now includes only East Ocean View, Chesapeake Beach and Ocean Park. The new areas would include many of the large housing developments in the Little Creek area, Camellia Shores, Roosevelt Gardens and others.

The board was asked to take action to compel the owners of a filled area known as the Carr Farm to take other means than signs to prohibit persons from endangering their lives on the fill, which, according to spokesmen, hardens into a crust on the top over a substance resembling quick sand.

The fill area is in the neighborhood of Larrymore Acres and Roosevelt Gardens, in which are numerous children, spokesmen said. The board will request the American Dredging Company to take steps, but felt that legal action might not be possible.

TIPPING THE CHAPEAU

Just how far can some of our good neighbors and friends go in a spirit of real cooperation? For instance, take the Louis H. Stevens, 390 Raleigh Drive. They not only did sufficient time and interest in helping their own premises always a top-notch shape, but have been helping their neighbors by clearing away the pump house located on city property and on the parkway on Atlantic Avenue, across from their residence. Numerous flowering shrubs, japonica, forsythia, viburnum, red bud and others are now in full bloom. Their camellias are beautiful, located on the western side of their lot. The Council of Garden Clubs gratefully tips its chapeau to such kind neighbors!

(Note: The Council of Garden Clubs of Princess Anne County and Virginia Beach, selects through this column a beauty spot each week.)

For an afternoon of real enjoyment, pleasure and relaxation, do visit the Garden Tour now being planned by the Virginia Beach Garden Club. The tour will be on its itinerary. For tickets call Mrs. J. H. Deveraux or Mrs. Hunter Pickett.

Pedestrian Safety Stressed In 1953 May Bring Award

The activities conducted by Virginia Beach during 1953 on behalf of the pedestrian will be judged by the American Automobile Association, sponsors of the National Pedestrian Protection Contest, Chief of Police Reeves E. Johnson announced today.

A Contest report form consisting of questions concerning accident records, legislation and enforcement, engineering, organization, school safety and public information, all directed toward the pedestrian has been completed and mailed, he disclosed.

Virginia Beach received an award for the year of 1953 for not having a pedestrian fatality during that year. There also were no pedestrian fatalities during the past year.

The city will be judged with other cities of like size and population from over the nation. Winners will be announced by a national board of judges composed of some of the most prominent men in the field of traffic safety.

The local contest representative issued the following safe walking rules which he said were particularly applicable at this time of year. They included the familiar "Wear White at Night" admonition, "Cross Only at Intersections," "Walk on the Left Side of the Road Facing Traffic" especially in rural areas, "Walk with the Green Light or 'Walk' signal," "Stop at the Curb and Look Both Ways Before Crossing" and "Do not Step From Behind Parked Cars." Virginia Museum, Beach Art Assn. Cooperate in Expanding Program

The Virginia Museum of Fine Arts, the Virginia Beach Art Association and the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County are co-operating in an expanding program designed to bring greater cultural opportunities to residents of the Beach and of the County. Holding group membership in the Museum, which also constitutes membership in the Virginia Art Alliance, both local organizations have advanced programs designed to bring to the area outstanding works of art, as well as noted lecturers and speakers. The development of local talent is a major phase of this program.

The Virginia Beach Art Association, which has grown to a membership of 110 persons since it was organized less than a year ago under the chairmanship of Mrs. Thomas Kennedy, has presented four of the five nationally recognized lectures scheduled for the club year. The latest of these, Mr. Minor Thomas, archeologist with the Williamsburg Foundation, spoke Wednesday night at the Virginia Beach High School auditorium on "Eighteenth Century Ceramics as looked at from an Archeological and Historical Standpoint." Another noted lecturer, whose name will be announced at a later date, will be presented in April; and a three-day exhibit, which will be open to the public is planned to begin April first.

In addition to its lecture schedule, the Art Association has presented four exhibits from the Virginia Museum, including contemporary oil paintings by nationally acclaimed American artists, contemporary water colors also by recognized American artists, famous Nativity reproductions and a demonstration exhibit on correct hanging and framing of pictures.

The Woman's Club of Princess Anne County, at its March meeting, feet a second while you walk 4 feet a second. While you walk the first 12 feet from the curb a car travels 132 feet. "Be alert - Wait for the Cars to Pass."

"Observance of these safe walking rules," he said, "will insure our city not only of getting a good score in a safety contest, but will make all of us a sure winner - with the Prize being our own life and limb."

ing, exhibited a group of paintings and water colors by local artists, most of whom are members of the Art Association. Among those exhibiting were Mrs. Philip H. Thom, Mrs. F. X. Ryan, Mrs. Ralph A. Midgette, Jr., Mrs. Connie Moore, Mrs. Edward Harriman Cohn, Mrs. M. Ward Cole, Mrs. J. E. Mortenson, Mrs. Charles Wertz, Miss Laura Archibald, Miss Winifred Greene, Mrs. Merle Stuart Smith and Mr. Frank DeWolf. Mrs. D. Y. Malbon, fine arts chairman of the Woman's Club, arranged the exhibit.

Another cultural project sponsored by the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County will be the presentation of Walter P. Chrysler's famous collection of Dutch and Flemish art at Virginia Beach in August. Through the cooperation of the Virginia Museum and Miller and Rhoads, and by courtesy of Mr. Chrysler, who loaned the collection for this public exhibit, the Museum's Artmobile will be stationed innaprominent location accessible to tourists and residents.

The date for the Artmobile exhibit tentatively was scheduled for the last two weeks in August at a meeting of the Art Alliance in Richmond March 15. Delegates attending the meeting included Mrs. Thomas C. Kennedy and Mrs. Charles Rand of the Art Association, and Mrs. D. Y. Malbon, Mrs. R. B. Tynes and Mrs. John Pierce Fleming of the Woman's Club of Princess Anne County. Mrs. Tynes and Mrs. Malbon are members of both organizations.

Audophiles Have Haven at Beach

Ever hear of an "audiophile?" Well, some thirty thousand of them recently crowded the Harrington Hotel in Washington, D. C. to attend the High Fidelity Fair there, and many more were at the Audio Show in New York City in October. "Hi-Fi" is becoming a new national craze! The term "audiophile" means a lover of high fidelity - which in turn means a lover of "living presence music." The Hi-Fi fan is interested in reproducing music exactly as it was originally played, by means of records, tape recorders or radio, with no loss of the high and low overtones.

A "Hi-Fi Shop" or demonstration studio is being opened in TV Sales and Services, Inc., at 308 17th Street, Virginia Beach. Here the radically new equipment will be demonstrated and sold.

"High Fidelity" has become so popular that only recently such well known best seller magazines as "Life," "Esquire," "Better Homes and Gardens," "House Beautiful" and even the "New York Times" have devoted full sections to the subject.

And now "high fidelity" has come to the Beach!

Mother-Daughter Tea Held by FHA

The Future Homemakers' Club of Virginia Beach High School had a Mother-Daughters Tea on March 17, 1954. The St. Patrick's Day theme was carried out in invitation, name tags, and decorations. The tea table was decorated with shamrocks on a white cloth, spring flowers, and decorative foods.

Punch was served by Cheryl Wallace, Virginia Humphries, and Dickie Anne Woodward. Some of the girls invited their teachers instead of their Mothers. There were about forty-five members and guest present.

The club has just become a member of the National and State F. H. A. The officers of the club are:

tended and those interested should contact John G. Hart, 102 Parry Road; Kempsville Heights, Norfolk 2, Virginia.

A catalog charge of 50 cents will be made for all items valued under $100.00 and $1.00 for all items valued over $100.00 and each consignor will have the right to establish a "no sale" price.

Further details may be had by telephoning John O. Hart at 50024, William F. Hudgins, Jr., 46832, Sam Ozment at 66-1232, Conrad Shumadine at 66-2712, and Joe Blackmore at 52994.

It is felt that this sale will be of great value both to the farmers and merchants in the area, giving an opportunity to both parties to move equipment which very possibly would have no sale value except through this type of sale and it is hoped that the general public will participate in this affair.

THE UNITY TICKET

The three citizens who announced some ten days ago that they would be candidates for three council seats in the City of Virginia Beach election to be held in June present a picture of unity which has not been too common in the past. Their individual backgrounds are varied and their joining together in their desire to serve their city is an indication of their unity of purpose.

Public reaction to the announcement by the three men has been practically unanimous in approval of their individual qualifications to serve the city and its citizens on the Virginia Beach City Council.

The candidates are P. F. Murray, who has been serving the City as Mayor for approximately two years, Frank D. Tarrall, Jr., an engineer, and John A. Taliaferro, young businessman and a native of Virginia Beach. The candidates represent a wide cross-section of this community's population.

Murray, a former hotel owner and operator, served the City as a councilman for some eight years prior to being elected as Mayor. He is a keen student of the city's government. He possesses a wealth of invaluable experience in the workings of the city government and has always demonstrated a vast source of common sense in his approach to the solution of problems. Murray has been a resident of Virginia Beach since 1930.

Tarrall's election would bring to the city council considerable experience. Tarrall served in the surveying department of the City of Norfolk's Public Works Division for ten years and later served as that city's highway engineer. This experience can be widely used by the city council in its many street, road, drainage and other related improvement plans. Tarrall resides on 46th street and is a member of the First Baptist Church.

Youngest of the trio of announced candidates is Taliaferro, who is 29 years old and is president of the Virginia Beach Junior Chamber of Commerce. Taliaferro was born in Virginia Beach and educated in the city and county schools. He is manager of an appliance store here and is nearing the end of his term as head of the local Jaycee organization.

The "Unity Ticket" as the candidates prefer to be called present a solid lineup of experience, maturity and diversification that should make the voter's decision an easy one.

The brightest aspect of the three candidates is their sincere, genuine desire to create unity that would benefit all the citizens of Virginia Beach. We believe the election of these men will place the affairs of the city in the hands of conscientious, able and competent individuals of experience.

Littleton Named Principal of New PA High School.

J. W. Littleton, currently principal of the Kempville High School, has been named principal of the new $2,500,000 Princess Anne High School at Thelma. It has been announced by the county school board.

The new principal of the consolidated school has been in the Princess Anne School system for the seven years. The appointment of Littleton also leaves the school board with no other shifts among school personnel.

M. P. Strickler, now principal of the Oceana school, will go into the school board office as administrative assistant. Mrs. Mildred Wilson, now assistant principal in charge of elementary grades at Oceana, will become principal at Oceana and N. W. Morris, assistant principal at Kempville will become principal of that school.

Walter Carroll, now principal of Creeds School, will be principal at one of the two new elementary schools in the Kempville area slated for completion by the September, 1954 term, and Mrs. Margaret Fisher will head up the teaching staff at the other. She is now a teacher at the Bayside school.

Mrs. Katherine Foreman remains as principal of the Court-house Elementary School, and Mrs. Grace Harrell of Bayside Elementary School. This leaves the principalship of only one of the county's schools unfilled for next year—Creeds school, which will be filled at a later date.

CAPITAL AIRLINES MAKES REPORT

H. Carmichael, President of Capital Airlines, reported that Capital recorded a net loss for 1953, 1954, of $314,462 compared to a net loss of $186,713 for the corresponding month last year.

Total operating revenues for January, 1954, were $3,189,967 while operating revenues in January, 1953 amounted to $3,132,000. Capital flew 2,200,000 revenue miles and carried 155,000 passengers in January, 1954, compared with 2,100,000 revenue miles and 140,000 passengers in the same month last year.

Beach Promotion Program Starts In 27 Papers

Virginia Beach's newspaper advertising program is underway, according to Laura Lamb, of the Lamb Advertising Agency.

Advertisements were mailed out Tuesday to some 27 selected newspapers in the eastern United States and Canada with the first ads scheduled to appear in the Canadian papers on April 13. The schedule calls for advertising to appear in Washington, D. C. and New England papers on Sunday April 4, and in all other newspapers included in the schedule on Sunday, April 11.

The entire schedule which has been approved by the Virginia Beach Advertising committee consists of more than 200 different advertisements.

It was pointed out that the Virginia Beach schedule has been coordinated to conform to the schedule arranged by the State of Virginia through its Department of Conservation and Development. This tends to give impetus to the Virginia Beach program.

The ad agency and the ad committee are hopeful that individual hotel owners will be in their own advertising programs with that of the city and the state.

A total of $14,500 has been allocated to newspaper space this year which will cover the cost of insertions from April through mid-August.

Mrs. Sam Zittrain Co-Chairman County Canteen

 mately $150,000. Cox reported that awards of contracts for equipment for the new county high school amounted to $170,000 to date, with August delivery on most of the items. Additional equipment will be required, he said. He received Board approval to ask for bids on equipment for the two elementary schools being built in the Kempville District in the Little Creek area and near Robbins Corner. Specifications will go out this week to bidders, in anticipation of bids being opened at the April meeting.

The balance of the bonds from the $2,500,000 issue approved by a referendum for the county's high school will be sold, after approval was received by the County Supervisors. The $1,900,000 of bonds to be sold will consist of 30-year serial bonds. Sale and delivery will be at a May 11 meeting of the Board. The first of the bonds were 25-year bonds. Cox told the Board that his information is that the bond market would be favorable at this time for sale.

 crippled children and adults, we enable them to live more useful, happy lives, and we offer them in this way the priceless gift of encouragement."

Governor Stanley also called attention to the fact that for every handicapped person who through treatment and training is made self-sufficient, a great savings is made for the taxpayer because such person is removed from the welfare rolls.

He urged Virginians to give greater support than ever before to this year's Easter Seal campaign to meet rising costs in providing vital services for the more and more crippled children who desperately need them.

Governor Stanley was one of the founders of the Virginia Society for Crippled Children and Adults and is still a member of its Board of Directors.

Baseball, Softball Engage Sailors at Training Center

With spring getting underway with a rush, the average young man's mind is turned to the cry of "Play Ball!" Sailors at the U. S. Fleet Air Defense Training Center, Dam Neck are no exception, and baseball fever is definitely in the air around the station. Baseball and softball are the current topics of conversation. Prospective players may be seen on the station limbering up muscles grown slack by a winter's inactivity, in preparation for the start of practice sessions in the near future. It is expected that the FADTC, Dam Neck will field a baseball team in the Hampton Roads Baseball League sponsored by the Fifth Naval District, as was done last season. Several of last year's team have since been transferred, but there are a number of promising replacements among new arrivals.

A new baseball field is under construction on the station and is expected to be ready for use by the opening of the season or shortly thereafter. Although the station will field only one baseball team, almost all of the station's divisions plan to field a softball team this year for intramural play. Intramural softball is a very popular part of the summer athletic program. Last year's champs, the Supply Department, are looking to their laurels as competition in the coming season promises to be very close. During the past winter intramural bowling was the principal contest among the various divisions on the station. After a close season in which it was anybody's guess as to which team would come out on top, the teams of the Guided Missile School and the Station Officers emerged as the two top teams, bowling for the station championship early in March. In the deciding game of the championship series, the Guided Missile School team edged the Station Officers team by the narrow margin of 11 pins to take the championship.

A bowling team was picked from among players in the intramural teams to represent the station at the 8th Naval District Bowling Tournament held at the Naval Air Station, Norfolk on 8th and 9th of March. Bowling the best naval teams in the 8th Naval District, this team managed to place 12th in the group of 17 teams entered in the tournament, for a creditable showing among some very stiff competition.

Recreation facilities at the station will be greatly increased with the opening of the new Recreation Building on the station which is rapidly nearing completion. In addition to Mary Exchange facilities, the new building will contain a large gymnasium and six outstanding bowling alleys, plus lockers, showers and other facilities for men engaged in sports.

CUB SCOUT DEN'S ENJOY BASEBALL

Two dens of Cub Scout pack 61 of Virginia Beach met last Saturday afternoon on the Virginia Beach playground in a baseball game that saw Den One defeating Den Two by a score of 27 to 9.

Den One was captained by Bob Frederick and the game was featured by heavy hitting on the part of the winners. The victors issued the challenge to the losers and a return game is in prospect.

78 Wildlife Bills Pass Legislature

Of the 78 bills relating to wildlife, most of which were local, which were put into the legislative hopper of the recent General Assembly, more than 50 were enacted into law.

Thirty-nine bills of a local and 31 of a general nature originated in the House of Delegates and eight general and one local originated in the Senate. Members of the Game and Fish Committee of both the House and the Senate realize that all of this legislation is not necessary since adequate authority has been given the Commission to enact regulations which take care of nearly all fish and game needs.

House Joint Resolution No. 72 was passed which established a policy for the General Assembly not to introduce any bills relating to game and fish in the future until the Commission has been given an opportunity to handle the matter by regulation. It is believed that if this policy is carried out, it will mean a great saving of time for the General Assembly and enable the Commission to manage more adequately the wildlife resources of the Commonwealth.

JAS. MINER SERVES ON "BIG 43"

James E. Miner, ship's serviceman first class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Miner of Route 1, Box 37-8, Virginia Beach, Va., and husband of the former Miss Felicia Rast of Naples, Italy, was among the 238 men to report for duty aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea during the period Jan. 12th to Feb. 24th.

The Coral Sea, also known as the "Big 43," is completing a four-month overhaul at the U. S. Norfolk Naval Shipyard here.

Brig. Gen. Frank S. Benson, Jr. who commands Fort Eustis and the Transportation Training Command, also came in by helicopter to observe the operation and the troop bivouac area. The Fort Eustis troops, who compose the SUBC Task Group, are conducting the operation with units of the 54th Transportation Battalion of the Transportation Amphibious Training Center here.

To give your bedroom a new spring lilt, paper the closets with gay stripes or vivid pattern in colors to complement the room tone.

FT. STORY TELLINGS

A week-long amphibious operation here involving one thousand troops from Fort Eustis brought many Transportation Corps officers to observe the 24-hour ship-to-shore problem. Among them was Brig. Gen. Howard J. Vandusen, Transportation Officer for Army Field Forces at Fort Monroe. His old friend, Col. Guy D. Thompson, Fort Story's post commander, accompanied General Vandusen on a land-and-water tour by DUKW of the operation area.

Brig. Gen. Frank S. Benson, Jr. who commands Fort Eustis and the Transportation Training Command, also came in by helicopter to observe the operation and the troop bivouac area. The Fort Eustis troops, who compose the SUBC Task Group, are conducting the operation with units of the 54th Transportation Battalion of the Transportation Amphibious Training Center here.

Fort Story is losing one of its most popular officers, Maj. Joseph E. Bostick, who has been S-3 since last August. Major Bostick, a West Point officer, has been reassigned to Europe and will be replaced by Maj. Truman P. Lambert, now at Fort Eustis. A Garrison review Friday afternoon, March 19, honored Major Bostick as TATC units marched with practiced precision under a rain-threatened sky. The 394th Army Band from Fort Eustis provided the music. At the same review, Col. Guy D. Thompson, Fort Story and TATC commander, presented the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in the Far East Command to Maj. Marcus A. Peterson, the post's S-4.

Maj. and Mrs. Joseph E. Boyle had cause for rejoicing on March 9 with the arrival of Joseph Edward Boyle, Jr., weight seven pounds, 10 ounces, at Portsmouth Naval Hospital. Major Boyle, the father of two girls, is officer in charge of the BARC Test Team here. He and Mrs. Boyle had been hoping for a boy.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

You Might Call it a "Gravy Train"

Was reading the other day about a Maharaja in India who has a miniature electric train all made of silver. Now, maybe that's not unusual for a prince, but this fellow had it running around on an enormous dining table in the royal palace.

The twelve cars on the train are loaded with different kinds of fruits, meats, and beverages. And the train stops automatically in front of each plate so the person sitting there can choose what he wants.

From where I sit, the Maharaja is really going to extremes to impress his guests. Around this part of the world, hospitality certainly doesn't need all those fancy trimmings.

You don't have to spend a lot of money or go to a lot of work when folks drop in. Just offer them what you have—coffee, tea, a temperate glass of beer—and let them make their own choice. They'll feel they're getting a royal welcome!

Pellets Contaminated with Highly Chlorinated Naphthalenes Can Cause X Disease

Contamination of feed pellets with highly chlorinated naphthalenes, resulting in X disease in cattle, is entirely possible.

Reports that the disease caused heavy losses in cattle which had been fed certain pellet feeds in some parts of the country led the researchers to make this study. It had been previously shown that lubricants containing highly chlorinated naphthalenes and the chlorinated naphthalenes in the pure form, caused the disease.

In this more recent study, two lots of pellets were made. One lot was made with the pellet mill greased with a lubricant that did not contain the naphthalenes. The second lot was made with the pellet mill greased with a lubricant containing the naphthalenes. Calves fed the first lot did not develop symptoms and lesions of the disease. Calves fed the second lot did develop symptoms and lesions of the disease.

Feed Manufacturers should be certain they are not using such lubricants in any machine from which they may gain entrance into feeds. The feed industry has been told of the findings and the toxicity of the pellets (Continued on Page Five)

First Auto Show Ran Second to - Guess What - Annual Horse Show

Automobile Shows have been drawing large crowds throughout the country during recent weeks. These shows, timed with the introduction of new models, have become a tradition of long standing in America. But, in 1900, attendance at the nation's first automobile show ran a close second to the annual horse show. An enthusiastic crowd turned out to see the early motor carriages at Madison Square Garden, but the records show that more people were interested in the year's horse show.

In the first years of the automobile, opposition to the "noisy, terrorizing" vehicles was common. Letters to newspapers pointed out the danger of runaway horses, frightened by the sputtering automobile, and objected to the "completely unnecessary" speed of eight miles per hour.

Pioneering automobilists hoped to overcome such hostility by bringing the public into direct contact with the new vehicles. Thus the 1900 show, first to feature the automobile exclusively, was sponsored by the newly-formed Automobile Club of America.

About seventy manufacturers were represented, featuring a variety of now-obsolete types of motor vehicles. One publication reported:

"No matter whether you wanted to look over a light runabout for quick work, a phaeton, a smart spider or Stanhope, a brougham, Victoria, or racing machine, everything was at hand for your inspection. The exhibit of accessories was equally comprehensive."

"Obstacle contests showed much skill on the part of the contestants, and it was a pleasure to see the machines swiftly slide by the barrels and bars placed to catch the unwary chauffeur. The braking contest exhibited to the general public more than anything else, under what perfect control these automobiles are in the hands of their drivers."

The Mobile Company of America, to demonstrate the hill climbing ability of the automobile, constructed a steep wooden ramp on the roof of the Garden. Up and down this incline a driver guided his "Mobile," and stopped several times on the way down to impress the crowd with the safety of the brakes.

When the demonstration track Get away from those old tried and true if you want to be an individualist. Start with bright-colored pattern mats for your pictures.

was not being used for contests, it was turned over to exhibitors who gave free rides to any show visitors who cared to take a chance. A news account said:

"Many people took their first trip on an automobile in the ring at Madison Square Garden, and by the pleased expression on their faces as they swiftly glided about the circle, one is led to believe that automobilism made many converts by this feature alone."

Officials reported that none of the vehicles in the show broke down or behaved badly, and that manufacturers received enough orders to keep them in production for several months.

The magazine "Automobile Topics" commented:

"The general public has learned that the automobile has its practical side; that it is not a toy, or that automobilism is but a mere fad. . . . (The automobile show) has taken its place beside the Horse Show as a great spectacular event of the early winter season, and it has come to stay."

NOTES FOR HOMEMAKERS

By MRS. ELIZABETH DEAL, County Home Agent

Safe-Keeping For Poultry
When you buy any poultry—whether it is the broiler or fryer already in abundance on markets or the small turkeys expected in good supply by Easter time—remember that you have one of the perishable foods. Store fresh-killed, freshly drawn, or cooked poultry in the refrigerator, loosely covered, preferably at a temperature as cold as 35 to 38 degrees F. C. Remove cellophane or film wrap from unfrozen poultry before placing in the refrigerator, loosely wrapped. Use within 2 or 3 days.

If you want to hold raw or cooked poultry longer than 3 days, freeze it, after wrapping properly to prevent drying out.

When you buy frozen, ready-to-cook poultry, store it in a freezer or in the freezer compartment of the refrigerator while it is still hard-frozen. Properly packaged, quick-frozen poultry will hold its quality for several months at a temperature of zero F. or lower.

A new ice cream—the familiar vanilla, marbled with colorful strands or bands of smooth, sweetened, concentrated orange puree—may be on the market in the future as a result of research at the Florida Experiment Station. Scientists there, searching for new outlets for citrus crops, have long been concerned with the problem of using these fruits in ice cream. Because of their high acid content, citrus fruits have never combined successfully in the usual way with ice cream mixes, as so many other fruits have. But consumers have shown that they like the flavor combination by the popularity of bricks or frozen cubes in which there are layers of orange sherbet with vanilla ice cream, for example.

The new type of ice cream, often described as the "built-in sundae," is made by injecting a fruit puree mixture into a semi-frozen stream of vanilla ice cream. In such a process the milk proteins of the ice cream mix are protected against "curdling" by too close contact with the acid of the citrus fruit.

The puree mixture developed by the Florida Station includes frozen concentrated orange juice, sugar, water and a small amount of pectin to stabilize the mixture. The orange concentrate is added after the other ingredients have been heated together to prevent changes in the delicate citrus flavor. The Station also has tested purees for ice cream using frozen lemon, lime and tangerine concentrates. These call for a larger proportion of pectin than the orange puree. All proved satisfactory in the injection-type of ice cream.

Homemakers' Hints
You wear your room just as you wear your dresses. The colors you choose either flatter you or they don't. Use your best color when you redecorate - but try them out in sample form first.

If a blonde, you can "wear" purple, blue, green, gold and deep rose, vivid green, and autumn leaf colors in fabric. Deep burgundy and dusty pink, pastels, and pastel blue are becoming.

If you're a brunette, choose vivid colors. Brilliant shades of all colors - rust, lime, green, and gold are your best colors. If you have brown hair, choose rose-glo and green, beige with brown and soft greens and copper in fabrics. If your eyes are blue, choose soft warm blue, rose-glo and pastels, soft green and coppery tones. Avoid sharp colors.

Silver-gray hair is complemented by pottery green, antique red, slate blue, green, yellow, purple and red are especially good. Don't use drab colors.

Red hair begs for reseda green, apricot, soft blue and rust or russet brown, and blue.

Wipe off newly-bought fresh fruit with a clean, slightly damp cloth before you put it away. This not only cleans the fruit but helps to check rot that may have been transferred from other fruits.

Pinckney Commends Action of '54 Assembly on TB Legislation

It is gratifying to the people of the State who are especially interested in public health that the 1954 session of the General Assembly gave substantial recognition to Virginia's public health needs, the president of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association said this week.

Thomas Pinckney, president of tuberculosis association, said that capital expenditures for control of TB in Virginia are due and many needs are still unmet, but the legislature in the session just ended gave painstaking and conscientious consideration to the State's tuberculosis control program.

"We commend the members of the General Assembly for the constructive appropriations they voted for the control of tuberculosis among white and negro citizens for the biennium 1954-56," the VTA president said.

Pinckney noted especially the appropriation of $94,875 to the Department of Health to replace reductions in Federal funds of $94,875. "This will mean," he said, "that Virginia will not be forced to cut back its program of finding new cases of TB in rural areas through chest X-rays and will not have to give up its three mobile X-ray units."

Other significant appropriations in the field of tuberculosis control were listed by the VTA president as: $35,000 to determine the location and acquire a site for a TB hospital in southeastern Virginia; $184,329 to establish nine regional chest clinics in areas away from medical centers; $2,036,000 to complete construction of a 200-bed tuberculosis hospital for Negroes in Richmond; and $360,000 to prepare plans for a hospital at the University of Virginia.

Pinckney stated that he felt the Assembly's approval of the bill for admitting patients to TB hospitals before determining their ability to pay for care was a step in the right direction.

Looking ahead, the VTA president said, "The people interested in the unmet public health needs must rally behind the needed project for a TB hospital in Tidewater Virginia and try to see that the 1956 session of the General Assembly provides funds for its construction. Similarly, a surgical-diagnostic unit for white patients in the new University of Virginia Hospital similar to the unit being constructed for Negroes in the new Richmond hospital is a critical need."

He also pointed out that the funds allocated to aid municipal sanatoria are not adequate.

NEW MINEWEEPERS

The United States Navy recently christened two new ships—both of them wooden mineweepers. Because of the wood, and the use of other non-magnetic materials, such as certain nickel alloys and copper, these vessels will not attract magnetic mines.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Mastitis Poses Problem In State Dairy Herds

Virginia farmers face a tremendous problem in losses from mastitis in their dairy herds. In Virginia in 1948 and 1949 surveys revealed a 32 per cent infection. On this basis, farmers probably lose 15 to 20 per cent production. In terms of dollars and cents, this means a loss of $6,000,000—conservatively estimated—each year in Virginia alone.

Most of this is an unnecessary loss. The actual definition of mastitis is any inflammation of the udder. However, a better definition proposed by Dr. W. A. Peterson, head of the dairy department, University of Minnesota, is that "mastitis is a disease of the milkster sometimes communicated to the cow."

The New York Mastitis Research Council has determined the causes of the disease in the order of their importance: Improper use of a milking machine, lack of veterinary service, failure to dip the end of the teat after milking, poor condition of stall beds, inadequate bedding, poor condition of the barnyard, and injuries to the teats.

Too many treatments have been proposed as cure-alls. Actually the treatment approach to mastitis is definitely the wrong one, as indicated by the following data collected from a group of herds producing commercial milk: 24 herds were surveyed twice, with good herd management procedures put into operation between the surveys. A 70 per cent decrease in the disease was accomplished. Twenty-five herds were surveyed the same way, but there was no change in management. An increase of 22 per cent in the disease was noted.

Good management is the key. Sheep Need Care During Summer. There's more to putting your sheep on spring pasture than just opening the gate. Sheep need careful attention to maintain good health throughout the summer.

"Give all your mature sheep a dose of phenothiazine to get rid of internal parasites before you turn them on permanent pasture. Otherwise they will infect the new pasture with worm eggs." If sheep are allowed to drop worm eggs now where they will graze later, a few blades of grass will carry enough worms to infect 100 sheep.

"It will be too late if you wait until shearing time to give them the treatment. So be sure to treat early and turn clean sheep on clean pasture."

Marine Applications Of Ductile Iron

Ductile Iron castings find applications in the marine industry because they combine the corrosion-resistance of cast iron with strength approaching that of steel. They are used for general valves and piping, dock-side and deck gear, winch and hoist components, shackles and many other parts.

8 New Movies Announced by Ford Motor Co.

Eight new motion pictures for 1954 are introduced in a catalogue published by Ford Motor Company. More than 125,000 copies of Ford's 1954 motion picture catalogue have been distributed. They contain information about 30 Ford films—both in black-and-white and in color, with sound—which are available to groups without charge.

Subjects of the movies range from the manufacture of automobiles to a musical journey along the West Coast's famous U. S. Highway 101.

The eight new pictures, completed last year, are outlined in the 65-page booklet. They include the prize-winning documentary, "The American Road," which already has won awards at the Edinburgh Film Festival and from the Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa.

The others are "Technique for Tomorrow," the story of Ford's "automated" factory at Cleveland, O.; "American Farmer," a full-color documentary on farm life; "One Out of Seven," story of job opportunities in the auto industry; "Dearborn Holiday," a trip through the famous Rouge plant, Dearborn Village, the Ford Ro-Runda and the Edison Institute; "White Thunder," an exciting film about Niagara Falls; "Anniversary," the story of the Creation of Ford's 50th anniversary celebration last year; and "Highway by the Sea," the Highway 101 film. Catalogues have been distributed to film users throughout the nation and overseas. During 1953, more than 19,000,000 persons all over the world saw Ford motion pictures in various showings. Another 130,000,000 viewed them on television.

Ford's motion picture production dates from 1913. The current extensive production and distribution program of 16 millimeter films was reactivated in 1947.

Ford films may be obtained without charge in this area from the Ford Film Library, at 15 East 53rd St., New York City.

Sixth of Veterans Take Training

One out of every six post-Korea veterans in America today has trained at some time or other under the 18-month-old Korea GI Bill, a Veterans Administration survey disclosed.

The 377,000 Korea GI Bill trainees enrolled for courses ranging from accelerated grade school work to post-graduate college studies.

More than half of the trainees, or nearly 192,000, attended college and universities. Another 39 percent, or about 117,000 enrolled in schools below the college level. Trade and vocational courses were the most popular types of below-college schooling, accounting for nearly 69,000 veterans. More than 23,000 enrolled in grade schools and high schools; 19,000 selected business schools; and 5,700 took their training in correspondence schools.

Veterans who trained on-the-job under the Korea GI Bill numbered nearly 56,000. Nearly two-thirds of these were in apprenticeship programs. The rest were taking other forms of job training.

Approximately 13,000 veterans were enrolled in institutional on-farm training program—a combination of classroom study with actual experience on the farm.

New applications for training from post-Korea veterans are coming into VA Regional Offices at the rate of 35,000 a month, VA said.

The nation's population of veterans with service since the outbreak of Korean fighting now stands at nearly 2,500,000.

Canada Chief Nickel Producer

It is estimated that Canada's output of nickel in 1953 reached 285,000,000 pounds, or about 85 per cent of the free world's total production.

Largest Nickel Consumer

The steel industries of the United States, the United Kingdom and Canada, in the production of stainless steels, engineering alloy steels and jet engine alloys, in 1953, were again the largest consumers of nickel.

Blossom Festival Set for 30th

Residents and friends of the Shenandoah Valley and the Apple Blossom Festival will gather more than 300 strong in this "Apple Capital" on Tuesday, March 30, to attend the Shenandoah Valley Rally, a giant mass meeting which will herald the approach of Shenandoah Valley Week, April 24 - May 2, and the Festival on April 29 - 30.

These annual Valley rallies are an outgrowth of the first area-wide group meeting held in 1924 at Harrisonburg, which instigated the first Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester. That first meeting also saw the organization of

The BIG BATTLE A SHORT STORY

There it came again, a peculiar rattle, like dry seeds in a pod. Even to McGowan's fever-tortured brain it sounded sinister. His swollen, burning eyes blinked open. But except for a shaft of moonlight shining in through a broken window, it was dark in the small cabin. He could see nothing.

Again it came, clear and distinct. Almost simultaneously, McGowan became conscious of a tingling sensation on his left wrist. "Sidewinder," he muttered. "Must've bit me while I slept!" He shuddered convulsively at the thought and sat upright on the rough, sand-covered floor.

"Ought to know there'd be rattlers in this old mining shack," he grumbled. He realized now that his cold-blooded slaying of the old prospector had been a mistake. He would need a guide to lead him out of Death Valley, especially now when the rattlesnake poison was beginning to spread through his body. The events of the day flashed movie-like through his heat-tormented brain—his escape from Poison when he was awaiting execution for murder, his wild flight across the desert in a stolen car. At a Mojave service station, he had heard a radio blaring forth a report of his escape.

Then when the gas in the stolen car was exhausted, he had tricked the old prospector into giving him a lift in his dilapidated auto. He had rewarded the old man's generosity with a bullet.

When the old man's dented jalopy had coughed and gone dead on a lonely stretch of the highway that spiraled away into the desert hills like a silver ribbon, McGowan had hobbled across the glaring white sands, heading, he believed, in the direction of Death Valley Scotty's mysterious castle. Through the dancing heat waves, he thought he could see its roof above a mound of sand.

Instead of Scotty's castle, it had been a cluster of tumble-down shacks, the weather-beaten remnants of a ghost town, now populated only by rats, horned toads and desert snakes.

He staggered to the cabin door and stood for a moment, peering out into the desert night. The moon, a great ball of yellow gold, was low in the east. Silhouetted against its bright oval were two dark shadowy figures. They seemed to move. McGowan stared at the approaching shadows, his heart pounding against his ribs. The black outlines resembled two men on horseback. They seemed to be coming toward him.

"It's the heat or the rattler's poison," he mumbled hoarsely to himself. "I'm seeing things." Suddenly the rattle sounded again in the darkness of the cabin. It seemed nearer.

A deep voice shouted, "Halt," but McGowan raced madly across the sand.

Three shots shattered the desert stillness. McGowan stumbled and went down. He was dead when the two men, dismounting, turned him over and focused a flashlight on his red-sun-tortured face.

"Red McGowan all right," the taller man said. "That service station guy gave us the right tip. But why did he come barging out of that sack like a tribe of Comanches was after him?"

"I'll take a look inside," the other said.

He came out a minute later, holding up a tiny object in one hand.

What is it? asked the tall one. A baby's rattle. Imagine finding that here. Some tourist must have left it. Only thing I could find in there except a few big ants."

I sure can't figure out what made him act so loco," the tall man said, shaking his head.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

and old alike. Slice brick ice cream and place between jelly roll slices, sandwich fashion. Serve with crushed berries as a sauce. The Dimples will be especially glamorous if you place a few chunks of American cheese on them immediately after dropping into boiling liquid. You may also add bits of ham, crisp bacon, parsley and stuffed olives to the dumpling batter.

Make a good gravy for pork chops by adding a cup of water to a can of condensed tomato soup poured over the chops while they're baking or simmering on top of the range.

Sprinkle 1-2 cup, each of raisins and gumdrops over your spiced cake batter just before baking. You'll have a delightful quick fruit cake which needs no frosting.

Use egg yolks to make custard sauce for prune whip. Flavor the sauce with grated orange or lemon rind or almond extract.

America's production of bituminous coal last year would make a wall 22 feet high and ten feet thick entirely surrounding the boundaries of the United States.

CANCER OF DIGESTIVE TRACT MOST DEADLY SAYS LEHMAN

Dr. Edwin Lehman, a member of the Board of Directors of the American Cancer Society, and past medical and scientific director of the Virginia division of the national organization, stated in an interview today, "Cancer of the digestive tract is perhaps the most dangerous form of the disease, particularly in men over 45. It results in nearly half of all cancer deaths."

"Despite this repellent loss of life, a surprising number of digestive tract cancers can be cured if diagnosed and properly treated in time. The greatest problem in this type of cancer is the difficulty in detecting it. Because it's so hard to find, many people don't receive treatment until too late. The symptoms are so slight that often an otherwise healthy person doesn't bother about them."

"It is extremely important for every adult, particularly men over 40, to check with their doctors at the first sign of change or trouble anywhere from the esophagus to the rectum. This should be done regardless of how slight the symptoms may appear. Indigestion and bleeding are the chief signs of cancer of the digestive tract. To assume that rectal bleeding is due to hemorrhoids or that so-called sour stomach may be relieved by patent medicines is most dangerous. This assumption can be the cause of cancer spread and growths."

Dr. Lehman, until his recent retirement from the University of Virginia Hospital as chief surgeon, was an outstanding diagnostician, particularly in the area of malignant growth. Through the years he has been closely associated with the constantly expanding scientific research of the national organization, having served as president of the American Cancer Society from 1947 to 1948.

"In light of Virginia's 3,487 cancer fatalities last year," commented Dr. Lehman, "every man and woman should know how to recognize cancer's Seven Danger Signals. A lot will be heard about cancer during April which is the Society's annual crusade month. It would be well to heed their warnings for their suggested precautions will save lives." In the United States last year 73,000 people were saved from dying of cancer and about 73,000 patients might have been saved if proper treatment had begun soon enough, according to ACS estimates. "These facts," concluded Dr. Lehman, "proved that cancer deaths are being minimized if discovered in time and the nation's 652 tumor clinics, of which there are 17 in Virginia all approved by the American College of Surgeons, are giving invaluable assistance in detecting the symptoms of cancer. No cure has been found yet but about 1,800 scientists are concentrating on cancer research alone in the United States through grants from the American Cancer Society."

EVERYONE URGED TO EAT POTATOES "SPUD WEEK"

White potatoes will be included in every menu and meal across the nation during the national "Potato Parade" April 1-10. If consumers will hear the appeal of potato growers, farm organizations, food chains, and all segments of the industry, cooperating with the National Potato Council in a giant effort to reduce the supply of potatoes now on hand.

Aptly called the national budget balancer and dollar stretcher, potatoes are the universal food according to William M. Case, Executive Director of the Council. Potato growers invite consumers to take advantage of the present low prices and liberal supplies of potatoes in the retail market to stretch their family food dollar. Potatoes have been the old reliable standby for many generations. They are one of the great energy-producing foods as well as one of the so-called protective foods that should be used every day, especially by active children and working men and women.

Potato growers believe potatoes will regain the place they formerly held as a major part of every meal. Now is an opportune time to acquaint people with the ability of present potato prices to provide healthy and adequate meals at a low cost. Penny for penny potatoes are a top food buy today.

K. W. Schabie, Chief USDA Vegetable Branch, this week said, "The best quality late potatoes are yet to come to the market." Look for them in the "Potato Parade."

John A. Logan, President, National Association of Food Chains, points out that "Cooperation of every segment of the industry in this all-out push will help move potatoes."

COUNTY 4-H'ers PREPARE FOR JUDGING CONTESTS

Princess Anne 4-H'ers will be represented in two judging teams this year, Poultry and Livestock. The area contest for livestock will be held April 13, 1954 at the Atlantic Rural Exposition grounds. The boys that are working out for the team are Jimmy Lindsey, Jimmy Basnight, Walter Humphries, Eddie Gilbert and Billy Oliver. These fine boys will be judging various classes of breeders and fat animals in hogs, sheep, and beef cattle.

The boys started their training February 13 with a work-out at the Land of Promise Farms. From there they attended a Livestock Training School held in Nansemond County. From now until the 13th of April the boys will be coached by the Assistant County Agent on various farms where livestock is produced, so farmers, don't be surprised if you see these fine boys leaning over a fence discussing your lambs, hogs or your brood cows.

The club members trying out for the Poultry Judging Team are Buddy Redfern, Harlan Wood, and Sylvia Ann Miller. We are also training young club members for future years. Those younger club members are Jimmy Hill, Darwin Lovitt, and Herman Flora, Jr. When these club members reach the age of 14 they are then eligible for the judging team. The club members started their poultry work on February 3rd with a general poultry school. On March 9th they had a judging workout. These club members will be having several work-outs before going to Richmond for the area contest.

In both of these area judging contests the team will have to score in the upper 50 percent, before they may enter the State Contest. This will be the first year for the Livestock Team, but we have four members on the Poultry Team that were in the State Contest.

Sec. Benson Warns Farmers of Grain Storage Problem This Year

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson warns of the danger of serious storage problems this year and urges farmers to make plans now to help assure adequate storage facilities.

"Continued big production, encouraged by high price supports, has built up tremendous supplies of major commodities," Secretary Benson pointed out. "Storage facilities had to be stretched to the limit, and supplemented in many cases, in order to handle 1953 crops."

"With normal weather this spring and summer, the storage problem can be even more acute than last year," he added.

In 1954, the carry-over of old supplies before this year's harvest will be at all-time record levels for the two leading grain crops. The wheat carry-over is now expected to be above 800 million bushels, as compared with 562 million bushels last year. The corn carry-over is expected to be around 900 million bushels, as compared with 769 million in 1953.

"The size of this year's crops will of course be a determining factor, but it is obvious that the storage situation can be very serious—especially in areas of heaviest concentration of supplies."

"The effectiveness of price support programs for storable commodities depends very directly on the availability of adequate storage. The regular price support loans cannot be extended to farmers unless their commodities are housed in satisfactory storage—either on the farm or in commercial facilities."

"The Department of Agriculture did everything possible to assist the expansion of both farm and commercial storage facilities in 1953. It will continue this vigorous help this year. The final responsibility, however, rests with the farmers themselves. They should anticipate their requirements and make plans immediately to see that adequate storage space is available when they need it. We will help in every practicable way."

The Secretary called attention to the following specific types of assistance which the Federal Government is making available to farmers to help them expand storage facilities on their own farms, in addition to special steps to increase commercial space:

Farm Storage Facility Loans. Commodity Credit Corporation loans for financing the construction of storage facilities are available to farmers through local banks or direct from the local county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. These loans can run up to 80% of the cost of the new storage facilities in most States, can be paid off over a four-year period. The loans, at 4% interest, are available until June 30, 1954, and are intended to supplement local credit services when for any reason normal lending agency credit is not available. Last year around 30 million bushels of farm storage capacity was added under this program.

Storage Equipment Loans. Commodity Credit Corporation loans are also available to farmers for financing the purchase of drying equipment for the conditioning of storable crops. The drying equipment includes mobile mechanical dryers, air circulation ventilators, tunnels, and fans. The loans, which are available until June 30, 1954 through the same local sources as the storage loans, can be used to meet up to 75 percent of the delivery and assembled cost of the equipment. They are payable in three annual installments, or earlier at the option of the borrower. The interest rate is 4 percent a year. The loans are intended to assist farmers who need this additional financing help in getting and maintaining their crops in the proper storage conditions required for CCC commodity loans.

Income Tax Amortization Deductions. Public Law 287, 83rd Congress, Section 206, signed by the President August 15, 1953 provides an amortization deduction after December 31, 1952. The income taxpayer may elect to amortize over a period of 60 months the depreciable cost of grain storage facilities constructed after December 31, 1952. The amortization provision also applies to alteration or remodeling of a grain storage structure that increases the capacity of the structure for grain storage. Eligible storage facilities include any corn crib, grain bin, or grain elevator primarily for the storage of grain, or any public grain warehouse permanently equipped for receiving, elevating, conditioning, and loading out grain. No application for the deduction is required: The decision by the taxpayer to take the deduction can be announced simply by a statement to that effect in his Federal income tax for the taxable year in which the storage structure is completed.

In addition, the following programs and special aids are available to encourage increases in elevator and warehouse space for use by farmers and others as needed:

Guaranteed Occupancy of New Warehouse Storage. Under this program, the CCC contracts to make payments to warehousemen in the event that occupancy of approved new storage construction falls below specified levels

Contest to Name Ports Symbol Gets Underway

A contest for public high school students of Virginia to find a name for a symbolic figure to be used extensively in advertising the State's ports, was announced today by David H. Clark, director of the Virginia State's Ports Authority.

The Virginia Ports Development Committee has authorized awards totaling $350 in United States Defense Bonds for winners in the State-wide name contest. The winner will receive a $200 bond, while the first and second runners-up will win a $100 bond and $50 bond respectively.

Copies of the handsome caricature have reached the high schools where the students are being asked in the caption, "What's My Name?" The contest is being announced today through state-wide newspapers, radio and television.

The Ports Development Committee, of which Hunter Phelan is chairman, is cooperating with Virginia State Ports Authority as co-sponsor of the contest, during which the agency hopes to obtain a name for the figure that may be used to the general ports theme in Virginia.

Clark said the State Ports designed out of cargo-handling devices, with the Globe of the World serving as its head, in advertising over a period of 5 or 6 years, depending on the plan the warehousemen elects. The program is designed to encourage new construction by responsible commercial firms in areas where additional storage facilities are needed. As of February 13, 1954 applications totaling more than 295 million bushels of new storage capacity had been tentatively approved by the Department of Cancellations and Withdrawals by applicants of previously accepted applications totaled approximately 85 million bushels, leaving a net total of acceptances of more than 208 million bushels. The new construction will be principally available for farmers' use, with CCC stock to be used largely as needed to maintain the guaranteed levels of occupancy.

Income Tax Amortization Deductions. The Federal income tax deduction for amortization over a period of 60 months of the depreciable cost of new grain storage facilities applies to commercial and cooperative storage elevators and warehouses as well as to farm storage structures.

Hampton Roads and the other ports of Virginia. The caricature wears a cap with space reserved for the name to be selected from the contest. His anchor chain legs are fashioned to cargo ships as his feet, while a cargo sling represents his arms and hands. A match-block bearing the words "Ports of Virginia," make up his body.

Advertising to include the drawing will appear in such nationally-circulated magazines and newspapers as U. S. News & World Reports, Business Week and The New York Journal of Commerce. Clark said in the contest announcement.

The contest begins on Monday, March 22, and will continue through April 9. Judges will be members of the Virginia Ports Development Committee and the Virginia State Ports Authority's Board of Commissioners. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, April 9, and must include the suggested name, reasons for the name submitted, home-room teacher or principal's name, and the name and address of the contestant. In the event that two or more identical entries are received, the earliest postmarked entry will be given consideration by the judges.

Entries should be addressed to: Chief, Division of Public Relations; Virginia State Ports Authority; 254 Granby Street; Norfolk 10, Virginia.

Winners will be announced on Friday, April 23.
